Gasoline Price Hike Defended

Industry Executives Deny Collusion

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — Chairman Wolverton (R-NJ) of a House inquiry committee told the nation's oil companies today that their recent price hikes may lead to tighter restrictions on the 27½ per cent tax reducton allowed for depreciation of oil reserves.

And Rep. Heselton (R-Mass) told industry witnesses that their arguments in defense of the price boosts had "a hollow sound."

"I don't think a very good case has been made for the industry," Heselton commented at the conclusion of the first day of public hearings into recent oil price increases.

The Massachusetts legislator is sponsoring a bill to set up a commission to regulate the oil industry.

Collusion Is Denied

Industry executives, denying any collusion in raising oil prices, argued that the increases were "long overdue" and stemmed from higher production costs.

The price hikes, tapping the pockets of millions of American motorists at the height of the vacation season, were staunchly defended by industry spokesmen at the outset of hearings before the House Commerce Committee.

There was no suggestion that the increases might be temporary or that prices might eventually be trimmed. Some prices have jumped as much as two cents a gallon, at filling station pumps, in a week's time.

Boosts Held Warranted

Appearing as lead-off witness, Vice President W. W. Keeler of Phillips Petroleum Company, Bartleville, Okla., said the increase in crude oil prices was "well warranted." He said it would have been justified as long ago as 1948 and was finally made as insurance for the future.

In a similar vein, Herbert Willetts of Socony-Vacuum Oil Company said in a statement submitted for him that the gasoline price increases his company put into effect in New York and New England on June 10 were only a "belated and partial response" to higher costs in the industry.

Willetts mentioned higher costs for transportation, marketing and labor.

"Competition has assured fair prices for products continually improved in quality," he said.

"The industry is dynamic, and a free play of economic forces will continue to assure the public an ample supply of petroleum products at reasonable prices."

Western Allies Demand Russia End Berlin Curbs

BERLIN, July 6 (AP)—The Western Allies fired off a new note to the Russians tonight demanding that they lift at once martial law restrictions which have clamped a partial blockade on this four-power city.

The American, British and French commanders wrote Soviet Maj. Gen. P. T. Dibrova that all measures interfering with free travel in the divided city should be lifted immediately.

Based Of "False" Premise

Dibrova—combat general who took over when the workers' revolt broke out in East Germany June 17—declared martial law and has shoved into virtual oblivion, the normal Russian chief for East Berlin, civilian Sergei Dengin.

The Western commandants told Dibrova his refusal to permit intercity elevated and subway train movements plus other tight border controls especially against any Allied citizens has been based on a "false" premise.

The Western Allies sent a previous demand that the Russians end their military terror in East Berlin on June 18. The protest was rejected.

Soviets Admitted Errors

The Western commandants reminded Dibrova in tonight's note of Russian charges that the East German rebellion was instigated by "Western agents" and declared:

"The true causes of the recent disorders is clear. For weeks the Soviet controlled press in East Berlin has contained confession after confession of grave errors by Soviet controlled authorities in applying policies which brought workers in East Berlin and the Soviet zone to a mood of desperation and were alone responsible for the events which took place."

Since East Germany's Red regime promised on June 11 to mend its ways and improve life for the worker, some 12,000 East Germans have fled to the West.

Velde In Hospital

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP) — Rep. Harold Velde (R-Ill), chairman of the House Un-American Affairs Committee, was admitted to Mt. Sinai Hospital today.

A member of his staff said the congressman has suffered pain in his left side for several days and entered the hospital for observation and treatment.

Reds-In-Labor Inquiry Begins

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP) — Chairman Velde (R-Ill) of the House Un-American Activities Committee announced today the committee was turning its attention to "subversion in the field of labor."

One of the first witnesses charged the new probe was started because of a current strike.

Velde, who remained in his hotel room today because of illness, said in a statement issued at the committee hearing the committee would "use every legal weapon at our command to expose such un-American activities wherever they exist" in the field of labor.

In his absence the committee called six officers of the Distributive, Processing and Office Workers Union, all of whom declined on constitutional grounds to answer numerous questions about alleged Communist connections.

Most of the same union officials had been questioned during a similar probe in 1948.

Velde's announcement came on the heels of an announcement by Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) of the Senate internal security subcommittee that his committee would start hearings on subversion in the labor field sometime this month.

Appeal Planned

Judge Rules Newswoman Must Pay Social Security

JACKSON, Miss., July 6 (AP) —A U. S. District Court judge ruled today that Mississippi newspaperwoman Mary Cain must pay social security taxes as a self-employed person.

The judge's decision was in effect a ruling on the constitutionality of the social security law since that was Mrs. Cain's contention in refusing to pay.

She claimed the act was unconstitutional and amounted to nothing more than a forced insurance.

U. S. Judge Sidney Mize in a written decision said "the constitutionality of the act, in principle, has been upheld in well considered cases by the U. S. Supreme Court."

Mrs. Cain, editor of the weekly tabloid-size Summit (Miss.) Sun, has refused for more than a year to pay $41.32 in social security payments on herself as a self-employed person.

Once when federal Internal Revenue agents padlocked the small 1,500-circulation weekly, Mrs. Cain hacksawed the lock from the door and wrote a blistering editorial condemning what she termed the dictatorial methods of the government.

She said the case would be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court by way of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals—if necessary.

HERO'S REWARD — Navy Hospitalman John E. Kilmer (above), San Antonio, Tex., will be awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously for giving his life to save a wounded Marine comrade. His mother will accept the award in his name at Washington ceremonies.

Condon To Tell House About His A-Test Barring

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — Declaring it would mean his "political suicide" unless the whole affair is understood, Rep. Condon (D-Calif) said today he will tell the House tomorrow about his being barred as a security risk from witnessing an atomic test to which all congressmen were invited.

Although the Atomic Energy Commission said it was "some sort of mistake" and cleared him for future tests, Condon said he wants the situation clarified.

"I am very concerned whether any executive agency can control the actions of congressmen," he said.

Condon said he also wants to determine "just how far is the bar in the political climate for liberals."

Saying he hadn't intended to make a point of being barred from the Nevada test last May because of the political danger of being misunderstood, he said he did so now only because the matter had been brought into the open.

The Californian, a 40-year - old freshman House member, said he flew in a special plane with other congressmen to witness an atomic test, but when he arrived in Las Vegas, Nev., he said, two men told him he could not watch the explosion for security reasons. They gave no other explanation, Condon said, but told him any further information would have to come from Gordon Dean, then AEC chairman.

"I was outraged—I didn't understand what scared them," he said.

After returning to Washington, Condon said, he had two interviews with Dean, who retired on June 30 as AEC chairman. Dean, he said, asked him if he was or ever had been a Communist.

"I answered him emphatically that I am not and never have been a Communist sympathizer," Condon said.

He said he told Dean his philosophy opposed that of communism and that his voting record in Congress was consistently anti-Communist.

Dean agreed that some sort of mistake had been made, Condon said, and assured him he was as free as any other congressman to see future atomic tests.

Stevenson Optimistic

ROME, July 6 (AP) — Adlai Stevenson, nearing the end of a world tour, expressed conviction tonight that there are "brighter prospects of peace than the free world has faced since the war."

Nehru Warns Attitude May Spread War

Britain Favors U. N. Recall If ROK Chief Rejects Armistice

AGRA, India, July 6 (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said today that South Korea's attitude on an armistice could spread the fighting into a world war.

Nehru addressed an audience of 15,000 at the opening of a two-day policy conference of a 404-member committee of his governing Congress party. The conference followed by one day a demand by the party's Executive Committee for an early meeting of the United Nations General Assembly and a big power conference to take up the Korean question. Conference delegates today unanimously approved the Executive Committee's Korean resolution.

Britain Favors U. N. Recall

Simultaneously in London, Britain served notice it also favors recalling the General Assembly into session if South Korean President Syngman Rhee rejects terms of a Korean truce. Richard A. Butler, acting head of the British Cabinet during the recuperative rest ordered for Prime Minister Churchill, told the House of Commons it would be "premature" to reconvene the Assembly while negotiations with Rhee are continuing.

Butler said Britain is being kept fully informed of the progress in Seoul which President Eisenhower's special envoy Walter Robertson, has been making in his talks with Rhee. Robertson has been trying for 11 days to persuade the South Korean President to accept the truce plan worked out by representatives of the U. N. Command and the Communists.

U. S. Opposes U. N. Session

(At U. N. headquarters in New York, U. S. spokesmen restated their opposition to an early Assembly session. They said they feel that Robertson and Rhee should have full opportunity to work out an agreement.)

Nehru told his party audience that in the event of a world war, India will keep aloof and try her best to restore peace. However, he added, no country could remain unaffected by a general war.

He said that Indian troops assigned to enforce a Korean armistice will not go if they have to fight.

Senate Approves U. S. Residence For Polish Flier

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — The Senate today passed and sent to the House a bill giving permanent U. S. residence to Lt. Franciszek Jarecki, Polish pilot who recently flew a Russian-made MIG15 jet out from behind the Iron Curtain.

The House had passed a similar measure earlier.

Jarecki flew the MIG to the Danish island of Bornholm last March 5, giving engineers from free world countries their first chance to inspect an undamaged plane of this type.

The pilot announced he had left Poland because of Communist oppression. He has said he plans to become a U. S. citizen.

Children Found Tied; Father Is Arrested

MONTEREY, Calif., July 6 (AP)—Army Sgt. Casmer Mezias was arrested today after his two small boys were found bound and gagged, lying on a bed in a trailer in a motor court at Pacific Grove.

Patrolman Martin Nodilo who investigated the case said Michael, 6, and Casmer, 7, told him the father bound them before the parents went out Saturday night. One boy said it was done "so we wouldn't get into the peanut butter or eat anything."

Mezias, 33, of Fort Ord, was arrested on a charge of child neglect and was released on $500 bond.

U. S. Will Stay Neutral In Philippines Election

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—The State Department told the Philippine charge d'affairs today that the United States will follow a strictly hands off policy in the Philippine election campaign.

The charge, Dr. Melquiades J. Gamboa, submitted to officials recent statements by Philippine political parties implying that the United States was favoring one or another of the three major candidates. Gamboa talked with Temple Wanamaker, in charge of Philippine affairs.

Doctor Is Expectant Father At 92

Dr. J. D. Hullinger, 92, oldest practicing physician in Clinton, Ia., prepares to play his cornet for his wife, Lucille, 32, and her daughter by a previous marriage, Margaret Ellen, 5. Mrs. Hullinger is expecting a child within the next 10 days and Dr. Hullinger says he will deliver it himself.

Administration's Mobilization Plan Revealed By ODM

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration today announced, as its long-awaited mobilization policy, a program of industrial development — in being, or on blueprints — to support military operations on full wartime scale.

Issued by the Office of Defense Mobilization after clearance by the Cabinet, the program seemed generally to reaffirm the "broad mobilization base" policy of the Truman administration.

Gaps Would Be Plugged

It called for the plugging of any prospective gaps in machinery, tools, equipment and power, and for the "systematic maintenance" of idle plants and machines which would be needed if an M-Day comes.

The goal, as summarized by ODM Director Arthur S. Flemming, is: "An industrial position, or plans for it, from which we could move rapidly to maximum rates of balanced output of war and war-supporting goods."

The statement has been expected for weeks. During the delay, industry's interest grew because of the disclosure that Secretary of Defense Wilson preferred a "narrower" industrial base for military production than the Truman plans envisaged.

Question Unanswered

Unanswered today was the question of how ODM's new policy declaration squares with such curtailments as the Air Force cancellation of contracts for seven huge hydraulic presses, and the announced elimination of Henry J. Kaiser's Willow Run plant from the C119 Flying Boxcar transport program.

Starting point of the ODM policy is a master plan adopted by the Truman administration last fall. It calls for a calculation — presumably now in progress — of how much of U. S. industry would be available for munitions production following M-Day, after allowing civilians only a "rock bottom" economy.

Eisenhower Names Smith To Air Post

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated James H. Smith Jr., a Navy pilot during World War II, as assistant secretary of the Navy for air.

Smith, 42, of Aspen, Colo., is a director of the Slick Airways Company, operating in the Southwest. He was named to succeed John F. Floberg, a holdover from the Truman administration.

From 1946 to 1949, Smith was vice president of Panamerican Airways. He has been with the Slick company since 1949.

Germans Conquer Seventh Tallest Peak

GILGIT, Kashmir, July 6 (AP)—Messages received here today said a German expedition has conquered Nanga Parbat, world's seventh tallest peak—known to climbers as "the most murderous of mountains." In the past 50 years 29 men have perished in efforts to reach the top of the ice-sheathed 26,660-foot giant.

Doctor, Expectant Father At 92, Says He'll Deliver Baby

CLINTON, Ia., July 6 (AP)—Dr. J. D. Hullinger, 92, said today he plans to grant his 33-year-old wife's request and personally deliver the baby they are expecting within the next 10 days.

"I've delivered more than 3,000 babies over the years," he said, "and my wife doesn't want to go to anyone else."

Mrs. Hullinger formerly was the longtime physician's nurse. They were married May 28, 1952. Dr. Hullinger's first wife died.

Dr. Hullinger still is in active practice and he plays the cornet as a hobby. He said he is healthy because he doesn't drink or smoke.

2,000 Children Get Polio 'Shots'

LENOIR, N. C., July 6 (AP) — There are some 2,000 sore little bottoms in Caldwell County tonight, but their young owners are less likely to suffer polio.

By Wednesday, County Health Officer William Happer estimates more than 10,800 under 10 years of age will have received shots of gamma globulin in the nation's second mass inoculation program this year.

Since 9 a.m. when doctors stuck grim-faced Claude Conrad Story, a 7-year-old of Rt. 8, Lenoir, with a 2-inch needle, volunteer workers inoculated more than 125 an hour at each of four clinics.

Even as the free, non-compulsory inoculation program began, two more polio cases were reported, bringing the total to 86 in this Northwestern North Carolina county.

More than 500 volunteers—doctors, nurses, and townspeople—augmented by a staff of workers from the National Polio Foundation, worked 15 hours in five-hour shifts today.

Man Found Dead In Car

SILVER SPRING, Md., July 6 (AP)—The body of a man identified as Samuel A. Moody, 29, was found today in a car parked on Gunpowder Road in upper Prince Georges County, Maryland police reported.

Apparently the man died of carbon monoxide poisoning, police said. He was an employe of a Bethesda supermarket and was reported missing last Friday.

Johnson Quits As Information Service Chief

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — Dr. Robert L. Johnson has resigned as head of the embattled U. S. information service, telling President Eisenhower his health is breaking under the strain of the job.

The President accepted the resignation today and expressed hope that Johnson would be able to carry on until a sweeping reorganization of the information service is put into effect early next month.

Johnson has been in the middle of the "book burning" controversy which developed after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) called for a purge of some 30,000 books by Communists and fellow-travelers which he said were on the shelves of the information libraries abroad.

At Eisenhower's request, Johnson took a leave of absence from the presidency of Temple University, Philadelphia, last February to grapple with the problems of the International Information Administration, a branch of the State Department.

From the comparative quiet of the campus he walked into a roaring fight over State Department policy in the distribution of American books and other information abroad.

Johnson, who is 59, wrote the President July 3 that he wanted to step aside because "two months ago my doctors advised me that the strains of this post were proving too much for me . . . ."

Ike Accepts Resignation

In Philadelphia a Temple University spokesman said Johnson will return to the presidency after resting for two months.

Eisenhower accepted Johnson's resignation reluctantly, writing him today:

"I share your disappointment in the decision which is so obviously necessary, and I want you to know how deeply I appreciate your answering my call into service last winter and the sacrifices in your own convenience and health which you have made at my request."

Drought Relief OK'd

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) —The House Agriculture Committee approved today a bill to provide emergency credit to farmers and cattlemen in the drought-stricken Southwest.

21½ Hours Underground

Spelunkers Reach Goal In Cave Near Petersburg

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP) — Ten amateur explorers, including two women, spent 21½ hours during the weekend in Schoolhouse Cave in West Virginia and reached their main objective, Grind Canyon at the cave's lowest level.

The mud-caked and tired spelunkers, as the cave explorers are known, completed their gruelling trip yesterday.

The party leaders, Robert Kitz and M. Girard Bloch, termed it a success, said a Herald-Tribune reporter who accompanied the party.

Water and slime in the cave's lower reaches soaked ropes and clothing and slowed down the group.

The explorers found that Grind Canyon, located near Petersburg, is about 350 feet underground and is about 1,800 feet long. It is extremely narrow, with walls rising 50 to 75 feet. Only Ulysses Lutz of Philadelphia, the party's smallest man, could enter its narrowest sections. He had to struggle through sliding rock and running water.

Members of the exploring party came from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

South Korean Leader Shuns Compromise

What To Do Should ROKs Quit U. N. Fold Reported Discussed

SEOUL, Tuesday, July 7 (AP) — Fresh speculation over just how for President Syngman Rhee might carry his truce -blocking views was stirred today by a report from a highly placed South Korean source that Rhee turned down a new United States compromise offer.

There were even unconfirmed reports that when Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the U. N. field commander, met yesterday with U. S. advisers to the South Korean Army they discussed what to do should Rhee pull out his 16 divisions from Taylor's command and fight on alone. The talks were top secret.

Negotiations between Rhee and President Eisenhower's special truce envoy were continuing for the 12th day but no time was set for the next meeting.

Rhee Termed "Fanatic"

A general officer at U. N. Far East Command headquarters in Tokyo said the 78-year-old South Korean President "is so fanatic about unifying Korea before he dies that Rhee is ready to pull down everything that we have built if he doesn't get what he wants." The general was not identified.

Monday night the North Korean Red radio at Pyongyang impatiently complained "there is no reason why the U. S. can't control Rhee and bring about a speedy Korean armistice."

The report of the new U. S. compromise offer came from a South Korean source close to the current negotiations. The source has proved right on recent previous occasions.

But a U. S. Embassy spokesman in Seoul denied such an offer had been made.

Reported U. S. Offer

The South Korean source said Rhee rejected this offer:

1. The U. S. and South Korea would walk out jointly from a post-rmistice political conference if it made no progress toward "peaceful unification" of Korea within 90 days.

2. The U. S. and South Korea then would undertake "top level" discussions on other methods of unifying Korea but with a clear understanding that any decisions would have to be ratified by the United States Senate.

Rhee wants a flat guarantee that the war would be resumed after 90 days should the political conference fail to make headway.

Eisenhower's envoy, Walter Robertson, already has told Rhee that the United States never can accede to such a demand.

Robertson and Rhee held their ninth secret meeting in 11 days Monday. It lasted an hour and 40 minutes after which Robertson said "we will meet again" but announced no definite time.

Reds Open Heavy Assault In Mud

SEOUL, Tuesday, July 7 (AP) — Heavy fighting broke out on rain-soaked Central and Western Korean fronts today as Chinese Reds swarmed to the attack in ankle-deep mud to end a two-day lull in the war.

The U. N. Command said several hundred Chinese attacked Porkchop Hill in the west late last night, and heavy fighting continued at dawn. The Chinese took the left and right flanks of the outpost, and were fighting for the top, the U. N. communique said.

Both sides threw fresh troops into the battle this morning.

Outpost Porkchop is about 10 miles west of Chorwon and about 25 miles northeast of the truce conference site of Panmunjom. It was the first attack in that sector in many weeks.

The Reds also lashed at two positions near Arrowhead Ridge on the Central Front.

Rain and black skies made it difficult to estimate the full force, but a full Red battalion of from 800 to 1,000 men were possibly involved.

By 3 a.m. the Reds had driven to the Allied trenches and there was hand to hand fighting that was still going on at 7:30 a.m.

One of the first witnesses charged the new probe was started because of a current strike.

Velde, who remained in his hotel room today because of illness, said in a statement issued at the committee hearing the committee would "use every legal weapon at our command to expose such un-American activities wherever they exist" in the field of labor.

In his absence the committee called six officers of the Distributive, Processing and Office Workers Union, all of whom declined on constitutional grounds to answer numerous questions about alleged Communist connections.

Most of the same union officials had been questioned during a similar probe in 1948.

Velde's announcement came on the heels of an announcement by Chairman Jenner (R-Ind) of the Senate internal security subcommittee that his committee would start hearings on subversion in the labor field sometime this month.

Judge Rules Newswoman Must Pay Social Security

JACKSON, Miss., July 6 (AP) —A U. S. District Court judge ruled today that Mississippi newspaperwoman Mary Cain must pay social security taxes as a self-employed person.

The judge's decision was in effect a ruling on the constitutionality of the social security law since that was Mrs. Cain's contention in refusing to pay.

She claimed the act was unconstitutional and amounted to nothing more than a forced insurance.

U. S. Judge Sidney Mize in a written decision said "the constitutionality of the act, in principle, has been upheld in well considered cases by the U. S. Supreme Court."

Mrs. Cain, editor of the weekly tabloid-size Summit (Miss.) Sun, has refused for more than a year to pay $41.32 in social security payments on herself as a self-employed person.

Once when federal Internal Revenue agents padlocked the small 1,500-circulation weekly, Mrs. Cain hacksawed the lock from the door and wrote a blistering editorial condemning what she termed the dictatorial methods of the government.

She said the case would be appealed to the U. S. Supreme Court by way of the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals—if necessary.

Condon To Tell House About His A-Test Barring

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — Declaring it would mean his "political suicide" unless the whole affair is understood, Rep. Condon (D-Calif) said today he will tell the House tomorrow about his being barred as a security risk from witnessing an atomic test to which all congressmen were invited.

Although the Atomic Energy Commission said it was "some sort of mistake" and cleared him for future tests, Condon said he wants the situation clarified.

"I am very concerned whether any executive agency can control the actions of congressmen," he said.

Condon said he also wants to determine "just how far is the bar in the political climate for liberals."

Saying he hadn't intended to make a point of being barred from the Nevada test last May because of the political danger of being misunderstood, he said he did so now only because the matter had been brought into the open.

The Californian, a 40-year - old freshman House member, said he flew in a special plane with other congressmen to witness an atomic test, but when he arrived in Las Vegas, Nev., he said, two men told him he could not watch the explosion for security reasons. They gave no other explanation, Condon said, but told him any further information would have to come from Gordon Dean, then AEC chairman.

"I was outraged—I didn't understand what scared them," he said.

After returning to Washington, Condon said, he had two interviews with Dean, who retired on June 30 as AEC chairman. Dean, he said, asked him if he was or ever had been a Communist.

"I answered him emphatically that I am not and never have been a Communist sympathizer," Condon said.

He said he told Dean his philosophy opposed that of communism and that his voting record in Congress was consistently anti-Communist.

Dean agreed that some sort of mistake had been made, Condon said, and assured him he was as free as any other congressman to see future atomic tests.

Stevenson Optimistic

ROME, July 6 (AP) — Adlai Stevenson, nearing the end of a world tour, expressed conviction tonight that there are "brighter prospects of peace than the free world has faced since the war."

Nehru Warns Attitude May Spread War

Britain Favors U. N. Recall If ROK Chief Rejects Armistice

AGRA, India, July 6 (AP)—Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru said today that South Korea's attitude on an armistice could spread the fighting into a world war.

Nehru addressed an audience of 15,000 at the opening of a two-day policy conference of a 404-member committee of his governing Congress party. The conference followed by one day a demand by the party's Executive Committee for an early meeting of the United Nations General Assembly and a big power conference to take up the Korean question. Conference delegates today unanimously approved the Executive Committee's Korean resolution.

Britain Favors U. N. Recall

Simultaneously in London, Britain served notice it also favors recalling the General Assembly into session if South Korean President Syngman Rhee rejects terms of a Korean truce. Richard A. Butler, acting head of the British Cabinet during the recuperative rest ordered for Prime Minister Churchill, told the House of Commons it would be "premature" to reconvene the Assembly while negotiations with Rhee are continuing.

Butler said Britain is being kept fully informed of the progress in Seoul which President Eisenhower's special envoy Walter Robertson, has been making in his talks with Rhee. Robertson has been trying for 11 days to persuade the South Korean President to accept the truce plan worked out by representatives of the U. N. Command and the Communists.

U. S. Opposes U. N. Session

(At U. N. headquarters in New York, U. S. spokesmen restated their opposition to an early Assembly session. They said they feel that Robertson and Rhee should have full opportunity to work out an agreement.)

Nehru told his party audience that in the event of a world war, India will keep aloof and try her best to restore peace. However, he added, no country could remain unaffected by a general war.

He said that Indian troops assigned to enforce a Korean armistice will not go if they have to fight.

Senate Approves U. S. Residence For Polish Flier

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — The Senate today passed and sent to the House a bill giving permanent U. S. residence to Lt. Franciszek Jarecki, Polish pilot who recently flew a Russian-made MIG15 jet out from behind the Iron Curtain.

The House had passed a similar measure earlier.

Jarecki flew the MIG to the Danish island of Bornholm last March 5, giving engineers from free world countries their first chance to inspect an undamaged plane of this type.

The pilot announced he had left Poland because of Communist oppression. He has said he plans to become a U. S. citizen.

Children Found Tied; Father Is Arrested

MONTEREY, Calif., July 6 (AP)—Army Sgt. Casmer Mezias was arrested today after his two small boys were found bound and gagged, lying on a bed in a trailer in a motor court at Pacific Grove.

Patrolman Martin Nodilo who investigated the case said Michael, 6, and Casmer, 7, told him the father bound them before the parents went out Saturday night. One boy said it was done "so we wouldn't get into the peanut butter or eat anything."

Mezias, 33, of Fort Ord, was arrested on a charge of child neglect and was released on $500 bond.

U. S. Will Stay Neutral In Philippines Election

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—The State Department told the Philippine charge d'affairs today that the United States will follow a strictly hands off policy in the Philippine election campaign.

The charge, Dr. Melquiades J. Gamboa, submitted to officials recent statements by Philippine political parties implying that the United States was favoring one or another of the three major candidates. Gamboa talked with Temple Wanamaker, in charge of Philippine affairs.

Doctor Is Expectant Father At 92

Dr. J. D. Hullinger, 92, oldest practicing physician in Clinton, Ia., prepares to play his cornet for his wife, Lucille, 32, and her daughter by a previous marriage, Margaret Ellen, 5. Mrs. Hullinger is expecting a child within the next 10 days and Dr. Hullinger says he will deliver it himself.

Administration's Mobilization Plan Revealed By ODM

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration today announced, as its long-awaited mobilization policy, a program of industrial development — in being, or on blueprints — to support military operations on full wartime scale.

Issued by the Office of Defense Mobilization after clearance by the Cabinet, the program seemed generally to reaffirm the "broad mobilization base" policy of the Truman administration.

Gaps Would Be Plugged

It called for the plugging of any prospective gaps in machinery, tools, equipment and power, and for the "systematic maintenance" of idle plants and machines which would be needed if an M-Day comes.

The goal, as summarized by ODM Director Arthur S. Flemming, is: "An industrial position, or plans for it, from which we could move rapidly to maximum rates of balanced output of war and war-supporting goods."

The statement has been expected for weeks. During the delay, industry's interest grew because of the disclosure that Secretary of Defense Wilson preferred a "narrower" industrial base for military production than the Truman plans envisaged.

Question Unanswered

Unanswered today was the question of how ODM's new policy declaration squares with such curtailments as the Air Force cancellation of contracts for seven huge hydraulic presses, and the announced elimination of Henry J. Kaiser's Willow Run plant from the C119 Flying Boxcar transport program.

Starting point of the ODM policy is a master plan adopted by the Truman administration last fall. It calls for a calculation — presumably now in progress — of how much of U. S. industry would be available for munitions production following M-Day, after allowing civilians only a "rock bottom" economy.

Eisenhower Names Smith To Air Post

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated James H. Smith Jr., a Navy pilot during World War II, as assistant secretary of the Navy for air.

Smith, 42, of Aspen, Colo., is a director of the Slick Airways Company, operating in the Southwest. He was named to succeed John F. Floberg, a holdover from the Truman administration.

From 1946 to 1949, Smith was vice president of Panamerican Airways. He has been with the Slick company since 1949.

Germans Conquer Seventh Tallest Peak

GILGIT, Kashmir, July 6 (AP)—Messages received here today said a German expedition has conquered Nanga Parbat, world's seventh tallest peak—known to climbers as "the most murderous of mountains." In the past 50 years 29 men have perished in efforts to reach the top of the ice-sheathed 26,660-foot giant.

Doctor, Expectant Father At 92, Says He'll Deliver Baby

CLINTON, Ia., July 6 (AP)—Dr. J. D. Hullinger, 92, said today he plans to grant his 33-year-old wife's request and personally deliver the baby they are expecting within the next 10 days.

"I've delivered more than 3,000 babies over the years," he said, "and my wife doesn't want to go to anyone else."

Mrs. Hullinger formerly was the longtime physician's nurse. They were married May 28, 1952. Dr. Hullinger's first wife died.

Dr. Hullinger still is in active practice and he plays the cornet as a hobby. He said he is healthy because he doesn't drink or smoke.

2,000 Children Get Polio 'Shots'

LENOIR, N. C., July 6 (AP) — There are some 2,000 sore little bottoms in Caldwell County tonight, but their young owners are less likely to suffer polio.

By Wednesday, County Health Officer William Happer estimates more than 10,800 under 10 years of age will have received shots of gamma globulin in the nation's second mass inoculation program this year.

Since 9 a.m. when doctors stuck grim-faced Claude Conrad Story, a 7-year-old of Rt. 8, Lenoir, with a 2-inch needle, volunteer workers inoculated more than 125 an hour at each of four clinics.

Even as the free, non-compulsory inoculation program began, two more polio cases were reported, bringing the total to 86 in this Northwestern North Carolina county.

More than 500 volunteers—doctors, nurses, and townspeople—augmented by a staff of workers from the National Polio Foundation, worked 15 hours in five-hour shifts today.

Man Found Dead In Car

SILVER SPRING, Md., July 6 (AP)—The body of a man identified as Samuel A. Moody, 29, was found today in a car parked on Gunpowder Road in upper Prince Georges County, Maryland police reported.

Apparently the man died of carbon monoxide poisoning, police said. He was an employe of a Bethesda supermarket and was reported missing last Friday.

21½ Hours Underground

Spelunkers Reach Goal In Cave Near Petersburg

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP) — Ten amateur explorers, including two women, spent 21½ hours during the weekend in Schoolhouse Cave in West Virginia and reached their main objective, Grind Canyon at the cave's lowest level.

The mud-caked and tired spelunkers, as the cave explorers are known, completed their gruelling trip yesterday.

The party leaders, Robert Kitz and M. Girard Bloch, termed it a success, said a Herald-Tribune reporter who accompanied the party.

Water and slime in the cave's lower reaches soaked ropes and clothing and slowed down the group.

The explorers found that Grind Canyon, located near Petersburg, is about 350 feet underground and is about 1,800 feet long. It is extremely narrow, with walls rising 50 to 75 feet. Only Ulysses Lutz of Philadelphia, the party's smallest man, could enter its narrowest sections. He had to struggle through sliding rock and running water.

Members of the exploring party came from New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Johnson Quits As Information Service Chief

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — Dr. Robert L. Johnson has resigned as head of the embattled U. S. information service, telling President Eisenhower his health is breaking under the strain of the job.

The President accepted the resignation today and expressed hope that Johnson would be able to carry on until a sweeping reorganization of the information service is put into effect early next month.

Johnson has been in the middle of the "book burning" controversy which developed after Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) called for a purge of some 30,000 books by Communists and fellow-travelers which he said were on the shelves of the information libraries abroad.

At Eisenhower's request, Johnson took a leave of absence from the presidency of Temple University, Philadelphia, last February to grapple with the problems of the International Information Administration, a branch of the State Department.

From the comparative quiet of the campus he walked into a roaring fight over State Department policy in the distribution of American books and other information abroad.

Johnson, who is 59, wrote the President July 3 that he wanted to step aside because "two months ago my doctors advised me that the strains of this post were proving too much for me . . . ."

Ike Accepts Resignation

In Philadelphia a Temple University spokesman said Johnson will return to the presidency after resting for two months.

Eisenhower accepted Johnson's resignation reluctantly, writing him today:

"I share your disappointment in the decision which is so obviously necessary, and I want you to know how deeply I appreciate your answering my call into service last winter and the sacrifices in your own convenience and health which you have made at my request."

Drought Relief OK'd

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) —The House Agriculture Committee approved today a bill to provide emergency credit to farmers and cattlemen in the drought-stricken Southwest.

South Korean Leader Shuns Compromise

What To Do Should ROKs Quit U. N. Fold Reported Discussed

SEOUL, Tuesday, July 7 (AP) — Fresh speculation over just how for President Syngman Rhee might carry his truce -blocking views was stirred today by a report from a highly placed South Korean source that Rhee turned down a new United States compromise offer.

There were even unconfirmed reports that when Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the U. N. field commander, met yesterday with U. S. advisers to the South Korean Army they discussed what to do should Rhee pull out his 16 divisions from Taylor's command and fight on alone. The talks were top secret.

Negotiations between Rhee and President Eisenhower's special truce envoy were continuing for the 12th day but no time was set for the next meeting.

Rhee Termed "Fanatic"

A general officer at U. N. Far East Command headquarters in Tokyo said the 78-year-old South Korean President "is so fanatic about unifying Korea before he dies that Rhee is ready to pull down everything that we have built if he doesn't get what he wants." The general was not identified.

Monday night the North Korean Red radio at Pyongyang impatiently complained "there is no reason why the U. S. can't control Rhee and bring about a speedy Korean armistice."

The report of the new U. S. compromise offer came from a South Korean source close to the current negotiations. The source has proved right on recent previous occasions.

But a U. S. Embassy spokesman in Seoul denied such an offer had been made.

Reported U. S. Offer

The South Korean source said Rhee rejected this offer:

1. The U. S. and South Korea would walk out jointly from a post-rmistice political conference if it made no progress toward "peaceful unification" of Korea within 90 days.

2. The U. S. and South Korea then would undertake "top level" discussions on other methods of unifying Korea but with a clear understanding that any decisions would have to be ratified by the United States Senate.

Rhee wants a flat guarantee that the war would be resumed after 90 days should the political conference fail to make headway.

Eisenhower's envoy, Walter Robertson, already has told Rhee that the United States never can accede to such a demand.

Robertson and Rhee held their ninth secret meeting in 11 days Monday. It lasted an hour and 40 minutes after which Robertson said "we will meet again" but announced no definite time.

Reds Open Heavy Assault In Mud

SEOUL, Tuesday, July 7 (AP) — Heavy fighting broke out on rain-soaked Central and Western Korean fronts today as Chinese Reds swarmed to the attack in ankle-deep mud to end a two-day lull in the war.

The U. N. Command said several hundred Chinese attacked Porkchop Hill in the west late last night, and heavy fighting continued at dawn. The Chinese took the left and right flanks of the outpost, and were fighting for the top, the U. N. communique said.

Both sides threw fresh troops into the battle this morning.

Outpost Porkchop is about 10 miles west of Chorwon and about 25 miles northeast of the truce conference site of Panmunjom. It was the first attack in that sector in many weeks.

The Reds also lashed at two positions near Arrowhead Ridge on the Central Front.

Rain and black skies made it difficult to estimate the full force, but a full Red battalion of from 800 to 1,000 men were possibly involved.

By 3 a.m. the Reds had driven to the Allied trenches and there was hand to hand fighting that was still going on at 7:30 a.m.

12,000 East Germans Take Refuge In West

Indicates Red Regime Pledges To Be Ignored

BERLIN, July 6 (AP) — Twelve thousand East Germans have fled the Russian zone to the West since the Communist regime promised June 11 to mend its ways and improve life for the worker.

The West Berlin refugee headquarters added up the total today and said it is clear evidence that nothing the Red regime pledges is likely to be believed by the tired and overworked East Germans.

East German Premier Otto Grotewohl's government made its about face from all-out communism three weeks ago, promising to restore land to dispossessed farmers, to give credits to private industry, lower prices, cut back rearmament and build up consumer goods markets.

Before any steps actually could be taken, the Russian zone workers rebelled June 17 in a bloody uprising that might have unseated the civil government if the Soviet Army had not intervened with tough martial law backed by tanks and guns.

The martial law, virtually sealing off the East-West sector border in Berlin, failed to prevent daring escapes by refugees. For the first few days after the revolt, the flow ebbed to a trickle. Then the Soviets relaxed controls for Germans in Berlin somewhat, and the refugee stream is growing again.

The refugee center recorded 536 arrivals from the East today and a total of 2,000 since July 1. The refugees' stories contain the same thread—that they do not believe the Communist regime will change its ways.

July 4 Observance Costs Lives Of 434

By the Associated Press

The nation's 1953 Fourth of July observance cost at least 434 persons their lives.

That was the number killed in accidents between 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and midnight Sunday as millions took to the beaches, woods, and waterways for outings.

More than 60 per cent of the toll—262 deaths—occurred in traffic mishaps. One hundred twenty-one persons were drowned; only one death was attributed to fireworks; 50 were killed in various other types of accidents, including shootings, fires, by lightning, electrocutions and falls.

What's Trouble With Geese? They Think They're People

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — The trouble with some silly geese has been diagnosed at last. The poor creatures may think (A) that they are human beings, or (B) that human beings are geese.

The National Geographic has been looking into the goose situation, and its report today is very surprising indeed.

It seems goslings are extremely impressionable little rascals, so impressionable that the first thing seen or heard by them may be identified forever after as one of their own species.

So if a human being quacks around a day-old gosling, that gosling may go through life convinced he and the human are from the same nest.

This is known as imprinting, and is explained this way in the National Geographic news release:

"Imprinting was first described by the Austrian naturalist, Konrad Lorenz. Studying bird behavior. Lorenz realized that most birds do not recognize their own species by instinct, but rather by some definite early contact.

"A newly hatched goose, for example, looks upward when it first sees the light of day. Anything that moves and then draws away in a certain manner will imprint the gosling. Be it bird, beast, or human kind."

Fortunately, the first thing seen by most geese is its ma or pa. Otherwise, things would come to a pretty pass.

For once a goose is deluded, it is deluded for keeps. It ignores its own species, and later falls in love with members of the family to which it thinks it belongs.

There even have been cases, the National Geographic insists, of ducks who thought they were motorboats, and then tried to carry on what must have been one of the most discouraging love affairs of all time.

Not All Of ROKs Want To Drive To Yalu-Alone

SEOUL, Tuesday, July 7 (AP) — Not all of the South Korean Army wants to drive north to the Yalu River boundary of Manchuria — alone.

It is not hard to find Republic of Korea soldiers who know such a course would be national suicide. It is not hard to find others who, worn out by the long and bloody war, are willing to settle for any decent terms.

But it is only fair to say that many more are willing to brave everything and either conquer or die with President Syngman Rhee.

The fiery 78-year-old President has threatened to drive north alone if the United Nations signs an armistice with the Communists on terms he considers a "death warrant" to his country.

There are very few indeed — although there are some — in the ROK Army who say they would resist an order from Rhee to disregard an armistice and attack the Communists alone.

There are 16 divisions and thousands of supply troops in the South Korean Army and it is obviously not possible to take a public opinion poll among them. But even a random sampling shows three different reactions:

1. A small but influential number of officers and better educated enlisted men doubt, in varying degrees, the wisdom of Rhee's bitter anti-armistice stand and are willing to say so with surprising frankness.
2. A much greater number say, with or without mental reservations, that they will follow Rhee to the Yalu or death.
3. Occasional individuals oppose Rhee's policies so strongly they hint a military revolt or coup d'etat might be necessary to save South Korea. Such words are rarely spoken, for the penalty could well be the firing squad. But the thought exists — here and there.

Falls 'Conqueror' Says He'd Repeat Trip For $10,000

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 6 (AP) — Jean Lussier, only man alive to survive a trip over Niagara Falls, says he'll do it again—for $10,000.

Lussier, 62, went over the falls in September, 1928, in a huge rubber ball. He said yesterday that he doubted that anyone would come up with the $10,000.

"I made practically nothing on my last trip," he said. Lussier works in a factory here.

Three-Day Bus Strike Ends At Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 6 (AP) — A three-day bus strike in this industrial area of a million persons was settled today and AFL drivers started buses rolling in time for the evening rush.

The 1,800 drivers, mechanics and clerical workers of Niagara Frontier Transit Corp. voted to accept a one-year contract providing a wage increase now and another Jan. 1.

The union sought a pay boost for drivers to make up for the loss caused by a reduction in hours last week from 44 to 40.

Building Activity Hits Peak Level

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — The nation is riding the biggest construction boom in history.

That was the gist of a government report today showing that expenditures for building activity during the first six months of 1953 hit the highest level on record.

Even allowing for higher building costs, more building is going on than ever before — including the upsurge during World War II.

A joint report by the Commerce and Labor Departments said construction spending reached peak levels every month so far this year.

Through June, total 1953 construction spending was 16 billion dollars, almost 8 per cent above the first six months of 1952.

Total private outlay during the first half of this year came to $10,900,000,000, including record expenditures for new homes, commercial facilities, and public utilities.

Public or governmentally - financed construction totaled $5,100,000,000 so far this year, or 7 per cent more than for the first half of last year. This includes greater expenditures by the federal government, mainly for industrial facilities including atomic plants.

July 4 Observance Costs Lives Of 434

By the Associated Press

The nation's 1953 Fourth of July observance cost at least 434 persons their lives.

That was the number killed in accidents between 6 p.m. (local time) Friday and midnight Sunday as millions took to the beaches, woods, and waterways for outings.

More than 60 per cent of the toll—262 deaths—occurred in traffic mishaps. One hundred twenty-one persons were drowned; only one death was attributed to fireworks; 50 were killed in various other types of accidents, including shootings, fires, by lightning, electrocutions and falls.

The catbird gets its name from the cry it makes, much like the mewing of a cat.

What's Trouble With Geese? They Think They're People

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — The trouble with some silly geese has been diagnosed at last. The poor creatures may think (A) that they are human beings, or (B) that human beings are geese.

The National Geographic has been looking into the goose situation, and its report today is very surprising indeed.

It seems goslings are extremely impressionable little rascals, so impressionable that the first thing seen or heard by them may be identified forever after as one of their own species.

So if a human being quacks around a day-old gosling, that gosling may go through life convinced he and the human are from the same nest.

This is known as imprinting, and is explained this way in the National Geographic news release:

"Imprinting was first described by the Austrian naturalist, Konrad Lorenz. Studying bird behavior, Lorenz realized that most birds do not recognize their own species by instinct, but rather by some definite early contact.

"A newly hatched goose, for example, looks upward when it first sees the light of day. Anything that moves and then draws away in a certain manner will imprint the gosling. Be it bird, beast, or human kind."

Fortunately, the first thing seen by most geese is its ma or pa. Otherwise, things would come to a pretty pass.

For once a goose is deluded, it is deluded for keeps. It ignores its own species, and later falls in love with members of the family to which it thinks it belongs.

There even have been cases, the National Geographic insists, of ducks who thought they were motorboats, and then tried to carry on what must have been one of the most discouraging love affairs of all time.

Not All Of ROKs Want To Drive To Yalu-Alone

SEOUL, Tuesday, July 7 (AP) — Not all of the South Korean Army wants to drive north to the Yalu River boundary of Manchuria — alone.

It is not hard to find Republic of Korea soldiers who know such a course would be national suicide. It is not hard to find others who, worn out by the long and bloody war, are willing to settle for any decent terms.

But it is only fair to say that many more are willing to brave everything and either conquer or die with President Syngman Rhee.

The fiery 78-year-old President has threatened to drive north alone if the United Nations signs an armistice with the Communists on terms he considers a "death warrant" to his country.

There are very few indeed — although there are some — in the ROK Army who say they would resist an order from Rhee to disregard an armistice and attack the Communists alone.

There are 16 divisions and thousands of supply troops in the South Korean Army and it is obviously not possible to take a public opinion poll among them. But even a random sampling shows three different reactions:

1. A small but influential number of officers and better educated enlisted men doubt, in varying degrees, the wisdom of Rhee's bitter anti-armistice stand and are willing to say so with surprising frankness.

2. A much greater number say, with or without mental reservations, that they will follow Rhee to the Yalu or death.

3. Occasional individuals oppose Rhee's policies so strongly they hint a military revolt or coup d'etat might be necessary to save South Korea. Such words are rarely spoken, for the penalty could well be the firing squad. But the thought exists — here and there.

Falls 'Conqueror' Says He'd Repeat Trip For $10,000

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 6 (AP) — Jean Lussier, only man alive to survive a trip over Niagara Falls, says he'll do it again—for $10,000.

Lussier, 62, went over the falls in September, 1928, in a huge rubber ball. He said yesterday that he doubted that anyone would come up with the $10,000.

"I made practically nothing on my last trip," he said. Lussier works in a factory here.

Three-Day Bus Strike Ends At Buffalo, N. Y.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 6 (AP) — A three-day bus strike in this industrial area of a million persons was settled today and AFL drivers started buses rolling in time for the evening rush.

The 1,800 drivers, mechanics and clerical workers of Niagara Frontier Transit Corp. voted to accept a one-year contract providing a wage increase now and another Jan. 1.

The union sought a pay boost for drivers to make up for the loss caused by a reduction in hours last week from 44 to 40.

Building Activity Hits Peak Level

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — The nation is riding the biggest construction boom in history.

That was the gist of a government report today showing that expenditures for building activity during the first six months of 1953 hit the highest level on record.

Even allowing for higher building costs, more building is going on than ever before — including the upsurge during World War II.

A joint report by the Commerce and Labor Departments said construction spending reached peak levels every month so far this year.

Through June, total 1953 construction spending was 16 billion dollars, almost 8 per cent above the first six months of 1952.

Total private outlay during the first half of this year came to $10,900,000,000, including record expenditures for new homes, commercial facilities, and public utilities.

Public or governmentally - financed construction totaled $5,100,000,000 so far this year, or 7 per cent more than for the first half of last year. This includes greater expenditures by the federal government, mainly for industrial facilities including atomic plants.

Gen. Bradley Says USSR Might Launch War To Unite 'Family'

WASHINGTON, July 6 (AP) — Gen. Omar N. Bradley, retiring chief of the military high command, said today that Soviet Russia might resort to war in an effort to unite quarreling factions behind the Iron Curtain.

"The Communists certainly are having some troubles at home," Bradley said.

But he cautioned against any optimistic belief that the current outbreaks in Russia's satellite countries would have any "marked effect" on the Kremlin's long-range goal of world domination.

"More Defense" Urged

As for the Western world, Bradley called for "more and better defense" for this country and its allies.

The five-star general, who will turn over his post as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff to Adm. Arthur Radford on Aug. 13, expressed his views at a Pentagon news conference.

The meeting was arranged for Bradley to announce his acceptance of the board chairmanship of Bulova Research and Development, Inc., a subsidiary of the Bulova Watch Company.

Will Live In California

Bradley said it was reasonable to think Russia would hesitate to start any large-scale war with so much trouble in her own backyard. But he noted that the fastest way to stop the members of a family from quarreling among themselves was for outsiders to try to get into the argument.

Bradley said he plans to live in California after he learns the ropes of his new job with Bulova. Thereafter he expects to commute to the East as his work requires. He emphasized that he would have nothing to do with production or with obtaining military contracts. His job, as he sees it, will enable him to use his knowledge of military problems and see that those needing scientific and research solutions are passed along to the scientists.

Governor Marland Reviews Guard Unit

CAMP A. P. HILL, Va., July 6 (AP)—West Virginia Gov. William C. Marland and State Adj. Gen. Charles Fox reviewed troops of the 197th Tank Battalion of the 29th Infantry Division here today.

Tomorrow, Maryland Gov. Theodore McKeldin, Maj. Gen. Milton A. Reckord, adjutant general of Maryland, and Maj. Gen. Leslie Carter, commanding general of the 2nd Army, will arrive to inspect the 29th's citizen-soldiers.

In the meantime, Brig. Gen. Henry C. Evans of Baltimore assumed command of the 29th Infantry Division, replacing Maj. Gen. William H. Sands. Gen.Sands has been called to Norfolk because of the serious illness of his wife.

Brother Of Bride Breaks Up Reception

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP)—A man accused of crashing his sister's wedding reception and turning it into a donnybrook in which the groom's shirt was ripped was fined $10 today on a charge of disturbing the peace.

A charge of assault brought against Thomas P. Birmingham was dismissed.

Birmingham, police said, is 5 feet tall and has only one arm but officers said he told them he throws "an eight pound maul around all day."

Guests told police he appeared yesterday at the wedding reception of Robert L. and Shirley Birmingham Baker, downed some cognac and then started breaking furniture and battling the guests.

Air Base Fire Costly

WIESBADEN, Germany, July 6 (AP)—A U. S. Air Force spokesman announced today that a warehouse fire last week on Ramstein Airbase caused estimate damage of two million dollars. The fire, on June 29, destroyed half the warehouse, used to store government-owned household furnishing. There were no casualties. Cause of the fire was not determined.

State Briefs

GLEN BURNIE, Md., July 6 (AP)—Thieves cut through the roof of a super-market at nearby Harundale over the week-end and got $5,000 out of its safe.

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP) — Mrs. Edna A. Sweeney, 52-year-old widow, today became the first woman ever to be named a city market-master.

She will be the city's chief representative at the Hanover stree public market, a job which pays $1,350 a year. City Comptroller J. Neill McCardell said in announcing the appointment he thought a woman could better understand the problems facing a housewife.

SANDY POINT, Md., July 6 (AP)—Toll takers at the Chesapeake Bay Bridge estimated today they handled 10,000 to 12,000 cars a day over the Fourth of July week-end Friday through Sunday.

Exact figures will not be available until after the machine records made at the toll gates are audited. There were no traffic jams.

McCarthy Monument Defaced By Vandals

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP)—Vandals using lipstick and crayons defaced a monument dedicated to Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wisc) on the Fourth of July by Temus (Tim) Bright, Baltimore automobile dealer.

A police patrol discovered the damage about 4 a.m. Monday.

A red swastika was smeared on the eight-foot granite stone and one of the inscriptions was altered with crayon to read: ". . . . destroyer of American Freedoms."

Police said it would wash off.

Philippines President May Undergo Surgery

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP)—President Elpidio Quirino's personal physician said today doctors are considering the possibility of surgery to determine what is ailing the 62-year-old Philippine president.

There was no definite statement on when the president would undergo surgery, but indications pointed to the middle of the week, possibly Wednesday.

Dr. Agerico Sison, President Quirino's personal physician, and Dr. William Reinhoff, surgeon and Dr. Charles Austrian, both of the Johns Hopkins Hospital staff, huddled most of the day over X-rays taken last week in an effort to determine Quirino's malady.

Weary Fire Fighters Checking Calif. Blaze

LOS ANGELES, July 6 (AP) —The worst fire in Angeles National Forest since 1924 roared into the fifth day today, but 1,300 weary flame battlers are slowly bringing it under control.

The U. S. Forest Service announced that 75 per cent of the perimeter of the vast blaze on the eastern slope of the San Gabriel mountains has been controlled.

The Forest Service revised downward to 31,470 acres the area of brush and timber burned. Previous estimates had run as high as 40,000.

Touring Trumans Visit Ohio Capital

COLUMBUS, O., July 6 (AP)—The Harry S. Trumans, tourists from Independence, Mo., visited Ohio's state capital today.

Like other, less illustrious, motorists, the Trumans were tired.

"We're just going to sit down and rest," said Truman, who was driving his black family car.

Unlike other, less illustrious, motorists, the Trumans didn't just walk into the Deshler Hilton Hotel, register and disappear. They were escorted, squealed at, questioned and hailed.

The squeals came from many of the 2,000 teen-age delegates to the annual convention of the Future Homemakers of America, a situation the newsmen who were trying to shout questions at the former President found annoying.

Boy, 12, Drowns At Riverton, Md.

SALISBURY, Md., July 6 (AP)—A 12-year-old Cleveland Heights, O. boy drowned this afternoon in the Nanticoke River at Riverton while friends in a stalled motor boat helplessly watched a swift current carry him away.

State Trooper Arthur Plummer Jr. identified the victim as Robert George Gorry. He and his parents were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Richard Andrews at Riverton, 17 miles northwest of here.

Plummer was told that the boy, his father, and six other persons were in the boat, and that Robert dived overboard to swim. He was caught in a current about the same time the motor died out on the boat.

Witnesses said they tried to reach him with an oar and that the father dived over to swim for another boat to rescue him, but failed to reach him before he went under.

Rescuers were still searching for the body tonight.

Former Tax Collector Begins 'Serving Time'

DANBURY, Conn., July 6 (AP) — Denis W. Delaney, former Boston internal Revenue collector, entered the Federal Correction Institution here today to begin serving a year and a day sentence for accepting a $2,500 bribe.

Accompanied by two deputy marshals, Delaney arrived by automobile from Boston early this afternoon and was quickly put through prison routine.

The 57-year-old Delaney pleaded guilty June 26 to the bribe count—involving acceptance in 1949 of a check from one Daniel Friedman of New York to influence Delaney's decision in a tax delinquency case.

In addition to the year and a day, Delaney was also fined $5,000, which he paid last Friday.

Ancient Romans exchanged sprigs of holly, now a symbol of Christian celebration, as tokens of good wishes at the pagan festival of Saturnalia.

July 4 Weekend Accidents Claim 8 Lives In State

By The Associated Press

Eight deaths was the accident toll in Maryland over the Fourth of July week-end.

Three residents of the state were added to the fatality list by a fiery collision between a car and a truck in New Jersey and another accident in Virginia.

Within Maryland itself, four died in highway accidents and four drowned.

The traffic toll was topped just before the holiday period ended Sunday night when James Steiffer, a 20-year-old Pennsgrove, N. J., soldier stationed at Camp Pickett, Va., was killed when his car careened off U. S. 301 just south of Upper Marlboro.

Two other Camp Pickett soldiers in the car were hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Fussell of Silver Spring were the victims in the gasoline truck collision at Neptune, N. J. The 62-year-old husband was trapped in the car and burned to death. Mrs. Fussell died in a hospital over the week-end.

The other out-of-state accident fatal to a Marylander was near Arlington, Va., Sunday night. Paul Moorse Fisher, 39-year-old book salesman from Baltimore, was killed when two cars crashed on U. S. 211 west of Washington.

Most tragic of the holiday accidents was the drowning of two young girls and their host at Greenland Beach, just south of Baltimore in upper Anne Arundel County.

Robert Lane, 33, of Harundale, had 11 persons in his 16 foot motor boat. The wash from a cabin cruiser capsized the overloaded craft in 20 feet of water about 40 feet from a dock. Lane drowned after saving his seven-month old baby. The other two victims were Beverly Haddaway, 13-year-old neighbor of Lane at Harundale and Patricia Spriggs, 12, of Annapolis Junction.

British-Red China Pact

TOKYO, Tuesday, July 7 (AP) — Peiping Red radio said today that Britain and Red China signed an $84,000,000 import-export trade agreement in Peiping Monday.

Shakedown Charges Will Be Laid Before Grand Jury

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP) — The city's prosecutor said today he will lay before the grand jury "at the earliest possible time" a story that someone tried to get $15,000 out of a television station for getting a bill through the city council.

State's Attorney Asnelm Sodaro made the announcement in obvious anger after a four-minute session with Morris J. Soypher, an attorney who is a member of the Maryland House of Delegates from Baltimore's Fourth Legislative District.

Soypher acted as attorney for a group of residents who appeared before the city council in May to protest a change in zoning regulations. The change was sought by WBAL-TV so it could erect a 750-foot transmitter tower on a plot it owns adjacent to its present transmitter station in northwest Baltimore.

Sodaro since last week has been checking into charges someone approached the station's agent and said it would cost $15,000 to get the bill through the council.

Sodaro already has interviewed station officials, their attorneys, the chairman of the city council committee on zoning regulations, and the three city councilmen from the Fourth District.

He also talked to James H. (Jack) Pollack, political leader in the district and a controversial figure in Maryland's Democratic politics.

Soypher, whom Sodaro and his aides were unable to find when they started inquiring into the case last week, was under subpoena to appear at the state's attorney's office today.

He showed up at 11:58 a.m. with an attorney. He left at 12:02 p.m.

The charges about a shakedown were first made public last Tuesday by Arthur B. Price, president of the city council and acting mayor of Baltimore.

After his conference with Sodaro, Pollack branded Price's charges a "political smear."

Truck Driver Fined $125

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP)—A two year jail term and $125 in fines were imposed today on Wesley Jones, 27-year-old Negro accused of driving a truck while drunk.

The escapade included the critical injuring of a 74-year-old pedestrian last Saturday after the truck hit a parked car and jumped a curb.

3,434 Visit Maryland Statehouse In June

ANNAPOLIS, July 6 (AP)—A total of 3,434 persons from 43 states and four foreign countries visited Maryland's historic state house during June, the Department of Information reported.

The department also reported 55,895 persons visited Ft. McHenry in Baltimore, the birthplace of the National Anthem.

The number of Statehouse visitors was far below the record May figure of 9,651, but above the 3,200 figure for June a year ago.

Requests for tourist information from the department numbered 10,078 during the month, some from as far away as Japan.

State Briefs

GLEN BURNIE, Md., July 6 (AP)—Thieves cut through the roof of a super-market at nearby Harundale over the week-end and got $5,000 out of its safe.

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP) — Mrs. Edna A. Sweeney, 52-year-old widow, today became the first woman ever to be named a city market-master.

She will be the city's chief representative at the Hanover stree public market, a job which pays $1,350 a year. City Comptroller J. Neill McCardell said in announcing the appointment he thought a woman could better understand the problems facing a housewife.

SANDY POINT, Md., July 6 (AP)—Toll takers at the Chesapeake Bay Bridge estimated today they handled 10,000 to 12,000 cars a day over the Fourth of July week-end Friday through Sunday.

Exact figures will not be available until after the machine records made at the toll gates are audited. There were no traffic jams.

McCarthy Monument Defaced By Vandals

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP)—Vandals using lipstick and crayons defaced a monument dedicated to Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wisc) on the Fourth of July by Temus (Tim) Bright, Baltimore automobile dealer.

A police patrol discovered the damage about 4 a.m. Monday.

A red swastika was smeared on the eight-foot granite stone and one of the inscriptions was altered with crayon to read: ". . . . destroyer of American Freedoms."

Police said it would wash off.

Philippines President May Undergo Surgery

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP)—President Elpidio Quirino's personal physician said today doctors are considering the possibility of surgery to determine what is ailing the 62-year-old Philippine president.

There was no definite statement on when the president would undergo surgery, but indications pointed to the middle of the week, possibly Wednesday.

Dr. Agerico Sison, President Quirino's personal physician, and Dr. William Reinhoff, surgeon and Dr. Charles Austrian, both of the Johns Hopkins Hospital staff, huddled most of the day over X-rays taken last week in an effort to determine Quirino's malady.

Weary Fire Fighters Checking Calif. Blaze

LOS ANGELES, July 6 (AP) —The worst fire in Angeles National Forest since 1924 roared into the fifth day today, but 1,300 weary flame battlers are slowly bringing it under control.

The U. S. Forest Service announced that 75 per cent of the perimeter of the vast blaze on the eastern slope of the San Gabriel mountains has been controlled.

The Forest Service revised downward to 31,470 acres the area of brush and timber burned. Previous estimates had run as high as 40,000.

Touring Trumans Visit Ohio Capital

COLUMBUS, O., July 6 (AP)—The Harry S. Trumans, tourists from Independence, Mo., visited Ohio's state capital today.

Like other, less illustrious, motorists, the Trumans were tired. "We're just going to sit down and rest," said Truman, who was driving his black family car.

Unlike other, less illustrious, motorists, the Trumans didn't just walk into the Deshler Hilton Hotel, register and disappear. They were escorted, squealed at, questioned and hailed.

The squeals came from many of the 2,000 teen-age delegates to the annual convention of the Future Homemakers of America, a situation the newsmen who were trying to shout questions at the former President found annoying.

Boy, 12, Drowns At Riverton, Md.

SALISBURY, Md., July 6 (AP)—A 12-year-old Cleveland Heights, O. boy drowned this afternoon in the Nanticoke River at Riverton while friends in a stalled motor boat helplessly watched a swift current carry him away.

State Trooper Arthur Plummer Jr. identified the victim as Robert George Gorry. He and his parents were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Richard Andrews at Riverton, 17 miles northwest of here.

Plummer was told that the boy, his father, and six other persons were in the boat, and that Robert dived overboard to swim. He was caught in a current about the same time the motor died out on the boat.

Witnesses said they tried to reach him with an oar and that the father dived over to swim for another boat to rescue him, but failed to reach him before he went under.

Rescuers were still searching for the body tonight.

Former Tax Collector Begins 'Serving Time'

DANBURY, Conn., July 6 (AP) — Denis W. Delaney, former Boston internal Revenue collector, entered the Federal Correction Institution here today to begin serving a year and a day sentence for accepting a $2,500 bribe.

Accompanied by two deputy marshals, Delaney arrived by automobile from Boston early this afternoon and was quickly put through prison routine.

The 57-year-old Delaney pleaded guilty June 26 to the bribe count—involving acceptance in 1949 of a check from one Daniel Friedman of New York to influence Delaney's decision in a tax delinquency case.

In addition to the year and a day, Delaney was also fined $5,000, which he paid last Friday.

July 4 Weekend Accidents Claim 8 Lives In State

By The Associated Press

Eight deaths was the accident toll in Maryland over the Fourth of July week-end.

Three residents of the state were added to the fatality list by a fiery collision between a car and a truck in New Jersey and another accident in Virginia.

Within Maryland itself, four died in highway accidents and four drowned.

The traffic toll was topped just before the holiday period ended Sunday night when James Steiffer, a 20-year-old Pennsgrove, N. J., soldier stationed at Camp Pickett, Va., was killed when his car careened off U. S. 301 just south of Upper Marlboro.

Two other Camp Pickett soldiers in the car were hurt.

Mr. and Mrs. Willis Fussell of Silver Spring were the victims in the gasoline truck collision at Neptune, N. J. The 62-year-old husband was trapped in the car and burned to death. Mrs. Fussell died in a hospital over the week-end.

The other out-of-state accident fatal to a Marylander was near Arlington, Va., Sunday night. Paul Moorse Fisher, 39-year-old book salesman from Baltimore, was killed when two cars crashed on U. S. 211 west of Washington.

Most tragic of the holiday accidents was the drowning of two young girls and their host at Greenland Beach, just south of Baltimore in upper Anne Arundel County.

Robert Lane, 33, of Harundale, had 11 persons in his 16 foot motor boat. The wash from a cabin cruiser capsized the overloaded craft in 20 feet of water about 40 feet from a dock. Lane drowned after saving his seven-month old baby. The other two victims were Beverly Haddaway, 13-year-old neighbor of Lane at Harundale and Patricia Spriggs, 12, of Annapolis Junction.

Shakedown Charges Will Be Laid Before Grand Jury

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP) — The city's prosecutor said today he will lay before the grand jury "at the earliest possible time" a story that someone tried to get $15,000 out of a television station for getting a bill through the city council.

State's Attorney Asnelm Sodaro made the announcement in obvious anger after a four-minute session with Morris J. Soypher, an attorney who is a member of the Maryland House of Delegates from Baltmore's Fourth Legislative District.

Soypher acted as attorney for a group of residents who appeared before the city council in May to protest a change in zoning regulations. The change was sought by WBAL-TV so it could erect a 750-foot transmitter tower on a plot it owns adjacent to its present transmitter station in northwest Baltimore.

Sodaro since last week has been checking into charges someone approached the station's agent and said it would cost $15,000 to get the bill through the council.

Sodaro already has interviewed station officials, their attorneys, the chairman of the city council committee on zoning regulations, and the three city councilmen from the Fourth District.

He also talked to James H. (Jack) Pollack, political leader in the district and a controversial figure in Maryland's Democratic politics.

Soypher, whom Sodaro and his aides were unable to find when they started inquiring into the case last week, was under subpoena to appear at the state's attorney's office today.

He showed up at 11:58 a.m. with an attorney. He left at 12:02 p.m.

The charges about a shakedown were first made public last Tuesday by Arthur B. Price, president of the city council and acting mayor of Baltimore.

Truck Driver Fined $125

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP)—A two year jail term and $125 in fines were imposed today on Wesley Jones, 27-year-old Negro accused of driving a truck while drunk.

The escapade included the critical injuring of a 74-year-old pedestrian last Saturday after the truck hit a parked car and jumped a curb.

3,434 Visit Maryland Statehouse In June

ANNAPOLIS, July 6 (AP)—A total of 3,434 persons from 43 states and four foreign countries visited Maryland's historic state house during June, the Department of Information reported.

The department also reported 55,895 persons visited Ft. McHenry in Baltimore, the birthplace of the National Anthem.

The number of Statehouse visitors was far below the record May figure of 9,651, but above the 3,200 figure for June a year ago.

Requests for tourist information from the department numbered 10,078 during the month, some from as far away as Japan.

Perry And Japan

With Japan a free and independent ally of the United States again, the celebration on July 14 of the centennial of Commodore Perry's landing on the islands marks a full turn of the circle. Among the nations of the world, the United States was for years Japan's supporter and benefactor. Less than a decade ago, after almost 50 years of steadily deteriorating relations, the United States was Japan's outstanding opponent.

Like Korea, Japan had for centuries before the arrival of Perry been a "hermit kingdom." During the first part of the 17th Century the rulers of the island empire, fearful of the political dangers which seemed to accompany contact with Westerners and with Christian propaganda, proscribed the practice of that religion, forbade Japanese to leave the country under penalty of death, and closed the nation to foreigners. The only cracks in that wall, until the arrival of Perry, were extremely limited trading agreements with the Dutch and the Chinese.

Perry had been instructed by the U. S. State Department to arrange for the protection of American seamen and property in Japan and Japanese waters, and to try to obtain the opening of one or more ports to American vessels for trade and the procuring of supplies. According to the official guidance, he was to be "courteous and conciliatory, but, at the same time, firm and decided."

The mission of Perry, the brother of the hero of the battle of Lake Erie, required two visits to Japan. On the first, in 1853, he presented a letter from President Fillmore, stated the American requests, and after a short time withdrew. On the second, in 1854, he entered into friendly negotiations which resulted in a treaty acceding to all American proposals. Shipwrecked seamen were to be protected, provisions and coal were to be supplied, and a port was to be opened to trade. The agreement signed on March 31, 1854, declared the existence of a "perfect, permanent, and universal peace, and a sincere and cordial amity" between Japan and the United States.

So the relationship remained, on the whole, for many years, despite anti-foreign agitation carried on by some close to the emperor. But the growth of American interests in the Pacific and the emergence of Japan as a great power with aspirations on the continent of Asia were bound to cause friction.

In 1905 President Theodore Roosevelt personally negotiated a conclusion for the Russo-Japanese War. But that war had revealed that Japan had learned well the lessons of the West, and had become a great military power.

Until the recent past, at no time since 1905 had relations between the United States and Japan been so cordial as they had been between the time of Perry's visit and the Roosevelt conciliation. Americans, traditionally sympathizing with the underdog, had switched their friendship to the Chinese.

GOP And Tax Reduction

The House Ways and Means committee is expected at its meeting on Wednesday to take steps to submit to the House a bill to extend the excess profits tax to the coming January 1. The tax expired on June 30.

Chairman Reed (R., N. Y.), in opposing the President's demand for a six months' extension, has brought up again and again the Republican promises for tax reduction. Democrats also may be expected to taunt the Republicans with those promises.

However, the promises were qualified, not absolute. The 1952 Republican platform called for "a general tax reduction" only after the budget had been balanced by reductions in expenditures.

General Eisenhower in his speech of June 4, 1952, at Abilene, Kas., as a candidate for the Presidential nomination refrained from promising tax reduction quickly. He did observe that free government would be destroyed by "long-continued taxes that are only a little below the confiscatory level.

Senator Taft expounded Eisenhower's views on taxes after the two men had conferred on September 12, 1952 at the general's home on Morningside Heights, New York City. The senator said that "our goal" is a reduction of taxes to the $60 billion level in the fiscal year 1954-55. They were at the $65 billion level in fiscal 1952-53.

President Eisenhower in his radio speech of May 19 explained why expenditures could not be cut enough in 1953-54 to allow corporation and personal taxes to be reduced in that fiscal year. The chief reason was that $81 billion in previous commitments had to be paid for in the "next several years," just as in the case of any goods ordered COD.

Jomo Kenyatta As Symbol

A court in Kenya, the British colony in East Africa plagued by the Mau Mau revolt of the Kikuyu tribe, is soon to rule on the appeal of Jomo Kenyatta. Intellectual and political leader of the Kikuyus and other East Africans, he was sentenced last April 8 to seven years in jail for spearheading the anti-White Mau Mau movement.

All this may seem of little concern to Americans. Yet what happens to Kenyatta could determine what happens in all Africa, and what happens in Africa could determine what happens to the Western democracies in the decades ahead. Just so, what occurs in Korea tomorrow depends in large part on the attitude of Nehru in India today, and the Indian prime minister's approach has been inevitably conditioned by how the British treated him yesterday.

In fact, many Englishmen, including some members of Parliament, seem to be wondering if to move against nationalism in Kenya by imprisoning Kenyatta won't prove as futile, if not provocative, as was the imprisonment of Nehru and Gandhi in trying to head off nationalism in India.

Like Nehru and Gandhi, Kenyatta was educated in England. He studied anthropology also in other parts of Europe, including Russia, wrote a book on African ideologies, set up an institute for training Africans as teachers. His thesis is that Western values are inferior to African ones, fundamentally, and that Africa will do better by evolving its own civilization than by having European (and American) concepts foisted on it.

Sources Of Earache

When an adult develops earache there is a good possibility that some structure other than the ear is at fault. It may be the teeth, salivary glands, tonsils, in contrast to earache in children which is traceable to infection in the ear itself. Some individuals are skeptical when told that an abscessed tooth, for example, is the cause of pain in the ear. It sounds far-fetched but the rationale is fairly simple. The abscessed tooth irritates one of the nerves closely associated with the nerves going to the ear but the brain misinterprets the sensation as coming from the ear. Meanwhile the ear looks normal and removal of the tooth is followed by relief.

The same situation occurs occasionally when a salivary gland is affected as in mumps or obstruction by a stone. Swollen tonsils and inflamed throat have a similar effect. Earache is not unusual immediately after the tonsils are removed—a result of irritation of a small nerve which runs behind the tonsils on its way to the ear. In such instances it is useless to treat the ear to bring relief.

Real earache (middle ear infection) is more severe as a rule than the referred variety. This throbbing pain follows the accumulation of pus behind the drum; as it increases, tension mounts and unless the drum is opened there is spontaneous rupture. Now and then pus spreads to the mastoid and brain. These complications are avoided by early treatment and it is here that the sulfonamides or penicillin and the other antibiotics have proved a boon to mankind. When used early, they may abort the infection, thereby making opening of the drum unnecessary. The remedies also prevent complications; nowadays, mastoiditis is so rare that medical schools have difficulty unearthing a case to show to medical students.

In the summer, earache is more likely to be brought on by boils, pimples, or other infections in the ear canal. Hot weather induces overactivity of the sweat and wax glands of the outer ears. In addition, most of us bathe or go swimming more often, which provides a better environment for yeast and other fungus organisms. If they are allowed to establish a beachhead, eradication will not be easy and for this reason, the ear canals should be kept clean and dry.

The outer ear canal is easily injured by the careless insertion of toothpicks, hairpins, or cotton applicators. The adage, "Never put anything smaller than your elbow into your ear," remains good advice. It also is well to remember that children are prone to stick into their ears small objects such as erasers, beads, and beans. These foreign bodies often are difficult to extract because the canal must be stretched to grasp the trespasser with forceps. It sometimes is necessary to anesthetize the youngster with gas because moving or jerking the head adds to the hazard of removal.

TOMORROW: Hot weather, moodiness, and violence.

TOO SLIM

W. M. writes: Can you help a skinny person put on weight?

REPLY

Our leaflets on underweight and a fattening diet may prove helpful for you. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for this material.

SPIRAL GERMS

D. W. writes: 1. What is a spirochetal infection? 2. Are there many of them?

REPLY

1. A disease caused by a snake-like, spiral micro-organism, too small to be seen with the naked eye. 2. There are several varieties. One type causes syphilis; another, trench mouth; a third is responsible for yaws, which is rare in this country but common in Africa.

NEURITIS AND ACIDITY

G. W. writes: Is it harmful for a person with neuritis to eat acid forming foods?

REPLY

No. Neuritis may result from an acid deficiency, infection, pressure on a nerve, or a toxic condition. "Too much acid in the system" is a convenient excuse for pain but the term has no scientific meaning.

LIP CANCER

I. W. writes: How can a person determine whether a malignancy is developing on the lip? I have a groove in the upper lip that splits continually unless salve is used daily.

REPLY

Cracks or fissures of the lips are difficult to heal because the membrane is stretched when the parts are moved as in smiling, yawning, speaking, and eating. Cancer may be responsible, but there is a better chance that the lesion is the result of a vitamin B deficiency, sensitivity to lipstick, biting the lips, or infections stemming from micro-organisms normally inhabiting the mouth. If the physician thinks that the abnormality is the least bit suspicious, he will remove a small section surgically and send it to the laboratory for a microscopic study (biopsy).

Senators Hold Secret Debate Over Communism Among Protestant Clergy; Secretary Wilson Gets Sour On Senators; Two Murders At The Pentagon

WASHINGTON — A significant backstage battle over McCarthyism will be waged this morning when the McCarthy Committee meets behind closed doors to discuss its executive director, J. B. Matthews, and his statement that "The largest single group supporting the Communist apparatus in the United States today is composed of Protestant clergymen."

Matthews, formerly employed by the Hearst newspapers, has recently replaced fair - minded "Firp" Flanagan, who for many years directed the Senate Government Operations Committee of which McCarthy is now chairman, but when the committee meets today it will face a solid phalanx of three Democrats — Jackson of Washington, McClellan of Arkansas and Symington of Missouri — who will demand that Matthews be fired.

The three Democrats can be outvoted by the four Republicans, but the interesting question will be whether all the Republicans will line up together. For three of the four Republicans are Protestants: Mundt of South Dakota and Potter of Michigan are Methodists; Dirksen of Illinois is a Presbyterian. McCarthy, the chairman, is Catholic.

During the closed-door debate, the three Protestant Republicans will have to decide whether to go along with their chairman or with the Protestant churches which have been attacked by Committee Director Matthews.

Derision For Senators

It won't make him popular on Capitol Hill, but Secretary of Defense Wilson has taken to using the term "senator" derisively.

For example, at an off-the-record meeting of aviation moguls at Williamsburg, Va., Wilson delivered a short, pleasant speech, then called for questions from the audience. He got a critical one from ex-Air Force General Joe McNarney, now president of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft.

"I don't know who the hell you are," snapped Wilson, "but you sound like a senator."

To another critical question from ex-Army General Al Wedemeyer, Wilson snorted: "Let me tell you, senator. . ."

Later, the secretary of Defense shrugged off another question with the grumpy comment: "That sounds like another stupid senator."

NOTE—As wind of Wilson's attitude toward senators has drifted up to Capitol Hill, even Republican senators have been talking pointedly about Ike's getting a new secretary of Defense.

British Advice On Rhee

Field Marshal Alexander of the British army has urged General Mark Clark to take the unusual step of arresting President Syngman Rhee if he continues to obstruct a truce in Korea.

Lord Alexander, who was General Clark's superior during the Italian campaign, says Britain wouldn't have put up with Rhee's defiance for 10 minutes if he were in charge of negotiations.

American military men considered the idea of replacing Rhee with the chief of staff of the Korean army, but President Eisenhower overruled them.

Murder In The Pentagon

It begins to look as if "Murder in the Pentagon" was not just the title of a detective story or a TV drama. Finding the decomposed body of John S. Johnson, a Negro mail clerk, in the trunk rack of his car now casts serious suspicion on the manner in which Lee E. Harden, a trusted Negro guard, was found dead at the bottom of a locked "security" elevator shaft two months ago.

His body was not mangled by the elevator, but appeared beaten up. However, his hand was clutching the key to the elevator as if he had unlocked the elevator doors himself, and he was declared a suicide. On the other hand, the guards did not carry revolvers that day, presumably because of an inspection; and it was significant that Harden had earlier participated in a raid on some government lockers where he uncovered evidence implicating one Pentagon employe in the numbers racket. It is also believed that Johnson's murder resulted from numbers racket revenge.

FBI and security police were called in to check how an off-duty guard could have got into an elevator shaft. A Virginia state policeman expressed the opinion that it was a lottery murder, but despite this, the verdict was suicide.

Earlier, a head Pentagon guard had been relieved on the suspicion that he was shaking down the guards on payday. Some of the guards were also taking numbers bets.

NOTE—Naturally it looks bad for Pentagon security police to have a murder committed right under their noses. Maybe the Communists could operate under their noses also.

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The OSS

The Office of Strategic Services was the most secretive arm of government during World War II. Its head was General William J. Donovan, better known as "Wild Bill," a lawyer with an excellent reputation. One of his chief associates was Allen Dulles, brother of John Foster Dulles, an able lawyer and a man of outstanding knowledge of European affairs. Donovan and Dulles are Republicans. Dulles is now the head of the Central Intelligence Agency, the successor to the OSS.

As testimony unfolds before congressional committees, a number of witnesses who now take refuge in the Fifth Amendment on questions of subversion or espionage were, in World War II, connected with the OSS. The question arises how such persons were permitted to join the OSS. Were they double spies? Were they using this connection to spy on this country?

The matter is dead now so far as legal action is concerned, except perhaps on the charge of perjury. Yet, it is important for the United States to know precisely what happened in World War II, so that it may not happen again. The greatest advantage of the congressional investigations is that Congress may have the background to legislate against a continuation of errors.

Carl Aldo Marzani served in the OSS. He was recently before the Jenner Committee and was asked about his OSS experience. This is the colloquy:

"Mr. Morris. Who was your superior in (the OSS)?

"Mr. Marzani. General Donovan.

"Mr. Morris. Immediate superior?

"Mr. Marzani. I claim the privilege, sir."

This is a puzzler. Why would it incriminate Marzani or anybody else to say who was his immediate superior in the OSS or any government job? After all, that must be a matter of record although OSS records are not public. The Fifth Amendment protects Marzani from testifying against himself in a matter involving a statutory crime. This, in a manner, reflects on his superior, for to testify to this fact could only incriminate Marzani if that immediate superior were himself a criminal with whom Marzani conspired against the United States.

Again, here is a puzzler:

"Mr. Morris. After you were drafted in the Army did you apply for assignment back to OSS?

"Mr. Marzani. I decline to answer that on the basis of the Fifth Amendment and claim the privilege.

"Mr. Morris. Even whether or not you were assigned back or you applied for assignment?

"Mr. Marzani. That is correct.

"Mr. Morris. Who helped you in being reassigned to the OSS?

"Mr. Marzani. I claim the privilege."

The answer can only mean that something criminal took place. Otherwise, what is wrong with being asked to be assigned to OSS and for someone in that organization or in the Army to have helped Marzani? The OSS was an honorable and dangerous assignment. Why do answers concerning it incriminate a person? What is the crime?

Of himself, Marzani says:

". . . I was one of the men responsible for picking the targets for the raid on Tokyo, the Doolittle raid. That came from the Air Force through the Joint Chiefs. It was a regular staff setup. . ."

Senator Johnson, referring to the importance of Marzani's position, asked:

"Do you mean to come before this committee and state you held this responsible position and at the same time you will not say whether or not you were a member of the Communist party at that time?"

Marzani continued to claim the privilege. His reason was: ". . .I have been to jail on a frame-up charge, two and a half years. I spent two and a half years on an indictment which was unconstitutional, and in my opinion the Supreme Court of the United States decided four to four it was unconstitutional, and I went to jail for two and a half years. So I must be the only judge to the best of my knowledge and ability as to whether I could be put into jail again on an indictment which is false and unconstitutional."

Actually Marzani had been jailed on the grounds of perjury in a case involving membership in the Communist party. He was also associated with "America." He is now employed by the United Electrical Workers Union, which was evicted from the CIO for being a Communist union.

The question is, how did Marzani get into the OSS?

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower is either the victim of mistakes by members of the White House staff who fail to inform him on controversial subjects before he enters his press conferences, or else he actually doesn't mind spending the taxpayers' money to give recognition on the shelves of overseas libraries of the American government to authors of books on subjects unrelated to communism written by Cmmunists or Communist sympathizers.

It is difficult to accept the second assumption. It is easier to believe the first.

The other day at the President's press conference he was asked about the detective stories of Dashiell Hammett, which it was reported to him by a newsman had been barred from the shelves of the State Department's libraries abroad.

Mr. Eisenhower said he wouldn't have removed such books, and that somebody must have been frightened.

More To The Story

Nobody at the press conference, however, told Mr. Eisenhower that what he was really being asked was to pass judgment on the issue of whether he favored the use in government libraries abroad of books written by persons who, claiming immunity under the Fifth Amendment of the Constitution, had refused to answer questions asked them either by congressional committees or the courts. Nor did anybody mention to the President that there was something more involved in the case of Hammett, namely a denial of such immunity claim by the Supreme Court of the United States and a jail sentence of six months for contempt. This was because of a refusal to answer questions asked by the court concerning the records of a fund of which he was chairman and from which bond had been furnished to four convicted Communists, including Gerhard Eisler, who jumped their bail and escaped.

After the press conference one correspondent asked a member of the White House staff if the President knew, when he was discussing Hammett's books, that the auhor had refused to answer questions before a congressional committee. The reply from the member of the White House staff was that it could be assumed that the President knew that fact.

This has led to published reports that mere refusal to answer questions on the ground that it would be self-incriminating to do so doesn't in Mr. Eisenhower's opinion disqualify an author from having his books on the shelves of the American government libraries abroad and that the American taxpayers should continue to pay out money for such purposes.

But such a view will not be shared either by Congress or by many citizens who will ask why the detective stories of some other authors who have not become involved in controversies over communistic connections cannot be found for the overseas libraries—if, indeed, the law governing government purchases does permit any detective story books to be bought for those libraries. The statute would seem plainly to exclude books of entertainment, confining the overseas libraries to books of information, but the Truman administration didn't pay much attention to the wording of such laws and it was the preceding administration which put all the books now in controversy on the overseas shelves.

Mr. Hammett is a controversial figure. Not only did he refuse to answer questions put to him by the court but by a congressional committee which had asked him about his connection with a large number of Communist front organizations. Robert L. Johnson, director of the State Department's information program, told a press conference six days before the President's meeting with the newsmen—and the stories were widely published — that while he had not yet worked out a directive for the guidance of overseas libraries he didn't himself favor putting books on government shelves abroad by authors who had refused to answer the questions of congressional committees by claiming immunity.

The Real Question

The question is not whether Mr. Hammett's books should be put on the shelves of libraries generally in the United States—they should of course be available to those readers who wish to select any detective stories they like. The real question is whether the Government of the United States itself should give recognition or prestige to Mr. Hammett in communistic circles abroad by putting his books in overseas libraries paid for by the American taxpayer. Why, in these years of unbalanced budgets, did the Truman administration spend the taxpayers' money to supply Europeans with detective stories anyway and why does the Eisenhower administration feel it has to stand back of such a policy now?

As for the voters of the United States, they would make short shift of any candidate for Congress who said during his campaign that he approved of spending their money for detective stories written either by Communists or non-Communists.

The Bushmen

WASHINGTON

The year was 1770, not so very long before the establishment of the American independence that we have been celebrating. But even the wisest elders of the tribe that was enjoying a kangaroo barbecue on the wooded shores of Botany Bay would not have grasped the meaning of the date, if they had ever heard it mentioned.

The Australian bushmen had not merely been cut off from the other races of men since paleolithic times, so that the Christian era was unknown to them. They were also simple, early Stone Age people, who kept no account of time except to remember the year of the great flood; the year of the bewitchment, when the tribe fell victim to hostile magic; and the year of big bellies, when the grass stood high and the game was fat.

The year 1770 seemed to promise to be a repetition of the year of the big bellies. The tribe, agreeably smeared with kangaroo grease and blood, was happy and at peace in the half shade of a eucalyptus grove. Mothers were rounding up children. Grizzled elders distended with food were beginning to grow dozy. The young warriors were starting to stomp out the rhythm of a dance, in which the giggling girls would later join, as the swift onset of dusk announced the happy privacy of the night.

Then, rounding a headland into Botany Bay, where the lazy swell glistered in the afternoon sun, swam the ship. To the tribe, to be sure, this tall apparition with the canvas bellying under the steady breeze and the cutwater feathering with foam, was not a ship at all. It was a new and fearful magic, threatening who knew what dark dangers to the bushman way of life.

Pick The Scapegoats

As the crew swarmed up the rigging to reef the sails, and the ship hove to, and the great anchor clattered out through the hawsehole, the watching tribe on shore huddled fearfully together. The new magic needed talking over; and the women and children crept back to the tribe's cave among the rocks, while the elders and warriors gathered in formal circle in the hidden glade that served as Senate house.

Two or three of the younger warriors, youthfully skeptical of the tribal magic, dared to suggest that the apparition in the bay was merely a giant canoe. Let the tribe's fighting men gather in ambush by the beach, they said; and if the people of the giant canoe attempted a landing, let the landing be opposed.

But the elders would have nothing to do with such immoral council. Magic was magic, they said. Only magic could defeat magic, they warned. And this new magic, they quite logically argued, called for the highest form of counter measure. Only the driving out of scapegoats could rid the tribe of magically subversive influences. Only the death of scapegoats could give the tribe the supernatural power to overcome its enemies.

The usual council of three retired to the deeper bush, to weave the spells that would reveal who the scapegoats ought to be. On the council's return to the smoky caves where all the tribe now crouched in terrified anticipation, the scapegoats were called forth. The spells seemed to have followed the line of tribal politics — those chosen were one of the young warrior-skeptics who had been making eyes at the chief's pretty wife; Old Pegleg, who could not hunt and was a burden; and Strong-Arm, who was challenging the chief's authority.

Have Only Selves To Fear

But this unusual political astuteness of the spells was always expected. The bull-roarers sounded their terrible note. The scapegoats were seized and bound about the upper body. The whole tribe joined in driving them into the bush with thorn-whips. When they fell and lay bleeding, they were quickly stoned to death. And so the tribe returned to the caves, feeling a bit self-righteous and altogether confident that when dawn came, Botany Bay would once again be empty.

Unfortunately, when dawn came, the ship was still there. Boats were lowered and oars splashed loudly in the silence. The crews, rushing ashore through the surf, shouted in triumph. Some members of the distracted tribe sought to oppose them; but the invaders had magic noise-makers whose bang could kill a man at 50 paces. So the tribe fled, and after a little Captain Cook sailed away again, noting that this was a fertile and great land. Such was the beginning of the end of the bushman way of life.

Like the bushmen, we in America are not used to foreign entanglement. And like the bushmen, a good many Americans now believe that the driving out of scapegoats is the best way to escape from the grave world-predicament in which history has entangled us. Like the bushmen, we hunt our own; and we forget the enemy.

But we are not as the bushmen, in that we in America have nothing to fear but our own weakness and self-delusion. Let us gird ourselves to drive the dangers back, and they will be as nothing. Let us be wise, high-hearted and of good courage, and the leadership of the world will fall on us. This is what we may hope for, if we do not make the bushmen's choice; and this is the moral of the tale.

Perry And Japan

With Japan a free and independent ally of the United States again, the celebration on July 14 of the centennial of Commodore Perry's landing on the islands marks a full turn of the circle. Among the nations of the world, the United States was for years Japan's supporter and benefactor. Less than a decade ago, after almost 50 years of steadily deteriorating relations, the United States was Japan's outstanding opponent.

Like Korea, Japan had for centuries before the arrival of Perry been a "hermit kingdom." During the first part of the 17th Century the rulers of the island empire, fearful of the political dangers which seemed to accompany contact with Westerners and with Christian propaganda, proscribed the practice of that religion, forbade Japanese to leave the country under penalty of death, and closed the nation to foreigners. The only cracks in that wall, until the arrival of Perry, were extremely limited trading agreements with the Dutch and the Chinese.

Perry had been instructed by the U. S. State Department to arrange for the protection of American seamen and property in Japan and Japanese waters, and to try to obtain the opening of one or more ports to American vessels for trade and the procuring of supplies. According to the official guidance, he was to be "courteous and conciliatory, but, at the same time, firm and decided."

The mission of Perry, the brother of the hero of the battle of Lake Erie, required two visits to Japan. On the first, in 1853, he presented a letter from President Fillmore, stated the American requests, and after a short time withdrew. On the second, in 1854, he entered into friendly negotiations which resulted in a treaty acceding to all American proposals. Shipwrecked seamen were to be protected, provisions and coal were to be supplied, and a port was to be opened to trade. The agreement signed on March 31, 1854, declared the existence of a "perfect, permanent, and universal peace, and a sincere and cordial amity" between Japan and the United States.

So the relationship remained, on the whole, for many years, despite anti-foreign agitation carried on by some close to the emperor. But the growth of American interests in the Pacific and the emergence of Japan as a great power with aspirations on the continent of Asia were bound to cause friction.

In 1905 President Theodore Roosevelt personally negotiated a conclusion for the Russo-Japanese War. But that war had revealed that Japan had learned well the lessons of the West, and had become a great military power.

Until the recent past, at no time since 1905 had relations between the United States and Japan been so cordial as they had been between the time of Perry's visit and the Roosevelt conciliation. Americans, traditionally sympathizing with the underdog, had switched their friendship to the Chinese.

GOP And Tax Reduction

The House Ways and Means committee is expected at its meeting on Wednesday to take steps to submit to the House a bill to extend the excess profits tax to the coming January 1. The tax expired on June 30.

Chairman Reed (R., N. Y.), in opposing the President's demand for a six months' extension, has brought up again and again the Republican promises for tax reduction. Democrats also may be expected to taunt the Republicans with those promises.

However, the promises were qualified, not absolute. The 1952 Republican platform called for "a general tax reduction" only after the budget had been balanced by reductions in expenditures.

General Eisenhower in his speech of June 4, 1952, at Abilene, Kas., as a candidate for the Presidential nomination refrained from promising tax reduction quickly. He did observe that free government would be destroyed by "long-continued taxes that are only a little below the confiscatory level.

Senator Taft expounded Eisenhower's views on taxes after the two men had conferred on September 12, 1952 at the general's home on Morningside Heights, New York City. The senator said that "our goal" is a reduction of taxes to the $60 billion level in the fiscal year 1954-55. They were at the $65 billion level in fiscal 1952-53.

President Eisenhower in his radio speech of May 19 explained why expenditures could not be cut enough in 1953-54 to allow corporation and personal taxes to be reduced in that fiscal year. The chief reason was that $81 billion in previous commitments had to be paid for in the "next several years," just as in the case of any goods ordered COD.

Jomo Kenyatta As Symbol

A court in Kenya, the British colony in East Africa plagued by the Mau Mau revolt of the Kikuyu tribe, is soon to rule on the appeal of Jomo Kenyatta. Intellectual and political leader of the Kikuyus and other East Africans, he was sentenced last April 8 to seven years in jail for spearheading the anti-White Mau Mau movement.

All this may seem of little concern to Americans. Yet what happens to Kenyatta could determine what happens in all Africa, and what happens in Africa could determine what happens to the Western democracies in the decades ahead. Just so, what occurs in Korea tomorrow depends in large part on the attitude of Nehru in India today, and the Indian prime minister's approach has been inevitably conditioned by how the British treated him yesterday.

In fact, many Englishmen, including some members of Parliament, seem to be wondering if to move against nationalism in Kenya by imprisoning Kenyatta won't prove as futile, if not provocative, as was the imprisonment of Nehru and Gandhi in trying to head off nationalism in India.

Like Nehru and Gandhi, Kenyatta was educated in England. He studied anthropology also in other parts of Europe, including Russia, wrote a book on African ideologies, set up an institute for training Africans as teachers. His thesis is that Western values are inferior to African ones, fundamentally, and that Africa will do better by evolving its own civilization than by having European (and American) concepts foisted on it.

Sources Of Earache

When an adult develops earache there is a good possibility that some structure other than the ear is at fault. It may be the teeth, salivary glands, tonsils, in contrast to earache in children which is traceable to infection in the ear itself. Some individuals are skeptical when told that an abscessed tooth, for example, is the cause of pain in the ear. It sounds far-fetched but the rationale is fairly simple. The abscessed tooth irritates one of the nerves closely associated with the nerves going to the ear but the brain misinterprets the sensation as coming from the ear. Meanwhile the ear looks normal and removal of the tooth is followed by relief.

The same situation occurs occasionally when a salivary gland is affected as in mumps or obstruction by a stone. Swollen tonsils and inflamed throat have a similar effect. Earache is not unusual immediately after the tonsils are removed—a result of irritation of a small nerve which runs behind the tonsils on its way to the ear. In such instances it is useless to treat the ear to bring relief.

Real earache (middle ear infection) is more severe as a rule than the referred variety. This throbbing pain follows the accumulation of pus behind the drum; as it increases, tension mounts and unless the drum is opened there is spontaneous rupture. Now and then pus spreads to the mastoid and brain. These complications are avoided by early treatment and it is here that the sulfonamides or penicillin and the other antibiotics have proved a boon to mankind. When used early, they may abort the infection, thereby making opening of the drum unnecessary. The remedies also prevent complications; nowadays, mastoiditis is so rare that medical schools have difficulty unearthing a case to show to medical students.

In the summer, earache is more likely to be brought on by boils, pimples, or other infections in the ear canal. Hot weather induces overactivity of the sweat and wax glands of the outer ears. In addition, most of us bathe or go swimming more often, which provides a better environment for yeast and other fungus organisms. If they are allowed to establish a beachhead, eradication will not be easy and for this reason, the ear canals should be kept clean and dry.

The outer ear canal is easily injured by the careless insertion of toothpicks, hairpins, or cotton applicators. The adage, "Never put anything smaller than your elbow into your ear," remains good advice. It also is well to remember that children are prone to stick into their ears small objects such as erasers, beads, and beans. These foreign bodies often are difficult to extract because the canal must be stretched to grasp the trespasser with forceps. It sometimes is necessary to anesthetize the youngster with gas because moving or jerking the head adds to the hazard of removal.

TOMORROW: Hot weather, moodiness, and violence.

SPIRAL GERMS

D. W. writes: 1. What is a spirochetal infection? 2. Are there many of them?

REPLY

1. A disease caused by a snake-like, spiral micro-organism, too small to be seen with the naked eye. 2. There are several varieties. One type causes syphilis; another, trench mouth; a third is responsible for yaws, which is rare in this country but common in Africa.

NEURITIS AND ACIDITY

G. W. writes: Is it harmful for a person with neuritis to eat acid forming foods?

REPLY

No. Neuritis may result from an acid deficiency, infection, pressure on a nerve, or a toxic condition. "Too much acid in the system" is a convenient excuse for pain but the term has no scientific meaning.

LIP CANCER

I. W. writes: How can a person determine whether a malignancy is developing on the lip? I have a groove in the upper lip that splits continually unless salve is used daily.

REPLY

Cracks or fissures of the lips are difficult to heal because the membrane is stretched when the parts are moved as in smiling, yawning, speaking, and eating. Cancer may be responsible, but there is a better chance that the lesion is the result of a vitamin B deficiency, sensitivity to lipstick, biting the lips, or infections stemming from micro-organisms normally inhabiting the mouth. If the physician thinks that the abnormality is the least bit suspicious, he will remove a small section surgically and send it to the laboratory for a microscopic study (biopsy).

Senators Hold Secret Debate Over Communism Among Protestant Clergy; Secretary Wilson Gets Sour On Senators; Two Murders At The Pentagon

WASHINGTON — A significant backstage battle over McCarthyism will be waged this morning when the McCarthy Committee meets behind closed doors to discuss its executive director, J. B. Matthews, and his statement that "The largest single group supporting the Communist apparatus in the United States today is composed of Protestant clergymen."

Matthews, formerly employed by the Hearst newspapers, has recently replaced fair - minded "Firp" Flanagan, who for many years directed the Senate Government Operations Committee of which McCarthy is now chairman, but when the committee meets today it will face a solid phalanx of three Democrats — Jackson of Washington, McClellan of Arkansas and Symington of Missouri — who will demand that Matthews be fired.

The three Democrats can be outvoted by the four Republicans, but the interesting question will be whether all the Republicans will line up together. For three of the four Republicans are Protestants: Mundt of South Dakota and Potter of Michigan are Methodists; Dirksen of Illinois is a Presbyterian. McCarthy, the chairman, is Catholic.

During the closed-door debate, the three Protestant Republicans will have to decide whether to go along with their chairman or with the Protestant churches which have been attacked by Committee Director Matthews.

Derision For Senators

It won't make him popular on Capitol Hill, but Secretary of Defense Wilson has taken to using the term "senator" derisively.

For example, at an off-the-record meeting of aviation moguls at Williamsburg, Va., Wilson delivered a short, pleasant speech, then called for questions from the audience. He got a critical one from ex-Air Force General Joe McNarney, now president of Consolidated Vultee Aircraft.

"I don't know who the hell you are," snapped Wilson, "but you sound like a senator."

To another critical question from ex-Army General Al Wedemeyer, Wilson snorted: "Let me tell you, senator. . ."

Later, the secretary of Defense shrugged off another question with the grumpy comment: "That sounds like another stupid senator."

NOTE—As wind of Wilson's attitude toward senators has drifted up to Capitol Hill, even Republican senators have been talking pointedly about Ike's getting a new secretary of Defense.

British Advice On Rhee

Field Marshal Alexander of the British army has urged General Mark Clark to take the unusual step of arresting President Syngman Rhee if he continues to obstruct a truce in Korea.

Lord Alexander, who was General Clark's superior during the Italian campaign, says Britain wouldn't have put up with Rhee's defiance for 10 minutes if he were in charge of negotiations.

American military men considered the idea of replacing Rhee with the chief of staff of the Korean army, but President Eisenhower overruled them.

Murder In The Pentagon

It begins to look as if "Murder in the Pentagon" was not just the title of a detective story or a TV drama. Finding the decomposed body of John S. Johnson, a Negro mail clerk, in the trunk rack of his car now casts serious suspicion on the manner in which Lee E. Harden, a trusted Negro guard, was found dead at the bottom of a locked "security" elevator shaft two months ago.

His body was not mangled by the elevator, but appeared beaten up. However, his hand was clutching the key to the elevator as if he had unlocked the elevator doors himself, and he was declared a suicide. On the other hand, the guards did not carry revolvers that day, presumably because of an inspection; and it was significant that Harden had earlier participated in a raid on some government lockers where he uncovered evidence implicating one Pentagon employe in the numbers racket. It is also believed that Johnson's murder resulted from numbers racket revenge.

FBI and security police were called in to check how an off-duty guard could have got into an elevator shaft. A Virginia state policeman expressed the opinion that it was a lottery murder, but despite this, the verdict was suicide.

Earlier, a head Pentagon guard had been relieved on the suspicion that he was shaking down the guards on payday. Some of the guards were also taking numbers bets.

NOTE—Naturally it looks bad for Pentagon security police to have a murder committed right under their noses. Maybe the Communists could operate under their noses also.

The OSS

The Office of Strategic Services was the most secretive arm of government during World War II. Its head was General William J. Donovan, better known as "Wild Bill," a lawyer with an excellent reputation. One of his chief associates was Allen Dulles, brother of John Foster Dulles, an able lawyer and a man of outstanding knowledge of European affairs. Donovan and Dulles are Republicans. Dulles is now the head of the Central Intelligence Agency, the successor to the OSS.

As testimony unfolds before congressional committees, a number of witnesses who now take refuge in the Fifth Amendment on questions of subversion or espionage were, in World War II, connected with the OSS. The question arises how such persons were permitted to join the OSS. Were they double spies? Were they using this connection to spy on this country?

The matter is dead now so far as legal action is concerned, except perhaps on the charge of perjury. Yet, it is important for the United States to know precisely what happened in World War II, so that it may not happen again. The greatest advantage of the congressional investigations is that Congress may have the background to legislate against a continuation of errors.

Carl Aldo Marzani served in the OSS. He was recently before the Jenner Committee and was asked about his OSS experience. This is the colloquy:

"Mr. Morris. Who was your superior in (the OSS)?

"Mr. Marzani. General Donovan.

"Mr. Morris. Immediate superior?

"Mr. Marzani. I claim the privilege, sir."

This is a puzzler. Why would it incriminate Marzani or anybody else to say who was his immediate superior in the OSS or any government job? After all, that must be a matter of record although OSS records are not public. The Fifth Amendment protects Marzani from testifying against himself in a matter involving a statutory crime. This, in a manner, reflects on his superior, for to testify to this fact could only incriminate Marzani if that immediate superior were himself a criminal with whom Marzani conspired against the United States.

Again, here is a puzzler:

"Mr. Morris. After you were drafted in the Army did you apply for assignment back to OSS?

"Mr. Marzani. I decline to answer that on the basis of the Fifth Amendment and claim the privilege.

"Mr. Morris. Even whether or not you were assigned back or you applied for assignment?

"Mr. Marzani. That is correct.

"Mr. Morris. Who helped you in being reassigned to the OSS?

"Mr. Marzani. I claim the privilege."

The answer can only mean that something criminal took place. Otherwise, what is wrong with being asked to be assigned to OSS and for someone in that organization or in the Army to have helped Marzani? The OSS was an honorable and dangerous assignment. Why do answers concerning it incriminate a person? What is the crime?

Of himself, Marzani says:

". . . I was one of the men responsible for picking the targets for the raid on Tokyo, the Doolittle raid. That came from the Air Force through the Joint Chiefs. It was a regular staff setup. . ."

Senator Johnson, referring to the importance of Marzani's position, asked:

"Do you mean to come before this committee and state you held this responsible position and at the same time you will not say whether or not you were a member of the Communist party at that time?"

Marzani continued to claim the privilege. His reason was: ". . .I have been to jail on a frame-up charge, two and a half years. I spent two and a half years on an indictment which was unconstitutional, and in my opinion the Supreme Court of the United States decided four to four it was unconstitutional, and I went to jail for two and a half years. So I must be the only judge to the best of my knowledge and ability as to whether I could be put into jail again on an indictment which is false and unconstitutional."

Actually Marzani had been jailed on the grounds of perjury in a case involving membership in the Communist party. He was also associated with "America." He is now employed by the United Electrical Workers Union, which was evicted from the CIO for being a Communist union.

The question is, how did Marzani get into the OSS?

The Australian bushmen had not merely been cut off from the other races of men since paleolithic times, so that the Christian era was unknown to them. They were also simple, early Stone Age people, who kept no account of time except to remember the year of the great flood; the year of the bewitchment, when the tribe fell victim to hostile magic; and the year of big bellies, when the grass stood high and the game was fat.

The year 1770 seemed to promise to be a repetition of the year of the big bellies. The tribe, agreeably smeared with kangaroo grease and blood, was happy and at peace in the half shade of a eucalyptus grove. Mothers were rounding up children. Grizzled elders distended with food were beginning to grow dozy. The young warriors were starting to stomp out the rhythm of a dance, in which the giggling girls would later join, as the swift onset of dusk announced the happy privacy of the night.

Then, rounding a headland into Botany Bay, where the lazy swell glistered in the afternoon sun, swam the ship. To the tribe, to be sure, this tall apparition with the canvas bellying under the steady breeze and the cutwater feathering with foam, was not a ship at all. It was a new and fearful magic, threatening who knew what dark dangers to the bushman way of life.

Pick The Scapegoats

As the crew swarmed up the rigging to reef the sails, and the ship hove to, and the great anchor clattered out through the hawsehole, the watching tribe on shore huddled fearfully together. The new magic needed talking over; and the women and children crept back to the tribe's cave among the rocks, while the elders and warriors gathered in formal circle in the hidden glade that served as Senate house.

Two or three of the younger warriors, youthfully skeptical of the tribal magic, dared to suggest that the apparition in the bay was merely a giant canoe. Let the tribe's fighting men gather in ambush by the beach, they said; and if the people of the giant canoe attempted a landing, let the landing be opposed.

But the elders would have nothing to do with such immoral council. Magic was magic, they said. Only magic could defeat magic, they warned. And this new magic, they quite logically argued, called for the highest form of counter measure. Only the driving out of scapegoats could rid the tribe of magically subversive influences. Only the death of scapegoats could give the tribe the supernatural power to overcome its enemies.

The usual council of three retired to the deeper bush, to weave the spells that would reveal who the scapegoats ought to be. On the council's return to the smoky caves where all the tribe now crouched in terrified anticipation, the scapegoats were called forth. The spells seemed to have followed the line of tribal politics — those chosen were one of the young warrior-skeptics who had been making eyes at the chief's pretty wife; Old Pegleg, who could not hunt and was a burden; and Strong - Arm, who was challenging the chief's authority.

Have Only Selves To Fear

But this unusual political astuteness of the spells was always expected. The bull-roarers sounded their terrible note. The scapegoats were seized and bound about the upper body. The whole tribe joined in driving them into the bush with thorn-whips. When they fell and lay bleeding, they were quickly stoned to death. And so the tribe returned to the caves, feeling a bit self-righteous and altogether confident that when dawn came, Botany Bay would once again be empty.

Unfortunately, when dawn came, the ship was still there. Boats were lowered and oars splashed loudly in the silence. The crews, rushing ashore through the surf, shouted in triumph. Some members of the distracted tribe sought to oppose them; but the invaders had magic noise-makers whose bang could kill a man at 50 paces. So the tribe fled, and after a little Captain Cook sailed away again, noting that this was a fertile and great land. Such was the beginning of the end of the bushman way of life.

Like the bushmen, we in America are not used to foreign entanglement. And like the bushmen, a good many Americans now believe that the driving out of scapegoats is the best way to escape from the grave world-predicament in which history has entangled us. Like the bushmen, we hunt our own; and we forget the enemy.

But we are not as the bushmen, in that we in America have nothing to fear but our own weakness and self-delusion. Let us gird ourselves to drive the dangers back, and they will be as nothing. Let us be wise, high-hearted and of good courage, and the leadership of the world will fall on us. This is what we may hope for, if we do not make the bushmen's choice; and this is the moral of the tale.

Farmers Urged To Cull Early Molting Hens

Early molting hens start appearing in laying flocks during hot summer weather. They are poor layers, and should be culled as soon as they are spotted, advises Wade Rice, extension poultryman at the University of Maryland.

Prompt culling and marketing before these birds reach full molt will enable the poultryman to secure better prices for them. It will also keep profits higher by giving him a more efficient flock.

Births Outnumber Deaths 145 To 59

Births outnumbered deaths 145 to 59 here last month, according to a report presented by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city health officer.

Communicable diseases reported totaled 12, including two cases of infectious hepatitis, four measles, three pneumonia and one case of whooping cough.

Sewering, Street Improving Law Is Repealed

A "package" ordinance for sewering and otherwise improving certain streets in the Bedford-Frederick Street area was repealed by the Mayor and Council yesterday and each project will be dealt with in separate statutes.

The ordinance repealed affected the areas on Bedford Street from Miller Avenue to the city limits, an unnamed alley, and Frederick Street from Fectig Avenue to the city limits.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan said that as originally contemplated the city thought it could do all the work under one ordinance. Since then some changes have been made and questions raised about a sewer on Frederick Street installed by the WPA. In view of this, it was thought better to handle each project separately.

The first of these will be the unnamed alley running parallel with Bedford Street. An ordinance providing for notice to property owners was approved today and a hearing will be given at the meeting of the council Monday, July 20. The alley runs from Bopp Addition to Edward Avenue.

Council heard James Alfred Avirett, local attorney, praise the Recreation Department, Fort Cumberland Post 13, American Legion, and all who participated for the fireworks display Saturday night at Constitution Park.

Approved was payment of $4.28 to Herman J. Koegel, 553 Patterson Avenue, for overpayment of water rent and $140 to Ora Monroe Wolfe and Ellen Wolfe as balance of purchase price for a site for the new water tank on Wills Mountain. The tank will increase water pressure in North End.

Odd Fellows, Rebekahs Plan Memorial Service

Colfax Rebekah Lodge and Chapel Hill and Chosen Friends Lodges, IOOF, will conduct joint memorial services today at 8:30 p. m. at the Odd Fellows Temple, South Mechanic Street.

Deceased members of the three lodges will be eulogized at the services. Mrs. Hazel Burke, of Colfax Lodge, will be in charge.

Officers of the Rebekah unit are to wear white dresses and will meet at the temple at 7 p. m.

MARINE TRANSFERRED — Staff Sgt. Carl R. Hilstrom, USMC, a member of the inspector-instructor staff of the Sixth Special Infantry Company here, has received transfer orders to Headquarters Battalion, Headquarters U. S. Marine Corps, Washington, for processing and further transfer to Marine Barracks, Naval Activity at Port Lyautey, French Morocco, effective August 1. Stationed with the local unit since September 4, 1951, he joined the Marines on March 8, 1949 and recently re-enlisted for a period of six years. A native of Chicago, he is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Hilstrom of that city. His duties included Reserve recruiting, public information, non-commissioned officer and radio correspondent.

Decision Due Today In Card Game Case

A decision is expected today in the case of Ray James, who entered a not guilty plea yesterday in Police Court on a charge of maintaining a gaming device at the Sportsman's Club, 125 North Mechanic Street.

Lt. John E. Sherry said he and Officer George Furstenburg found James and two other men playing cards in the second-floor clubroom early yesterday and that money was being exchanged.

James said he and the two others were playing rummy for 25 cents a hand to kill time until one of the men caught a bus. Magistrate J. Milton Dick withheld his decision until today.

Secretary Returns

Miss Helen Gilmore, who was injured recently in an automobile accident, returned to her duties as secretary in the Recreation Department yesterday. Miss Gilmore will be in the office several hours each morning during the week and hopes to resume fulltime duties next week.

Miss Brower Is Bride Of Harold Arthur

PARSONS—Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Brower of Silver City, N. C., are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Agnes, to Harold Arthur, son of Mrs. Kate Mateer Arthur of Washington and formerly of Hambleton, and the late Ray Arthur.

The double-ring ceremony was solemnized in Takoma Park Baptist Church with Rev. Herbert J. Baucuam Jr. officiating.

For her marriage the bride wore a street-length dress of white with white accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Mrs. Arthur was graduated from Coleridge High School, Coleridge, N. C., and from Campbell College, Buies Creek, N. C. in 1952 and has been employed by Air Force Headquarters at the Pentagon.

Arthur was graduated from Parkersburg High School in 1943 and served with the Navy for 2½ years. He was graduated from Strayer College, Washington, in 1948 and is now an accountant with Alexandria Iron Works in Washington, where they will reside.

Couple Wed In Church At Lonaconing

LONACONING — Mr. and Mrs. John Eichhorn, Douglas Avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Anna Louise, to Richard Duckworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Duckworth, Luke.

The double-ring ceremony was performed at First Presbyterian church last Sunday afternoon by Rev. Chalmers H. Goshorn, pastor. The altar was banked with palms, ferns and white glodioli and lighted tapers. A program of nuptial music was played by Miss Ella Jean Love, Lonaconing organist.

William Neff sang "Beacuse," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer," Miss Love played "Tenderly" as the wedding ceremony was performed. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length bouffant gown of Chantilly lace and French illusion over taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodice with low sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was fastened with seed pearl trimming. She carried a nosegay of white rosebuds with an orchid center and white streamers.

Her maid of honor was Miss Louise Cooper. James Duckworth, Washington, was best man. Ushers were Joseph Prado, Westernport, and George A. Eichhorn, Lonaconing, brother of the bride.

A reception for friends and relatives was held at the VFW Home immediately following the ceremony. The bridal table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and bridegroom. Miss Dorothy Jean Johnston, Nikep; Mrs. Jeannette Yates and Mrs. Colleen DiUbaldo, Frostburg; Mrs. Norma Jean Kelly, Norfolk, Va., presided at the refreshment table.

Final Arrangements Are Made For State Poultry Convention

MOOREFIELD — Final arrangements are being made for the annual West Virginia Poultry Association convention which will be held here July 27 through August 1.

Things will actually get underway, when a queen will be selected on Wednesday, July 29. Twenty-two young ladies have entered the contest.

The pageant will be held at the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Mrs. Francis W. Baker will serve as director. The pageant will be in two parts. In the first, contestants will appear in semi-formal evening dress. In the second they will wear bathing suits.

A reception is being planned for the princesses, at the Hotel McNeill.

The annual Poultry Ball will be held on Friday, July 31. This dance will be open to the public. The Kings of Swing, Cumberland Orchestra, will provide music.

The poultry parade will be held Thursday, July 30, instead of Saturday, as originally scheduled. Many South Branch Valley business concerns, bands and fire departments from West Virginia and neighboring states will participate. Five hundred dollars in prizes will be awarded to those being selected as winners in this parade.

Marvin Bean, parade chairman, urges all business firms and organizations in the area to enter a float in the parade.

Another highlight of the festivities will be an open-pit chicken barbeque to be held Thursday, July 30, at 5 p. m. This event will also be open to the public.

The Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company will be in charge of the beauty pageant, the parade and the queen's ball and will also sponsor a carnival during the entire week of July 27.

Hardy county will be represented by Dorothy Lee Leatherman, Beverly Ann Halterman, Karolyn Keith Hood, Willa Dean Arnold, Marianne Deahl, Betty Harman, Mary Bensenhaver, Judy Bensenhaver, Joyce Heishman, and Pattie Tallent.

Utility Firm Asks PSC To Rescind Order Continuing Rate Hearings

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP) — The Consolidated Gas and Electric Company asked the Public Service Commission today to rescind its order granting a six-month continuance of hearings on proposed rate increases for electricity and steam.

The company accused the commission of "an unreasonable exercise of administrative authority" for granting the continuance so that an audit of the company's books could be made at the request of opponents of the rate boosts.

The company said the audit could have been made long ago. It contended that no new issue has been presented in the case for 15 months.

In asking that the order be revoked, counsel for the utility quoted from the company's commission's own order of July 1—the order granting the continuance—that "no new issue had been injected" into the case, as contended by opponents.

Opponents had contended that last May 7 the president of the company injected a new issue—segregated rate base versus a unified rate base.

The company follows the system of unified rate base under which its financial return is computed on the total base rate for the three services, gas, electricity and steam. The PSC has prescribed this system.

Under the segregated system, its return would be computed on the base of each service separately.

Iranian Mission May Be Sent To Moscow

TEHRAN, Iran, July 6 (AP) —Iran may send a mission to Moscow in the near future to discuss differences with the Soviet Union, the anti-government newspaper Dad said today.

Similar speculation has appeared recently in other Tehran papers.

The best information indicates that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov proposed, through Iran's embassy in Moscow, that the two countries get together to discuss various border disputes, some dating back decades.

Chesnut To Rule On Racial Issue

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP)—Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut is scheduled to decide tomorrow whether bathing facilities for Negroes and whites at Sandy Point State Park are now equal.

The state has asked him to lift a temporary injunction which closed the park if he finds facilities the same for both races.

Counsel for the Negro plaintiffs filed a motion today opposing lifting of the injunction on the ground that the South Beach for whites is still superior to the East Beach for Negroes. The plaintiffs said state officials made "inaccurate" statements regarding the equality of the beaches. The East Beach cannot be made equal unless major installations are made, including the construction of jetties, they contended.

The park, the state's only bayside facility, opened July a year ago. It has been closed for several weeks now as a result of Judge Chesnut's order.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

WILLIAM S. HART

William Spencer Hart, 48, of 494 Broad Street, Follansbee, W. Va., and formerly of Cumberland, died June 24 in Gill Memorial Hospital, Steubenville, Ohio, of leukemia.

Judge E. A. See Resumes Bench In Keyser Court

To Reopen Term In Tucker Co. Today

KEYSER—Judge Ernest A. See, who has been inactive in court matters since last December, during which time he underwent two major surgical operations at Harrisonburg, Va., convened the Mineral County Circuit Court Monday for a special term for one day to dispose of a few legal actions here.

Today, he will go to Parsons, where he will convene Tucker County Circuit Court to finish the term, which has been awaiting action, but which Judge Harlan Calhoun has been unable to handle due to pressing matters in his circuit.

Judge Calhoun has been conducting court in Mineral County for the past six months in addition to his regular duties in his own circuit.

Judge See will open the regular July term in Petersburg of the Grant County Circuit Court. With a light docket, Judge See expects to be able to finish the term in a few days.

The grand jury sitting in Circuit Court of Mineral County will open the July term on July 28, and Judge See says he is prepared to conduct the full term this time, the first in six months.

Court Rules Trustees Of Estate Need Not Pay Taxes On Widow's Income From Fund

Associate Judge George Henderson in an opinion handed down in Garrett County Circuit Court, ruled tha the trustees of the estate of Daniel Edward Offutt Sr., were not obligated to pay the federal income tax upon monthly payments received by Mrs. Offutt.

The court did not pass on the obligation of Mrs. Offutt to pay the taxes, ruling that to be a matter [illegible] the federal government to decide.

Judge Henderson's opinion also involved a point in regard to whether or not the payments were being made from the principal of the trust fund, or from interest received from investment of the fund.

Mrs. Offutt had petitioned the court some time ago to determine whether she or the trustees of the Offutt estate are obligated to pay income tax on the amount she received from year to year, and a hearing on the petition was held June 11 at Oakland.

The equity case was entered upon the court docket after the federal government had issued a levy to satisfy a federal claim of $7,142.22, amount of income tax and interest due since August, 1943, on an amount of about $47,000 which had been paid to Mrs. Offutt through the trustees. The trustees since February have not made the usual monthly payment, as a result of the levy.

The petitioner alleges and the trustees deny that $5,000 is payable annually out of the principal, being in the nature of an annuity, according to the opinion given by Judge Henderson, and he recalled in his opinion some of the history of the case that goes back to 1928.

Portions of the opinion given by Judge Henderson contain the following:

Prior to marriage a pre-nuptial settlement agreement entered into the matter, dated December 27, 1928. After the marriage difficultie. occurred and in the midst of a divorce suit Daniel E. Offutt, Sr., died. Not long before his death he had made a will in which he referred to the pre-nuptial agreement and confirmed it but made no other provision for his wife. The bulk of the estate was put in trust for the son, Daniel E. The widow, Mrs. Karin Offutt, filed a renunciation under the will and filed an equity proceeding to set aside the pre-nuptial agreement and to have awarded to her the one-third interest in her husband's estate to which a widow is entitled under the law of Maryland.

At a hearing it was stipulated the net estate was approximately $400,000, with her claim of one-third being $133,333.

Under a settlement agreement, she was given outright household furniture appraised at $3,000, and $12,500 in cash. The remainder, it was thought best to provide that she should have an assured annual amount for life, rather than a lump sum.

The clause in the pre-nuptial agreement was modified to read that she receive $5,000 within a year and every year thereafter during her life the sum of $416.67 monthly. In case she remarried the sum was to be reduced to $2,500 or $208.33 per month.

There was a new paragraph in the new agreement as to taxes which declared "The parties of the first and second parts agree that payments to be made to the party of the third part under said ante-nuptial agreement as now ratified and confirmed by party of the third part shall be made without deduction for any state or federal inheritance or succession taxes and agrees to pay, indemnif, and protest said party of the third part from the payment of the same."

The judge stated here "It will be noted there is no provision regarding federal or state income taxes. Therefore it would seem that the trustees should pay on the income of the trust estate the proper federal and state income taxes and that Mrs. Offutt should make such report to the same authorities and pay such tax as should properly be due on the $5,000 she receives. All I can decide here is that the trustees are under no duty to her under the new settlement agreement to pay income taxes either federal or state on the $5,000 which she gets from them annually."

In this vein the judge said he must decide that the $5,000 payment is in the nature of an annuity, chargeable against the whole trust estate, and payable from the principal, at least if necessary in order to give her the full amount to which she is entitled.

He declared it seemed proper to authorize counsel for the trustees and counsel for Mrs. Offutt to confer immediately with federal and state income tax officials in order to reach an understanding as to how income taxes should be paid in the future, and what can be done about the assessment imposed on Mrs. Offutt for past due taxes.

Couple Wed In Church At Lonaconing

LONACONING — Mr. and Mrs. John Eichhorn, Douglas Avenue, announce the marriage of their daughter, Anna Louise, to Richard Duckworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Duckworth, Luke.

The double-ring ceremony was performed at First Presbyterian church last Sunday afternoon by Rev. Chalmers H. Goshorn, pastor. The altar was banked with palms, ferns and white glodioli and lighted tapers. A program of nuptial music was played by Miss Ella Jean Love, Lonaconing organist.

William Neff sang "Beacuse," "I Love You Truly," and "The Lord's Prayer," Miss Love played "Tenderly" as the wedding ceremony was performed. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a floor-length bouffant gown of Chantilly lace and French illusion over taffeta, fashioned with fitted bodice with low sweetheart neckline. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was fastened with seed pearl trimming. She carried a nosegay of white rosebuds with an orchid center and white streamers.

Her maid of honor was Miss Louise Cooper. James Duckworth, Washington, was best man. Ushers were Joseph Prado, Westernport, and George A. Eichhorn, Lonaconing, brother of the bride.

A reception for friends and relatives was held at the VFW Home immediately following the ceremony. The bridal table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake, topped with miniature bride and bridegroom. Miss Dorothy Jean Johnston, Nikep; Mrs. Jeannette Yates and Mrs. Colleen DiUbaldo, Frostburg; Mrs. Norma Jean Kelly, Norfolk, Va., presided at the refreshment table.

The bride is a graduate of Central High School, class of 1949, and attended Catherman's Business College. She was employed at the Potomac Edison office, Lonaconing. The bridegroom graduated from Bruce High School in 1942, served 38 months in the Navy and is employed at the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, Luke.

After a wedding trip to New York and Canada, the couple will reside at Luke.

Final Arrangements Are Made For State Poultry Convention

MOOREFIELD — Final arrangements are being made for the annual West Virginia Poultry Association convention which will be held here July 27 through August 1.

Things will actually get underway, when a queen will be selected on Wednesday, July 29. Twenty-two young ladies have entered the contest.

The pageant will be held at the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Mrs. Francis W. Baker will serve as director. The pageant will be in two parts. In the first, contestants will appear in semi-formal evening dress. In the second they will wear bathing suits.

A reception is being planned for the princesses, at the Hotel McNeill.

The annual Poultry Ball will be held on Friday, July 31. This dance will be open to the public. The Kings of Swing, Cumberland Orchestra, will provide music.

The poultry parade will be held Thursday, July 30, instead of Saturday, as originally scheduled. Many South Branch Valley business concerns, bands and fire departments from West Virginia and neighboring states will participate. Five hundred dollars in prizes will be awarded to those being selected as winners in this parade.

Marvin Bean, parade chairman, urges all business firms and organizations in the area to enter a float in the parade.

Another highlight of the festivities will be an open-pit chicken barbeque to be held Thursday, July 30, at 5 p. m. This event will also be open to the public.

The Moorefield Volunteer Fire Company will be in charge of the beauty pageant, the parade and the queen's ball and will also sponsor a carnival during the entire week of July 27.

Hardy county will be represented by Dorothy Lee Leatherman, Beverly Ann Halterman, Karolyn Keith Hood, Willa Dean Arnold, Marianne Deahl, Betty Harman, Mary Bensennaver, Judy Bensenhaver, Joyce Heishman, and Pattie Tallent.

Utility Firm Asks PSC To Rescind Order Continuing Rate Hearings

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP) — The Consolidated Gas and Electric Company asked the Public Service Commission today to rescind its order granting a six-month continuance of hearings on proposed rate increases for electricity and steam.

The company accused the commission of "an unreasonable exercise of administrative authority" for granting the continuance so that an audit of the company's books could be made at the request of opponents of the rate boosts.

The company said the audit could have been made long ago. It contended that no new issue has been presented in the case for 15 months.

In asking that the order be revoked, counsel for the utility quoted from the company's commission's own order of July 1—the order granting the continuance—that "no new issue had been injected" into the case, as contended by opponents.

Opponents had contended that last May 7 the president of the company injected a new issue—segregated rate base versus a unified rate base.

The company follows the system of unified rate base under which its financial return is computed on the total base rate for the three services, gas, electricity and steam. The PSC has prescribed this system.

Under the segregated system, its return would be computed on the base of each service separately.

Iranian Mission May Be Sent To Moscow

TEHRAN, Iran, July 6 (AP) —Iran may send a mission to Moscow in the near future to discuss differences with the Soviet Union, the anti-government newspaper Dad said today.

Similar speculation has appeared recently in other Tehran papers.

The best information indicates that Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov proposed, through Iran's embassy in Moscow, that the two countries get together to discuss various border disputes, some dating back decades.

Chesnut To Rule On Racial Issue

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP)—Federal Judge W. Calvin Chesnut is scheduled to decide tomorrow whether bathing facilities for Negroes and whites at Sandy Point State Park are now equal.

The state has asked him to lift a temporary injunction which closed the park if he finds facilities the same for both races.

Counsel for the Negro plaintiffs filed a motion today opposing lifting of the injunction on the ground that the South Beach for whites is still superior to the East Beach for Negroes. The plaintiffs said state officials made "inaccurate" statements regarding the equality of the beaches. The East Beach cannot be made equal unless major installations are made, including the construction of jetties, they contended.

The park, the state's only bayside facility, opened July a year ago. It has been closed for several weeks now as a result of Judge Chesnut's order.

DEATHS and FUNERALS

WILLIAM S. HART

William Spencer Hart, 48, of 494 Broad Street, Follansbee, W. Va., and formerly of Cumberland, died June 24 in Gill Memorial Hospital, Steubenville, Ohio, of leukemia.

Judge E. A. See Resumes Bench In Keyser Court

To Reopen Term In Tucker Co. Today

KEYSER—Judge Ernest A. See, who has been inactive in court matters since last December, during which time he underwent two major surgical operations at Harrisonburg, Va., convened the Mineral County Circuit Court Monday for a special term for one day to dispose of a few legal actions here.

Today, he will go to Parsons, where he will convene Tucker County Circuit Court to finish the term, which has been awaiting action, but which Judge Harlan Calhoun has been unable to handle due to pressing matters in his circuit.

Judge Calhoun has been conducting court in Mineral County for the past six months in addition to his regular duties in his own circuit.

Judge See will open the regular July term in Petersburg of the Grant County Circuit Court. With a light docket, Judge See expects to be able to finish the term in a few days.

The grand jury sitting in Circuit Court of Mineral County will open the July term on July 28, and Judge See says he is prepared to conduct the full term this time, the first in six months.

Court Rules Trustees Of Estate Need Not Pay Taxes On Widow's Income From Fund

Associate Judge George Henderson in an opinion handed down in Garrett County Circuit Court, ruled tha the trustees of the estate of Daniel Edward Offutt Sr., were not obligated to pay the federal income tax upon monthly payments received by Mrs. Offutt.

The court did not pass on the obligation of Mrs. Offutt to pay the taxes, ruling that to be a matter r the federal government to decide.

Judge Henderson's opinion also involved a point in regard to whether or not the payments were being made from the principal of the trust fund, or from interest received from investment of the fund.

Mrs. Offutt had petitioned the court some time ago to determine whether she or the trustees of the Offutt estate are obligated to pay income tax on the amount she received from year to year, and a hearing on the petition was held June 11 at Oakland.

The equity case was entered upon the court docket after the federal government had issued a levy to satisfy a federal claim of $7,142.22, amount of income tax and interest due since August, 1943, on an amount of about $47,000 which had been paid to Mrs. Offutt through the trustees. The trustees since February have not made the usual monthly payment, as a result of the levy.

The petitioner alleges and the trustees deny that $5,000 is payable annually out of the principal, being in the nature of an annuity, according to the opinion given by Judge Henderson, and he recalled in his opinion some of the history of the case that goes back to 1928.

Portions of the opinion given by Judge Henderson contain the following:

Prior to marriage a pre-nuptial settlement agreement entered into the matter, dated December 27, 1928. After the marriage difficulties occurred and in the midst of a divorce suit Daniel E. Offutt, Sr., died. Not long before his death he had made a will in which he referred to the pre-nuptial agreement and confirmed it but made no other provision for his wife. The bulk of the estate was put in trust for the son, Daniel E. The widow, Mrs. Karin Offutt, filed a renunciation under the will and filed an equity proceeding to set aside the pre-nuptial agreement and to have awarded to her the one-third interest in her husband's estate to which a widow is entitled under the law of Maryland.

At a hearing it was stipulated the net estate was approximately $400,000, with her claim of one-third being $133,333.

Under a settlement agreement, she was given outright household furniture appraised at $3,000, and $12,500 in cash. The remainder, it was thought best to provide that she should have an assured annual amount for life, rather than a lump sum.

The clause in the pre-nuptial agreement was modified to read that she receive $5,000 within a year and every year thereafter during her life the sum of $416.67 monthly. In case she remarried the sum was to be reduced to $2,500 or $208.33 per month.

There was a new paragraph in the new agreement as to taxes which declared "The parties of the first and second parts agree that payments to be made to the party of the third part under said ante-nuptial agreement as now ratified and confirmed by party of the third part shall be made without deduction for any state or federal inheritance or succession taxes and agrees to pay, indemnify and protest said party of the third part from the payment of the same."

The judge stated here "It will be noted there is no provision regarding federal or state income taxes. Therefore it would seem that the trustees should pay on the income of the trust estate the proper federal and state income taxes and that Mrs. Offutt should make such report to the same authorities and pay such tax as should properly be due on the $5,000 she receives. All I can decide here is that the trustees are under no duty to her under the new settlement agreement to pay income taxes either federal or state on the $5,000 which she gets from them annually."

In this vein the judge said he must decide that the $5,000 payment is in the nature of an annuity, chargeable against the whole trust estate, and payable from the principal, at least if necessary in order to give her the full amount to which she is entitled.

He declared it seemed proper to authorize counsel for the trustees and counsel for Mrs. Offutt to confer immediately with federal and state income tax officials in order to reach an understanding as to how income taxes should be paid in the future, and what can be done about the assessment imposed on Mrs. Offutt for past due taxes.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Your government has just ended another year of spending more money than it took in — the deficit was a whopping nine billion dollars.

During 20 of the last 23 years the national government's expenditures have exceeded revenues. Beginning in 1931 when the deficit was just a half billion the debt has increased year by year, until the total deficit adds up to over $250 billion.

The Eisenhower administration is doing everything it can to get the federal budget back in line—and it is not an easy job.

The problem of ending the annual deficit is one to which no one has a clear and simple solution. The taxpayers are paying more taxes than ever before, but government spending has increased just as rapidly and the gap between what is paid in and what is paid out has continued to widen.

For the fiscal year which began last week the administration estimates that we will have a deficit — this time only a little over five billion — and they have set their sights for a balanced budget in 1955.

The three things which contribute most to the Treasury's use of red ink are defense spending, foreign aid, and farm price supports — three places where it is extremely difficult to stop federal spending.

The Senate action to end the Mutual Security program on June 30, 1955, would help some in making ends meet, and the five billion dollars appropriated for next year could be just the difference between a balanced and an unbalanced budget.

The administration is faced with the problem of either balancing the budget or requesting Congress to increase the legal limit of the federal debt—now set at $275 billion.

That is a request which the economy - minded administration would be most hesitant to make—and a request that I am confident Congress would be very reluctant to grant.

One way the administration might avoid using red ink at the end of each year is to revise its bookkeeping system. The present system is to include all government expenditures — capital and current—together. No business, and no state governments that I know of, operates this way. Included along with current expenditures are such things as buildings constructed, public improvements, loans, etc.—items that in a business would be considered capital improvements, not to be wholly charged to one fiscal year.

Revisions of the accounting system can put the budget in a more favorable light, but the only way to balance it is to spend no more than it received in taxes. To that end the administration is committed and perhaps by the 1955 fiscal year the Treasury can start using black ink again.

His Nights Cool, Not So Neighbors

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—When Sam Arkow turns on his bedroom air conditioner for a cool night's sleep, the Gershberg family spends a hot and sleepless night, Mrs. Esther Gershberg told a Brooklyn court today.

"It is a sleep-robber, that machine," said Mrs. Gershberg of Arkow's air conditioner. "And," she added, "not his sleep, either, but mine.

"It is a three-quarter-ton job and it sticks out his window which is right opposite my bedroom window with very little space between our buildings. And all night long it goes 'R-R-R-R-R-R-R-R-R, R-R-R-R-R' until I am almost crazy.

"With such noise I cannot sleep unless I close my window and if I close my window, me and my husband, Irving, and the kids have no ventilation and we cannot sleep because it is so hot.

"Mr. Arkow is cool but we are dying."

Magistrate Albert D. Schanzer told Mrs. Gershberg to file a complaint under the administrative code, then put the matter over for trial July 16.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A man is just like a woman in one way: He wants to be liked. Great or small, famous or unknown, each of us has that basic need and desire.

That is why having an out-giving nature is sure to put you ahead in the race for whatever it is you may be after. In your everyday manner, if you give others the feeling that you like them, you immediately have an advantage. A simple thing like a heart-warming hello can give you a hold on the other person's heart. But if you greet people in a cool, imperious, stiff-arming fashion you make it easy for the other person to turn you and your interests aside.

Of Little Faith

You may say that your shyness or fear of another's rebuff is what governs your cool manner in meeting others. Examine your feeling a little more closely and determine whether it isn't merely a distrust. If that is the case, is your distrust firmly founded?

In that connection, I'd like to tell you about a conversation I had with the chairman of the board of one of America's large businesses. This company operates in most of the states of this country. A salesman knocks on the door of a prospective customer and places a premium — worth several dollars — in the customer's hand. She can have it and use it immediately; all she need do is buy an agreed amount of her groceries from the company in the future. The company advances the premium to her.

"Don't you worry about the money you have in these 'advanced' premiums," I asked. "In a company as large as yours that totals up to a tremendous investment. You are giving credit to thousands and thousands indiscriminately — with no guarantee that they will ever complete the purchases necessary to pay for the premiums."

Count On Others

The famous business executive smiled. "Our company is founded on the belief in the honesty of people," he said. "It has grown great on that belief. Our losses in trusting the people are so small that they can be disregarded all through the many years that we have been in operation."

So don't you think you can trust others too? Invest a little more of yourself in your contacts. Be friendly. Be warm and outgiving with your nature and personality. The rewards you will reap in return will help you to grow and become as great a person as you may wish to be.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

17 Trucking Firms Pay Overloading Fines

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP) — The State Roads Commission said today 17 more trucking firms have been fined for overloading vehicles weighed on Maryland highways.

Since July 1, 1952, the State has netted nearly $120,000 in fines from more than one thousand firms.

Among the overweight fines recorded during the week of June 14-20 by the SRC were three totaling $176.35 against a firm owned by Robert S. Altenburg of Beltsville. They brought his convictions in the past year to five.

The heaviest fine paid during the week was $361.45 by James F. Black of Baltimore, his seventh in a year.

A firm owned by Leon Johnson of Washington paid a fine of $337.45, its first.

Mower Shoots Owner

Doctor's Wife Hurt In Auto Accident

FREDERICK, July 6 (AP) — Mrs. T. B. Ambler, wife of an Easton, Md. physician, was hospitalized with serious injuries today after her car plunged over a 15-foot embankment on U. S. 40, four miles east of here.

Her husband, riding in the car she was driving, suffered minor lacerations but was not hospitalized.

Mrs. Ambler—thrown from the automobile—was reported suffering from shock, loss of blood and crushed ribs.

Trooper J. A. Rouzee said she was trying to pass a truck when the car skidded on wet pavement.

Hospital spokesmen said she had a rare type of blood, and a radio bulletin was broadcast for donors. Six pints were offered within 20 minutes, they added, with donors coming from as far away as Gaithersburg, between here and Washington.

Negro, 86, Jailed On Numbers Charge

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP)—"If I'm doing anything wrong make 'em 'rest me, but there ain't nobody on the topside of the green earth can say I wrote numbers," an 86-year-old Negro told the judge in Circuit Court today.

Judge E. Paul Masson sentenced Robert McKeever to four months in jail and fined him $1,000 after Prosecutor M. Peter Moser said police discovered the elderly defendant had written 12 cents worth of numbers play last June 22.

It was his third offense in three years, Moser said.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

Your government has just ended another year of spending more money than it took in — the deficit was a whopping nine billion dollars.

During 20 of the last 23 years the national government's expenditures have exceeded revenues. Beginning in 1931 when the deficit was just a half billion the debt has increased year by year, until the total deficit adds up to over $250 billion.

The Eisenhower administration is doing everything it can to get the federal budget back in line—and it is not an easy job.

The problem of ending the annual deficit is one to which no one has a clear and simple solution. The taxpayers are paying more taxes than ever before, but government spending has increased just as rapidly and the gap between what is paid in and what is paid out has continued to widen.

For the fiscal year which began last week the administration estimates that we will have a deficit — this time only a little over five billion — and they have set their sights for a balanced budget in 1955.

The three things which contribute most to the Treasury's use of red ink are defense spending, foreign aid, and farm price supports — three places where it is extremely difficult to stop federal spending.

The Senate action to end the Mutual Security program on June 30, 1955, would help some in making ends meet, and the five billion dollars appropriated for next year could be just the difference between a balanced and an unbalanced budget.

The administration is faced with the problem of either balancing the budget or requesting Congress to increase the legal limit of the federal debt—now set at $275 billion.

That is a request which the economy - minded administration would be most hesitant to make—and a request that I am confident Congress would be very reluctant to grant.

One way the administration might avoid using red ink at the end of each year is to revise its bookkeeping system. The present system is to include all government expenditures — capital and current—together. No business, and no state governments that I know of, operates this way. Included along with current expenditures are such things as buildings constructed, public improvements, loans, etc.—items that in a business would be considered capital improvements, not to be wholly charged to one fiscal year.

Revisions of the accounting system can put the budget in a more favorable light, but the only way to balance it is to spend no more than it received in taxes. To that end the administration is committed and perhaps by the 1955 fiscal year the Treasury can start using black ink again.

His Nights Cool, Not So Neighbors

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—When Sam Arkow turns on his bedroom air conditioner for a cool night's sleep, the Gershberg family spends a hot and sleepless night, Mrs. Esther Gershberg told a Brooklyn court today.

"It is a sleep-robber, that machine," said Mrs. Gershberg of Arkow's air conditioner. "And," she added, "not his sleep, either, but mine.

"It is a three-quarter-ton job and it sticks out his window which is right opposite my bedroom window with very little space between our buildings. And all night long it goes 'R-R-R-R-R-R-R-R-R, R-R-R-R-R' until I am almost crazy.

"With such noise I cannot sleep unless I close my window and if I close my window, me and my husband, Irving, and the kids have no ventilation and we cannot sleep because it is so hot.

"Mr. Arkow is cool but we are dying."

Magistrate Albert D. Schanzer told Mrs. Gershberg to file a complaint under the administrative code, then put the matter over for trial July 16.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

A man is just like a woman in one way: He wants to be liked. Great or small, famous or unknown, each of us has that basic need and desire.

That is why having an out-giving nature is sure to put you ahead in the race for whatever it is you may be after. In your everyday manner, if you give others the feeling that you like them, you immediately have an advantage. A simple thing like a heart-warming hello can give you a hold on the other person's heart. But if you greet people in a cool, imperious, stiff-arming fashion you make it easy for the other person to turn you and your interests aside.

Of Little Faith

You may say that your shyness or fear of another's rebuff is what governs your cool manner in meeting others. Examine your feeling a little more closely and determine whether it isn't merely a distrust. If that is the case, is your distrust firmly founded?

In that connection, I'd like to tell you about a conversation I had with the chairman of the board of one of America's large businesses. This company operates in most of the states of this country. A salesman knocks on the door of a prospective customer and places a premium — worth several dollars — in the customer's hand. She can have it and use it immediately; all she need do is buy an agreed amount of her groceries from the company in the future. The company advances the premium to her.

"Don't you worry about the money you have in these 'advanced' premiums," I asked. "In a company as large as yours that totals up to a tremendous investment. You are giving credit to thousands and thousands indiscriminately — with no guarantee that they will ever complete the purchases necessary to pay for the premiums."

Count On Others

The famous business executive smiled. "Our company is founded on the belief in the honesty of people," he said. "It has grown great on that belief. Our losses in trusting the people are so small that they can be disregarded all through the many years that we have been in operation."

So don't you think you can trust others too? Invest a little more of yourself in your contacts. Be friendly. Be warm and outgiving with your nature and personality. The rewards you will reap in return will help you to grow and become as great a person as you may wish to be.

YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading the new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. ## 17 Trucking Firms Pay Overloading Fines

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP) — The State Roads Commission said today 17 more trucking firms have been fined for overloading vehicles weighed on Maryland highways.

Since July 1, 1952, the State has netted nearly $120,000 in fines from more than one thousand firms.

Among the overweight fines recorded during the week of June 14-20 by the SRC were three totaling $176.35 against a firm owned by Robert S. Altenburg of Beltsville. They brought his convictions in the past year to five.

The heaviest fine paid during the week was $361.45 by James F. Black of Baltimore, his seventh in a year.

A firm owned by Leon Johnson of Washington paid a fine of $337.45, its first.

Doctor's Wife Hurt In Auto Accident

FREDERICK, July 6 (AP) — Mrs. T. B. Ambler, wife of an Easton, Md. physician, was hospitalized with serious injuries today after her car plunged over a 15-foot embankment on U. S. 40, four miles east of here.

Her husband, riding in the car she was driving, suffered minor lacerations but was not hospitalized.

Mrs. Ambler—thrown from the automobile—was reported suffering from shock, loss of blood and crushed ribs.

Trooper J. A. Rouzee said she was trying to pass a truck when the car skidded on wet pavement.

Hospital spokesmen said she had a rare type of blood, and a radio bulletin was broadcast for donors. Six pints were offered within 20 minutes, they added, with donors coming from as far away as Gaithersburg, between here and Washington.

Negro, 86, Jailed On Numbers Charge

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP)—"If I'm doing anything wrong make 'em 'rest me, but there ain't nobody on the topside of the green earth can say I wrote numbers," an 86-year-old Negro told the judge in Circuit Court today.

Judge E. Paul Masson sentenced Robert McKeever to four months in jail and fined him $1,000 after Prosecutor M. Peter Moser said police discovered the elderly defendant had written 12 cents worth of numbers play last June 22.

It was his third offense in three years, Moser said.

Casey Stengel Names A. L. Pitchers For All-Star Game

Six Twirlers Selected For July 14 Tilt

Boudreau And Turner Coaches And 11 Others Are Added To Squad

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon of Cleveland. . . Allie Reynolds and Johnny Sain of New York. . . Satchel Paige of St. Louis. . . Billy Pierce of Chicago.

Those are Casey Stengel's pitching selections, announced today, for the annual All-Star baseball game in Cincinnati July 14.

Stengel is the American League manager by virtue of his position as pilot of the defending pennant winners, the New York Yankees.

He also released through American League headquarters today supporting players for the starting lineup chosen by fans in the countrywide poll.

Fans Picked Eight

The Brooklyn Dodgers' manager, Charley Dressen, will announce tomorrow his National League pitching choices and supporting players for the fans' lineup.

Stengel Adds Players

Rounding out his 25-man squad for the All-Star game, Stengel named the following players to back the starting eight men who must play a minimum of three innings;

Infielders—Ferris Fain, Chicago; Nelson Fox, Chicago; Bill Hunter, St. Louis; George Kell, Boston; Harvey Kuenn, Detroit; Johnny Mize, New York; Phil Rizzuto, New York, Eddie Robinson, Philadelphia.

Outfielders—Larry Doby, Cleveland; Minnie Minoso, Chicago.

Catcher—Sam White, Boston.

In addition, Stengel chose Lou Boudreau, Boston Red Sox manager, and the Yankees' Jim Turner as coaches.

Stengel didn't indicate which of his six pitching choices would start the game.

Mike Garcia Beats Chicago Sox, 6-3

CLEVELAND, July 6 (AP)—Mike Garcia pitched the Cleveland Indians back into second place in the American League tonight by beating the Chicago White Sox, 6-3, on a six-hitter that was his 10th victory against five losses. Homers by Al Rosen and Larry Doby and three hits by Dale Mitchell, who has a 16-game hitting streak going, paced the 13-hit Tribe attack.

Rosen's homer in the fourth for the first Cleveland run was his 21st, seven of which have been hit in the last 13 games. Larry Doby clouted his 16th for the Tribe in the sixth. Both blows were off Saul Rogovin, the loser.

Rightfielder Harry Simpson and second baseman Bob Avila of Cleveland were hurt in the seventh inning when they collided chasing Sam Mele's triple along the right field line. Simpson was carried off the field on a stretcher.

Torzo Meets Walt Burkemo In PGA Final

Harmon, Isaacs Lose Semi-Final Contests

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., July 6 (AP)—A pair of tenacious young battlers of the links—pug-nosed Walter Burkemo, who doesn't know when he's beaten, and vest-pocket Felice Torza, an original 100-1 shot, rang up last ditch semifinal victories today, and they'll play for the 35th PGA Golf Championship.

Burkemo, the pride of Franklin, Mich., fought from behind three times to eliminate Claude Harmon, of Mamaroneck, N.Y., one up.

He sank a 15-foot birdie putt on the final hole after Harmon, gambling boldly, had hit his second shot into the creek fronting the green and then was forced to take a penalty stroke.

Torza Defeats Isaacs

Torza—dubbed the "Toy Tiger" because of his frail 135-pound frame and flaming spirit—outlasted a magnificent comeback by 45-year-old Jack Isaacs of Langley Air Base, Virginia, to win an overtime struggle on the 39th hole.

On the par three 175-yard third extra hole, Isaacs drove deep into the rough to the right and chipped short, the ball rolling back an inch from the trap. Torza nailed his tee shot 13 feet from the pin for his winning par.

Play 36 Holes Today

This pair of comparative youngsters as the top pros go—Torza is 33 and Burkemo is 34—play 36-holes tomorrow, starting at 10 a. m. for professional golf's top prize, $5,000 in cash and an automatic berth on the U. S. Ryder Cup team.

A partisan gallery of 7,000 tramped over the 6,465-yard par 71 Birmingham Country Club course to watch their pinup boy, Burkemo, stage a great comeback.

Torza, a New Englander who now is employed at St. Charles, Ill., took the lead at the first hole and held on tenaciously although he saw the game Isaacs wipe out a four-hole lead on the final nine of the afternoon.

The 37th hole, the first extra one was halved in birdies and the second, a par four, in pars.

Hal's Play Scores In Ohio, One Finger Chas. Town Winner

Hal's Play, 6-year-old mare, owned by Louis Waingold, Braddock Road, and trained by Johnny Tammaro, former jockey of Baltimore, won the opening race at Cranwood Park, Ohio, yesterday and returned $7.60, $4.40 and $3.20. E. Coffman rode the Cumberland-owned mare. The win was worth $715 of the $1,100 purse.

Waingold's Frigate won at the same track Saturday and earned a $715 purse.

Hal's Play, coupled with Yukon Lady, winner of the second, paid a daily double of $46.20.

One Finger, whose co-owners are Mrs. Howell of Cumberland and J. G. "Huppy" Davis, won the second race at Charles Town, W. Va., yesterday and paid $4.40, $2.60 and $2.40. Eugene Dosher was aboard the winner.

The daily double combination of Dividandy and One Finger returned $16.20.

Dodgers Crush Pirates, 14-2

PITTSBURGH, July 6 (AP) — Gil Hodges, Carl Furillo and Billy Cox smashed home runs as the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers slaughtered the Pittsburgh Pirates 14-2 tonight.

The Dodgers tied a National League record of hitting at least one home run in 19 straight games. The victory moved the Dodgers two full games ahead of theidle Milwaukee Braves.

Hodges blasted his 15th homer of the campaign off Starter Paul LaPalme with Jackie Robinson aboard in the fourth inning. Furillo smashed a bases empty round-tripper in the sixth and Cox cracked a three-run homer in the eighth.

Yankees Defeat Athletics, 10-5

PHILADELPHIA, July 6—(INS)—A tremendous grand-slam home run by Mickey Mantle in the sixth inning brought the league-leading New York Yankees a 10-to-5 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics tonight in the first part of a twi-night doubleheader.

Home runs by Billy Martin and Phil Rizzuto had highlighted a five-run rally by the Yankees in the fourth, but the A's whittled down the lead to 5-4 with two runs in the fifth.

Johnny Sain went the distance for the Yanks and allowed eleven hits, including Gus Zernial's 19th homer. Sain won his eighth game.

Dapper Red Sox Win, Tighten Grip On Lead

Scoring eleven runs in the last two innings, Manager Jimmy Wilson's Red Sox defeated the Cardinals last night at Penn Avenue Field, 11-4, and tightened their grip on first place in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan League.

Donald "Doc" Richards, Red Sox hurler, yielded three hits and struck out eight. Two of the blows were obtained by Henry.

Jimmy O'Neal with two doubles and a single to his credit drove in four of the Sox runs while "Whitey" Slonaker contributed a bases loaded triple and Rice and Richards had two hits each.

Jimmy Hampson, Sox centerfielder, turned in three nice catches. Score:

Central Lunch Blanks Maids

Heavener's Homer Features 3-0 Win

Central Quick Lunch took over the leadership of the Queens Softball League yesterday by shutting out the East Side Maids at Allegany Field by the score of 3-0 behind the five-hit pitching of Rosalie Bowers.

Dot Heavener's circuit wallop with a teammate aboard decided the contest in the first inning. Central added another tally in the fifth inning.

Heavener got a single in addition to her four-bagger, Elsie McKee garnered a pair of one base knocks and Eileen Hite slammed a triple.

Central's infield trio of McKee, Joann Dickel and Jean Hale executed two double plays.

The victory gave Central a 9-1 record and broke the deadlock between the teams for first place. Score:

R. C. Games Called Off Due To Death Of George Weaver

President Peter Carpenti of the Rocking Chair Softball League last night announced that the three league games scheduled today have been postponed out of respect to George Weaver, former league player, who died yesterday.

Weaver, a third baseman, was one of the most popular players in the league and played with championship teams fielded by the Fraternal Order of Eagles and Amvets. He was regular third sacker of Trozzo's Whirlwinds, city champions, about 15 years ago.

Giants' Rookie Blanks Phillies

Worthington Tosses 2-Hitter, Wins 6-0

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—Rookie righthander Allan Worthington made a brilliant major league debut today, pitching a two-hit shutout as the New York Giants defeated Philadelphia, 6-0, to ruin Phillies' Manager Steve O'Neill's 62nd birthday.

Two-out doubles by Forrest Burgess in the fifth inning and Johnny Wyrostek in the ninth spoiled Worthington's bid for a no-hitter.

Worthington, purchased from Nashville last winter and recalled from Minneapolis last Friday, turned in a masterful exhibition, striking out six batters and walking four, one intentionally.

Imes Tosses No-Hit Game For Tigers In Dapper Dan Circuit

Charles "Chazz" Imes tossed a no-hitter yesterday as the Tigers trounced the Senators at East Side Field by the score of 12-2 and tied the Indians for first place in the Dan Division of the Dapper Dan Baseball League.

Imes struck out ten and notched his fourth victory of the season. The Tigers and Indians are now deadlocked for the league leadership with 5-1 records.

Teddy McGraw led the Tigers' 13-hit assault with a homer and two singles in four trips. Jimmy Kline belted a round-tripper and three-bagger and Imes and "Whitey" may also hit for the circuit. Score:

Plans for the club's annual picnic will be made at this meeting.

Six-Hit Players

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Only once in American League history have two players made six hits or more each in one game. On July 10, 1932, in an 18-inning contest, Jimmy Foxx of the Athletics banged out six hits in nine trips to the plate. Johnny Burnett of the Indians got nine hits in 11 times. Philadelphia won the game, 18-17.

Farrady Tossers Host Cumberland In Legion League

Fort Cumberland Puts 4-0 Record On Line

Farrady Post No. 24, Frostburg having squared accounts with Midland, will be out to avenge a 6-0 defeat at the hands of Fort Cumberland Post when the teams tangle today in a Mountain District, American Legion Junior Baseball League contest at Beall High School Field, Frostburg, at 5:30 o'clock.

Cumberland puts a 4-0 record on the line in this game while the Mountain City nine owns a 2-2 record. Fort Cumberland beat Grantsville twice and Midland and Frostburg each once.

Frostburg dropped a 13-12 decision to Midland and then evened things up by whipping the defending champions, 11-3.

Lloyd or Blank will be on the firing line for Farrady Post today while Cumberland's starter will be chosen from Bobby Dawson or Harry Iser.

Gardnar Mulloy Blasts British

U. S. Tennis Player To Sue Newspapers

MIAMI, Fla., July 6 (AP)—Gardnar Mulloy, No. 1, U. S. tennis player, said today the British "talk about sportsmanship until they believe it themselves, but don't practice what they preach."

"All one hears over here is what great sportsmen the British are," Mulloy said in a by-lined article sent to the Miami Daily News from London.

"Well, I've got news for you; the English are no better sports than the spectators in other countries, and, in my opinion, worse than some. I've seen them all."

Mulloy reported that he was "suing several English newspapers for defamation of character, slander and libel" in connection with their coverage of his defeat in the Queen's Club Championships June 18.

Mulloy threw a racquet after he was defeated by George Worthington, a New Zealander. He said the press "alleged that I threw my press "alleged that I threw my racquet at a linesman" and added that such a statement "couldn't be further from the truth."

Locke Shoots Record 65 In British Open Tourney

Ben Hogan Posts 70 In Qualifying Round

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, July 6 (AP)—Bobby Locke, Ben Hogan and Scotsman John Panton were the big show today in the opening qualifying round of the British Open Golf Tournament over two wind-swept Carnoustie courses.

Locke, the defending champion from South Africa, set a course record at Burnside, with a 65, where Hogan fired a 70—one under the unofficial par.

On the tougher championship course, Panton came in late in the day with a 35-34—69, best ever recorded in official competition at Carnoustie.

Twenty years ago Horton Smith of Chicago, now president of the U. S. Professional Golfers Association, got a 69 in a qualifying round for the British Open, but the course has been refurbished and is longer and tougher now.

Championship course is 7,200 yards with an unofficial par 72, while Burnside is 6,398 yards with an unofficial par 71. Due to changing wind and weather conditions, there is no official par listed at Carnoustie.

Hogan Gets Attention

Hogan had nearly all of the gallery, and got about 90 per cent of the attention, as he went around at Burnside. A gallery of 3,000 was doubled before Hogan completed his round.

Players who shot qualifying rounds at Burnside move over to Championship tomorrow, while those who played Championship drop by Burnside in tomorrow's 18-hole qualifier.

After tomorrow's second qualifying round the field is cut to the low 100 for the tournament proper starting Wednesday on the Championship course.

None of the field played the gusty winds any better than Locke, from Johannesburg, Hogan of Fort Worth, Tex., and the Scot, Panton.

Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., and Los Angeles, second to Hogan in prestige among American entries, blew himself to a 40-38—78. Lt. J. S. Meiklejohn of Norfolk, Va. had a 49-41—90 at Championship.

Stranahan Posts 73

Frank Stranahan, of Toledo, expected by most galleryites to be the low amateur after the finals Friday night, produced a high class 37-36—73 on the tough Championship links.

Cubs Top Redlegs In 7-6 Thriller

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs rode to their third straight 2-1 series edge by nipping Cincinnati's sixth place Reds in a 7-6 thriller today before 9,718.

The Cubs clouted Bud Podbielan for 12 hits as Bill Serena smacked his fifth homer and Randy Jackson his 13th during the winners' four run sixth when the Bruins were in the process of overcoming a 3-0 deficit.

Hank Sauer provided the winning run with a seventh inning single which scored Frankie Baumholtz from second base.

Casey Stengel Names A. L. Pitchers For All-Star Game

Six Twirlers Selected For July 14 Tilt

Boudreau And Turner Coaches And 11 Others Are Added To Squad

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—Mike Garcia and Bob Lemon of Cleveland. . . Allie Reynolds and Johnny Sain of New York. . . Satchel Paige of St. Louis. . . Billy Pierce of Chicago.

Those are Casey Stengel's pitching selections, announced today, for the annual All-Star baseball game in Cincinnati July 14.

Stengel is the American League manager by virtue of his position as pilot of the defending pennant winners, the New York Yankees.

He also released through American League headquarters today supporting players for the starting lineup chosen by fans in the countrywide poll.

The Brooklyn Dodgers' manager, Charley Dressen, will announce tomorrow his National League pitching choices and supporting players for the fans' lineup.

Stengel Adds Players

Rounding out his 25-man squad for the All-Star game, Stengel named the following players to back the starting eight men who must play a minimum of three innings;

Infielders—Ferris Fain, Chicago; Nelson Fox, Chicago; Bill Hunter, St. Louis; George Kell, Boston; Harvey Kuenn, Detroit; Johnny Mize, New York; Phil Rizzuto, New York, Eddie Robinson, Philadelphia.

Outfielders—Larry Doby, Cleveland; Minnie Minoso, Chicago.

Catcher—Sam White, Boston.

In addition, Stengel chose Lou Boudreau, Boston Red Sox manager, and the Yankees' Jim Turner as coaches.

Stengel didn't indicate which of his six pitching choices would start the game.

Mike Garcia Beats Chicago Sox, 6-3

CLEVELAND, July 6 (AP)—Mike Garcia pitched the Cleveland Indians back into second place in the American League tonight by beating the Chicago White Sox, 6-3, on a six-hitter that was his 10th victory against five losses. Homers by Al Rosen and Larry Doby and three hits by Dale Mitchell, who has a 16-game hitting streak going, paced the 13-hit Tribe attack.

Rosen's homer in the fourth for the first Cleveland run was his 21st, seven of which have been hit in the last 13 games. Larry Doby clouted his 16th for the Tribe in the sixth. Both blows were off Saul Rogovin, the loser.

Rightfielder Harry Simpson and second baseman Bob Avila of Cleveland were hurt in the seventh inning when they collided chasing Sam Mele's triple along the right field line. Simpson was carried off the field on a stretcher.

Markley Bags 5th For Rotary Club

Jesse Markley notched his fifth consecutive pitching triumph of the Hot Stove League season yesterday as manager Lonnie Jackson's Rotary Club tossers took B'nai B'rith into camp at Stitcher Field by the score of 11-2.

The Rotarians' ace turned in a three-hit performance, struck out 14 and sparked his team at the plate by belting a home run, triple and single. Grabenstein rapped a double for the winners while Ed McKenney obtained two of the losers' three blows—a homer and single.

Torzo Meets Walt Burkemo In PGA Final

Harmon, Isaacs Lose Semi-Final Contests

By WILL GRIMSLEY

BIRMINGHAM, Mich., July 6 (AP)—A pair of tenacious young battlers of the links—pug-nosed Walter Burkemo, who doesn't know when he's beaten, and vest-pocket Felice Torza, an original 100-1 shot, rang up last ditch semifinal victories today, and they'll play for the 35th PGA Golf Championship.

Burkemo, the pride of Franklin, Mich., fought from behind three times to eliminate Claude Harmon, of Mamaroneck, N.Y., one up.

He sank a 15-foot birdie putt on the final hole after Harmon, gambling boldly, had hit his second shot into the creek fronting the green and then was forced to take a penalty stroke.

Torza Defeats Isaacs

Torza—dubbed the "Toy Tiger" because of his frail 135-pound frame and flaming spirit—outlasted a magnificent comeback by 45-year-old Jack Isaacs of Langley Air Base, Virginia, to win an overtime struggle on the 39th hole.

On the par three 175-yard third extra hole, Isaacs drove deep into the rough to the right and chipped short, the ball rolling back an inch from the trap. Torza nailed his tee shot 13 feet from the pin for his winning par.

Play 36 Holes Today

This pair of comparative youngsters as the top pros go—Torza is 33 and Burkemo is 34—play 36-holes tomorrow, starting at 10 a. m. for professional golf's top prize, $5,000 in cash and an automatic berth on the U. S. Ryder Cup team.

A partisan gallery of 7,000 tramped over the 6,465-yard par 71 Birmingham Country Club course to watch their pinup boy, Burkemo, stage a great comeback.

Torza, a New Englander who now is employed at St. Charles, Ill., took the lead at the first hole and held on tenaciously although he saw the game Isaacs wipe out a four-hole lead on the final nine of the afternoon.

The 37th hole, the first extra one was halved in birdies and the second, a par four, in pars.

Hal's Play Scores In Ohio, One Finger Chas. Town Winner

Hal's Play, 6-year-old mare, owned by Louis Waingold, Braddock Road, and trained by Johnny Tammaro, former jockey of Baltimore, won the opening race at Cranwood Park, Ohio, yesterday and returned $7.60, $4.40 and $3.20. E. Coffman rode the Cumberland-owned mare. The win was worth $715 of the $1,100 purse.

Waingold's Frigate won at the same track Saturday and earned a $715 purse.

Hal's Play, coupled with Yukon Lady, winner of the second, paid a daily double of $46.20.

One Finger, whose co-owners are Mrs. Howell of Cumberland and J. G. "Huppy" Davis, won the second race at Charles Town, W. Va., yesterday and paid $4.40, $2.60 and $2.40. Eugene Dosher was aboard the winner.

The daily double combination of Dividandy and One Finger returned $16.20.

Dodgers Crush Pirates, 14-2

PITTSBURGH, July 6 (AP) — Gil Hodges, Carl Furillo and Billy Cox smashed home runs as the league leading Brooklyn Dodgers slauggh-tered the Pittsburgh Pirates 14-2 tonight.

The Dodgers tied a National League record of hitting at least one home run in 19 straight games. The victory moved the Dodgers two full games ahead of theidle Milwaukee Braves.

Hodges blasted his 15th homer of the campaign off Starter Paul LaPalme with Jackie Robinson aboard in the fourth inning. Furillo smashed a bases empty round-tripper in the sixth and Cox cracked a three-run homer in the eighth.

Yankees Defeat Athletics, 10-5

PHILADELPHIA, July 6—(INS)—A tremendous grand-slam home run by Mickey Mantle in the sixth inning brought the league-leading New York Yankees a 10-to-5 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics tonight in the first part of a twi-night doubleheader.

Home runs by Billy Martin and Phil Rizzuto had highlighted a five-run rally by the Yankees in the fourth, but the A's whittled down the lead to 5-4 with two runs in the fifth.

Johnny Sain went the distance for the Yanks and allowed eleven hits, including Gus Zernial's 19th homer. Sain won his eighth game.

Dapper Red Sox Win, Tighten Grip On Lead

Scoring eleven runs in the last two innings, Manager Jimmy Wilson's Red Sox defeated the Cardinals last night at Penn Avenue Field, 11-4, and tightened their grip on first place in the Dapper Division of the Dapper Dan League.

Donald "Doc" Richards, Red Sox hurler, yielded three hits and struck out eight. Two of the blows were obtained by Henry.

Jimmy O'Neal with two doubles and a single to his credit drove in four of the Sox runs while "Whitey" Slonaker contributed a bases loaded triple and Rice and Richards had two hits each.

Jimmy Hampson, Sox centerfielder, turned in three nice catches. Score:

Central Lunch Blanks Maids

Heavener's Homer Features 3-0 Win

Central Quick Lunch took over the leadership of the Queens Softball League yesterday by shutting out the East Side Maids at Allegany Field by the score of 3-0 behind the five-hit pitching of Rosalie Bowers.

Dot Heavener's circuit wallop with a teammate aboard decided the contest in the first inning. Central added another tally in the fifth inning.

Heavener got a single in addition to her four-bagger, Elsie McKee garnered a pair of one base knocks and Eileen Hite slammed a triple.

Central's infield trio of McKee, Joann Dickel and Jean Hale executed two double plays.

The victory gave Central a 9-1 record and broke the deadlock between the teams for first place. Score:

R. C. Games Called Off Due To Death Of George Weaver

President Peter Carpenti of the Rocking Chair Softball League last night announced that the three league games scheduled today have been postponed out of respect to George Weaver, former league player, who died yesterday.

Weaver, a third baseman, was one of the most popular players in the league and played with championship teams fielded by the Fraternal Order of Eagles and Amvets. He was regular third sacker of Trozzo's Whirlwinds, city champions, about 15 years ago.

Giants' Rookie Blanks Phillies

Worthington Tosses 2-Hitter, Wins 6-0

NEW YORK, July 6 (AP)—Rookie righthander Allan Worthington made a brilliant major league debut today, pitching a two-hit shutout as the New York Giants defeated Philadelphia, 6-0, to ruin Phillies' Manager Steve O'Neill's 62nd birthday.

Two-out doubles by Forrest Burgess in the fifth inning and Johnny Wyrostek in the ninth spoiled Worthington's bid for a no-hitter.

Worthington, purchased from Nashville last winter and recalled from Minneapolis last Friday, turned in a masterful exhibition, striking out six batters and walking four, one intentionally.

Kennel Club Will Meet Here Tonight

A meeting of the Upper Potomac Valley Kennel Club will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Herman Room of the Queen City Brewing Company.

An obedience training movie entitled "Training You To Train Your Dog," directed by Blanche Saunders, author of the book of the same name, will be shown.

Plans for the club's annual picnic will be made at this meeting.

Six-Hit Players

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Only once in American League history have two players made six hits or more each in one game. On July 10, 1932, in an 18-inning contest, Jimmy Foxx of the Athletics banged out six hits in nine trips to the plate. Johnny Burnett of the Indians got nine hits in 11 times. Philadelphia won the game, 18-17.

Farrady Tossers Host Cumberland In Legion League

Fort Cumberland Puts 4-0 Record On Line

Farrady Post No. 24, Frostburg having squared accounts with Midland, will be out to avenge a 6-0 defeat at the hands of Fort Cumberland Post when the teams tangle today in a Mountain District, American Legion Junior Baseball League contest at Beall High School Field, Frostburg, at 5:30 o'clock.

Cumberland puts a 4-0 record on the line in this game while the Mountain City nine owns a 2-2 record. Fort Cumberland beat Grantsville twice and Midland and Frostburg each once.

Frostburg dropped a 13-12 decision to Midland and then evened things up by whipping the defending champions, 11-3.

Lloyd or Blank will be on the firing line for Farrady Post today while Cumberland's starter will be chosen from Bobby Dawson or Harry Iser.

Gardnar Mulloy Blasts British

U. S. Tennis Player To Sue Newspapers

MIAMI, Fla., July 6 (AP)—Gardnar Mulloy, No. 1, U. S. tennis player, said today the British "talk about sportsmanship until they believe it themselves, but don't practice what they preach."

"All one hears over here is what great sportsmen the British are," Mulloy said in a by-lined article sent to the Miami Daily News from London.

"Well, I've got news for you; the English are no better sports than the spectators in other countries, and, in my opinion, worse than some. I've seen them all."

Mulloy reported that he was "suing several English newspapers for defamation of character, slander and libel" in connection with their coverage of his defeat in the Queen's Club Championships June 18.

Mulloy threw a racquet after he was defeated by George Worthington, a New Zealander. He said the press "alleged that I threw my press "alleged that I threw my racquet at a linesman" and added that such a statement "couldn't be further from the truth."

Parker's Wins 13th

Parker's Pool Room scored its 13th win in 14 starts in the Men's Rec Softball League by downing Narrows Esso yesterday at Fort Hill Field by the score of 15-10.

Ray Taylor of Parker's clouted a home run in the sixth inning. Score:

PARKER'S ...... 211 541 1—15 11 5

Ben Hogan Posts 70 In Qualifying Round

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, July 6 (AP)—Bobby Locke, Ben Hogan and Scotsman John Panton were the big show today in the opening qualifying round of the British Open Golf Tournament over two wind-swept Carnoustie courses.

Locke, the defending champion from South Africa, set a course record at Burnside, with a 65, where Hogan fired a 70—one under the unofficial par.

On the tougher championship course, Panton came in late in the day with a 35-34—69, best ever recorded in official competition at Carnoustie.

Twenty years ago Horton Smith of Chicago, now president of the U. S. Professional Golfers Association, got a 69 in a qualifying round for the British Open, but the course has been refurbished and is longer and tougher now.

Championship course is 7,200 yards with an unofficial par 72, while Burnside is 6,398 yards with an unofficial par 71. Due to changing wind and weather conditions, there is no official par listed at Carnoustie.

Hogan Gets Attention

Hogan had nearly all of the gallery, and got about 90 per cent of the attention, as he went around at Burnside. A gallery of 3,000 was doubled before Hogan completed his round.

Players who shot qualifying rounds at Burnside move over to Championship tomorrow, while those who played Championship drop by Burnside in tomorrow's 18-hole qualifier.

After tomorrow's second qualifying round the field is cut to the low 100 for the tournament proper starting Wednesday on the Championship course.

None of the field played the gusty winds any better than Locke, from Johannesburg, Hogan of Fort Worth, Tex., and the Scot, Panton.

Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., and Los Angeles, second to Hogan in prestige among American entries, blew himself to a 40-38—78. Lt. J. S. Meiklejohn of Norfolk, Va. had a 49-41—90 at Championship.

Stranahan Posts 73

Lions Nose Out Town At Mt. Savage, 15-14

MT. SAVAGE, July 6 — Clayton Williams was hit by a pitched ball with the bases loaded in the 7th inning to force over the deciding run as the Lions nosed out the Town in a Little League game here today, 15-14.

Reggie Lennox, who replaced Pfister in the third and fanned 11 in 5⅓ innings, got credit for the win.

The Lions gathered 19 hits including three home runs. Jimmy Martin socked a homer and three singles. Tommy Carter a triple, double and single, Danny Williams three singles, Clayton Williams homer and triple and Reggie Lennox a four-bagger and one base knock.

Firemen and Vets meet in a Hot Stove League game here Tuesday at 6 p. m.

A meeting of Hot Stove League team managers will be held Tuesday at 8 o'clock at the Community Building. Score:

TOWN ............ 117 500 0—14 8 3
LIONS ............ 142 132 1—15 19 5

Deffenbaugh and Hott. Pfister, Lennox (3) and Taylor.

Cubs Top Redlegs In 7-6 Thriller

CHICAGO, July 6 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs rode to their third straight 2-1 series edge by nipping Cincinnati's sixth place Reds in a 7-6 thriller today before 9,718.

The Cubs clouted Bud Podbielan for 12 hits as Bill Serena smacked his fifth homer and Randy Jackson his 13th during the winners' four run sixth when the Bruins were in the process of overcoming a 3-0 deficit.

Hank Sauer provided the winning run with a seventh inning single which scored Frankie Baumholtz from second base.

Royal Bay Gem Is Easy Victor

Scores 8th Triumph At New Jersey Track

OCEANPORT, N. J., July 6 (AP)—Royal Bay Gem, prepping for Saturday's $20,000 Lamplighter Handicap here, scored an easy victory over other sophomores before 21,486 at Monmouth Park today.

Eugene Constantin, Jr's. black colt sailed on the inside in smooth fashion at head of the stretch and had little trouble disposing of front-running Better Goods at the three-sixteenth pole and withstanding the belated challenges of Scimitar and Fly Wheel in the last sixteenth.

The classy son of Royal Gem 2nd-Bayadere won by 2¼ lengths over Scimitar and ran the mile and a sixteenth in a creditable 1:47 1-5 on the fast but deep track. Fly Wheel was third and Better Goods fourth in the field of seven.

Royal Bay Gem, one of Native Dancer's keenest rivals in sophomore stake races, finishing third to The Dancer in the Belmont and Preakness Stakes, was well supported by one of the largest Monday crowds in the track's history.

He was backed down to 2-5 odds and brought $2.80, $2.40, $2.20 to the bettors. It was his eighth triumph in 16 starts this year and boosted his earnings to $183,800 for the year and $200,970 for his two years of campaigning.

Gavilan, Giardello Bout Set For Aug. 3

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP)—Fight Promoter Herman Taylor today signed middleweight Joe Giardello and Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan for a ten round bout at Connie Mack Stadium Aug. 3.

Taylor said a weight limit of 155 pounds has been set for the match.

Both Gavilan and Giardello were victors over the same opponent, Gil Turner, Philadelphia Negro welter, in their last Quaker City appearances. Gavilan won by a knockout, Giardello by decision.

There will be no radio broadcast or telecast of the event, Taylor said.

A's Recall Catcher

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics today recalled catcher Neal Watlington from their Ottawa farm club of the International League.

The move was made because catcher Joe Astroth suffered a broken thumb in the New York Yankee—Athletics holiday weekend series.

Watlington hit .259 in 49 games in the International League so far this season.

This is how the official photograph looked at Hollywood Park, California, when Skippy Taubo, Rice's Regard and Barbelee matched noses at the wire. It was the first three-way tie at the track since its founding.

Yanks Put Ewell Blackwell On Voluntary Retired List

Will Rest In Tampa, Shallock Called Up

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP) Ewell Blackwell's attempted baseball comeback ended in failure today as the New York Yankees' towering righthander went into voluntary retirement.

Blackwell—whose sizzling offerings earned him a variety of nicknames including "The Buggy Whip"—left the slumping Yanks to pick up his wife in New York and then head for Tampa, Fla., and at least temporary exile from the major league world.

The Yanks didn't have much to say at the big pitcher's departure—they had enough troubles of their own and what does another baseball player say in a situation like that?

Won 22 Games In 1947

Blackwell's quiet fadeout was a far cry from his heyday with the Cincinnati Reds—now the Redlegs. Ewell was the bane of National League batters when he racked up 22 victories in 1947 on a Cincinnati ball club that finished fifth with only 73 wins all told.

The lanky hurler had been hampered by a sore arm all of the current season. He was acquired by the Yankees last August in their drive toward the American League pennant after being waived out of the National loop. The Blackwell deal sent four players—pitchers John Schmitz and Ernie Nevel and outfielders Jim Greengrass and Bub Marquis—to Cincinnati along with $35,000 in cash.

Blackwell contributed only one victory in five appearances on the mound for Stengel's club during the 1952 season. He was banged for four runs in one World Series chore but Yankee Pitching Coach Jim Turner felt at the time he showed "encouraging stuff."

Plagued with physical complaints this year, Blackwell hurled 19 2-3 innings before his retirement and was credited with two victories against no defeats.

Will Rest At Tampa

The 30-year-old righthander said he would rest at Tampe until next spring and then try once more with the Yanks.

To take Blackwell's place, the Yankees called up lefthander Art Shallock from Kansas City of the American Association, where he had a record of nine wins against three losses.

Pimlico Futurity Scheduled Oct. 24

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP) — The Maryland Jockey Club today set Oct. 24 for the 31st running of its famed Pimlico Futurity and said the fall classic for two-year-olds may gross as much as $80,000.

Pimlico adds $25,000 to the purse, and the other money comes from nomination, eligibility and starting fees. Owners have kept 477 juveniles eligible for the race by paying fees so far, with the final payment of $75 due on July 15.

The Futurity will be the feature race on a Saturday program closing Pimlico's 12-day fall meeting.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 6 (INS)—When Wanda Hendrix was the most miserable little girl in town over the break-up of her marriage to Audie Murphy, I told her that she'd fall in love again. She just shook her head—and cried. But, it happened!

Although neither will confirm an engagement, Wanda and Gerald Lazarre, a fine singer, are very seriously in love. They met when they appeared in the TV film "Tale of Two Cities."

Lazarre, who has a beautiful tenor voice, is now here and working in a picture at MGM.

But Wanda leaves soon to play the Strawhat circuit with Jackie Cooper in a new play "One for the Road"—and methinks her new love will be not far behind.

Since Bob Ryan and RKO parted company he's had many offers, but then he's a very good actor.

He's finishing "Alaska Seas" at Paramount, and he goes directly to MGM, where he'll have one of the leads with Greer Garson in "Miss Baker's Dozen." This is a return to MGM. Bob was one of the leading figures in "The Naked Spur."

He was at RKO for many years and he's still doing one a year there.

They're high on Abbe Lane at U.I. and many top roles are coming her way. She shares the femme lead in "The Breckenridge Story," with Susan Cabot. Audie Murphy and Dan Duryea are the male leads.

Contrary to a speculation that Xavier Cugar wouldn't like it if Abbe concentrated on her career, he is so interested in his youthful wife that he is buying a home and plans to settle here after a three months trip to the Orient.

Abbe is singing with the Cugat band at the Statler Hotel.

Nan Gray wants to speak her piece before Frankie Laine takes off for Europe for five weeks without her.

"We are not separating," says Nan, "it just happens that we're in the process of moving out of our Valley house into one in Beverly Hills. I want to stay here to see that everything is all right."

Next week, before he takes off for London, Frankie reports to Milton Sperling at Warners to record the theme song for "Blowing Wild," said to be as stirring as "High Noon." Well, it's by the same writers, Dimitri Tiomkin and Paul Webster.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

None of Ethel Barrymore's friends has seen her. Reason is she's writing her autobiography in long hand and all by her self.

Comedian Jackie Leonard is up for one of the leads in the new Doris Day movie.

The new swimming pool of Marie Wilson and Bob Fallon was christened at a dual celebration. The cast and crew of "Marry Me Again," with Mary and Bob Cummings, of course, joined in the festivities.

TV is bringing Jimmy Dunn back to Hollywood after an absence these past two years. He'll be starred in a show called "The Adventures of Mr. Almost."

Ann Sothern has had her pretty face painted in oil by Artist Paul Clemens.

At Redondo Beach, the captain of a shing boat is named Gordon Macree, spelled just like the actor's. When a Hollywood personage rented the boat and remarked to Captain Macrae, "Yours is a very famous name," the captain replied, "Well, it ought to be, I've been operating around Redondo Beach for 20 years now!"

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Royal Bay Gem Is Easy Victor

Scores 8th Triumph At New Jersey Track

OCEANPORT, N. J., July 6 (AP)—Royal Bay Gem, prepping for Saturday's $20,000 Lamplighter Handicap here, scored an easy victory over other sophomores before 21,486 at Monmouth Park today.

Eugene Constantin, Jr's. black colt sailed on the inside in smooth fashion at head of the stretch and had little trouble disposing of front-running Better Goods at the three-sixteenth pole and withstanding the belated challenges of Scimitar and Fly Wheel in the last sixteenth.

The classy son of Royal Gem 2nd-Bayadere won by 2¼ lengths over Scimitar and ran the mile and a sixteenth in a creditable 1:47 1-5 on the fast but deep track. Fly Wheel was third and Better Goods fourth in the field of seven.

Royal Bay Gem, one of Native Dancer's keenest rivals in sophomore stake races, finishing third to The Dancer in the Belmont and Preakness Stakes, was well supported by one of the largest Monday crowds in the track's history.

He was backed down to 2-5 odds and brought $2.80, $2.40, $2.20 to the bettors. It was his eighth triumph in 16 starts this year and boosted his earnings to $183,800 for the year and $200,970 for his two years of campaigning.

Gavilan, Giardello Bout Set For Aug. 3

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP) — Fight Promoter Herman Taylor today signed middleweight Joe Giardello and Welterweight Champion Kid Gavilan for a ten round bout at Connie Mack Stadium Aug. 3.

Taylor said a weight limit of 155 pounds has been set for the match.

Both Gavilan and Giardello were victors over the same opponent, Gil Turner, Philadelphia Negro welter, in their last Quaker City appearances. Gavilan won by a knockout, Giardello by decision.

There will be no radio broadcast or telecast of the event, Taylor said.

A's Recall Catcher

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics today recalled catcher Neal Watlington from their Ottawa farm club of the International League.

The move was made because catcher Joe Astroth suffered a broken thumb in the New York Yankee—Athletics holiday weekend series.

Watlington hit .259 in 49 games in the International League so far this season.

ONE OF THE RARITIES of horse racing is a triple dead heat and the chances of such a thrilling photo finish are about 10,000 to one. This is how the official photograph looked at Hollywood Park, California, when Skippy Taubo, Rice's Regard and Barbelee matched noses at the wire. It was the first three-way tie at the track since its founding.

Yanks Put Ewell Blackwell On Voluntary Retired List

Will Rest In Tampa, Shallock Called Up

PHILADELPHIA, July 6 (AP) Ewell Blackwell's attempted baseball comeback ended in failure today as the New York Yankees' towering righthander went into voluntary retirement.

Blackwell—whose sizzling offerings earned him a variety of nicknames including "The Buggy Whip"—left the slumping Yanks to pick up his wife in New York and then head for Tampa, Fla., and at least temporary exile from the major league world.

The Yanks didn't have much to say at the big pitcher's departure—they had enough troubles of their own and what does another baseball player say in a situation like that?

Won 22 Games In 1947

Blackwell's quiet fadeout was a far cry from his heyday with the Cincinnati Reds—now the Redlegs. Ewell was the bane of National League batters when he racked up 22 victories in 1947 on a Cincinnati ball club that finished fifth with only 73 wins all told.

The lanky hurler had been hampered by a sore arm all of the current season. He was acquired by the Yankees last August in their drive toward the American League pennant after being waived out of the National loop. The Blackwell deal sent four players—pitchers John Schmitz and Ernie Nevel and outfielders Jim Greengrass and Bub Marquis—to Cincinnati along with $35,000 in cash.

Blackwell contributed only one victory in five appearances on the mound for Stengel's club during the 1952 season. He was banged for four runs in one World Series chore but Yankee Pitching Coach Jim Turner felt at the time he showed "encouraging stuff."

Plagued with physical complaints this year, Blackwell hurled 19 2-3 innings before his retirement and was credited with two victories against no defeats.

Will Rest At Tampa

The 30-year-old righthander said he would rest at Tampe until next spring and then try once more with the Yanks.

To take Blackwell's place, the Yankees called up lefthander Art Shallock from Kansas City of the American Association, where he had a record of nine wins against three losses.

Pimlico Futurity Scheduled Oct. 24

BALTIMORE, July 6 (AP) — The Maryland Jockey Club today set Oct. 24 for the 31st running of its famed Pimlico Futurity and said the fall classic for two-year-olds may gross as much as $80,000.

Pimlico adds $25,000 to the purse, and the other money comes from nomination, eligibility and starting fees. Owners have kept 477 juveniles eligible for the race by paying fees so far, with the final payment of $75 due on July 15.

The Futurity will be the feature race on a Saturday program closing Pimlico's 12-day fall meeting.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 6 (INS)—When Wanda Hendrix was the most miserable little girl in town over the break-up of her marriage to Audie Murphy, I told her that she'd fall in love again. She just shook her head—and cried. But, it happened!

Although neither will confirm an engagement, Wanda and Gerald Lazarre, a fine singer, are very seriously in love. They met when they appeared in the TV film "Tale of Two Cities."

Lazarre, who has a beautiful tenor voice, is now here and working in a picture at MGM.

But Wanda leaves soon to play the Strawhat circuit with Jackie Cooper in a new play "One for the Road"—and methinks her new love will be not far behind.

Since Bob Ryan and RKO parted company he's had many offers, but then he's a very good actor.

He's finishing "Alaska Seas" at Paramount, and he goes directly to MGM, where he'll have one of the leads with Greer Garson in "Miss Baker's Dozen." This is a return to MGM. Bob was one of the leading figures in "The Naked Spur."

He was at RKO for many years and he's still doing one a year there.

They're high on Abbe Lane at U.I. and many top roles are coming her way. She shares the femme lead in "The Breckenridge Story," with Susan Cabot. Audie Murphy and Dan Duryea are the male leads.

Contrary to a speculation that Xavier Cugar wouldn't like it if Abbe concentrated on her career, he is so interested in his youthful wife that he is buying a home and plans to settle here after a three months trip to the Orient.

Abbe is singing with the Cugat band at the Statler Hotel.

Nan Gray wants to speak her piece before Frankie Laine takes off for Europe for five weeks without her.

"We are not separating," says Nan, "it just happens that we're in the process of moving out of our Valley house into one in Beverly Hills. I want to stay here to see that everything is all right."

Next week, before he takes off for London, Frankie reports to Milton Sperling at Warners to record the theme song for "Blowing Wild," said to be as stirring as "High Noon." Well, it's by the same writers, Dimitri Tiomkin and Paul Webster.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

None of Ethel Barrymore's friends has seen her. Reason is she's writing her autobiography in long hand and all by her self.

Comedian Jackie Leonard is up for one of the leads in the new Doris Day movie.

The new swimming pool of Marie Wilson and Bob Fallon was christened at a dual celebration. The cast and crew of "Marry Me Again," with Mary and Bob Cummings, of course, joined in the festivities.

TV is bringing Jimmy Dunn back to Hollywood after an absence these past two years. He'll be starred in a show called "The Adventures of Mr. Almost."

Ann Sothern has had her pretty face painted in oil by Artist Paul Clemens.

At Redondo Beach, the captain of a shing boat is named Gordon Macree, spelled just like the actor's. When a Hollywood personage rented the boat and remarked to Captain Macrae, "Yours is a very famous name," the captain replied, "Well, it ought to be, I've been operating around Redondo Beach for 20 years now!"

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Radio And Television

by John Crosby

Professional Criticism

We critics have been vehemently maligned for years by the folks on the other side of the footlights. We have been accused, with varying degrees of justice, of ignorance, malice, sadism, gross stupidity and even deafness and blindness. I expect we have all been guilty to some extent of all these charges.

John Crosby

But have you ever heard the professionals, those who are quickest to accuse critics of not knowing what they are talking about — criticizing their own trade? It's a very stimulating experience. You'll find out things about acting and direction that you never dreamed of.

Let's say you're sitting with a couple of actresses, an actor and a director watching a television play in your own living room. In this play — I'm just spitballing here, Mannie — a beautiful wanton is plotting with her lover to kill her husband. So help me God, the first bit of criticism you will hear —from one of the actresses—will be:

"Where do you suppose Marcia got that hair-do—from her psychiatrist?"

The other actress (who tried out for this part and didn't get it) enthusiastically retorts that Marcia's psychiatrist is probably a good deal better at hair-dos than at psychiatry if the condition of Marcia's black little psyche is any criterion of his handiwork. By this time the lovers are in a passionate embrace, and the girl on the screen is murmuring that she will love him forever.

This brings a hoot of laughter from the people watching: "Forever," says one of the girls. "To Marcia, that means until next Tuesday. You remember her at Westport last summer? If they hadn't locked up that 16-year-old English actor every night, Marcia would be in jail for statutory rape."

The scene on the TV screen now shifts from the lovers to the husband, poor soul, who is in his office serenely unaware of his planned extinction. His secretary, a nice-looking homespun girl (whose private life, you learn later from the people in the living room reads like "Forever Amber"), is trying to warn him of his wife's iniquity.

And in the living room: "He's a very nice boy — Justin," says the director, "but he can't act his way out of a paper bag."

"He's marrying Jessica, you know" says one of the actresses.

"Why?" says the other actress. "Why does everyone marry Jessica? It seems so redundant."

"In some states, it's against the law to marry Jessica. They have quota systems and she's bagged her limit," says your actor.

Meanwhile, you are trying hard to follow the course of action on the screen. The two murderous lovers have now teamed up with a sinister looking character whom they are hiring to do the dirty work. In addition to being an excellent actor, the sinister looking guy happens to be the ex-husband of one of the actresses in your living room. (This next bit—as God is my judge — actually happened within my earshot. I'm only changing names and places to protect the innocent.)

The ex-wife actress suddenly leans forward, with a little pop of indignation. "That's a Multiplex wristwatch he's wearing! Three hundred dollars, they cost! And he hasn't given me a nickle of alimony in two months! Where does he get off buying Multiplex wristwatches? Why that ... "and so forth.

A moment later, she's leaning forward again: "Those aren't the cufflinks I gave him. New cufflinks, too! And a Multiplex wristwatch!"

From the actor: "Ann Dunning gave him the cufflinks. That's her way of plighting her troth. She gives them cufflinks. She gave me a pair once. Then she took the shirt off my back—cufflinks and all."

The two lovers, who are plotting to kill poor Justin for his insurance, are now caught in their own coils. The sinister looking guy turns out to be an insurance investigator and the lovers, in their headlong flight from the law, drive their car over a cliff and expire horribly. It so happens—this is the ironic twist — that poor Justin has his wife insured to the eyeballs and as the sinister looking gent turns over a check for $150,000 to poor Justin he remarks:

"Fate makes strange bed-fellows, Mr. Cartwright. Your innocence has paid you well."

"Oh don't be so damned smug," snapped his ex-wife. "That's the way he used to talk at breakfast. Used to drive me out of my mind."

And they say critics are hard-boiled. Next to their own brethren of the theater, we are all white-haired old grandmothers.

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Radio And Television

Professional Criticism

We critics have been vehemently maligned for years by the folks on the other side of the footlights. We have been accused, with varying degrees of justice, of ignorance, malice, sadism, gross stupidity and even deafness and blindness. I expect we have all been guilty to some extent of all these charges.

John Crosby

But have you ever heard the professionals, those who are quickest to accuse critics of not knowing what they are talking about — criticizing their own trade? It's a very stimulating experience. You'll find out things about acting and direction that you never dreamed of.

Let's say you're sitting with a couple of actresses, an actor and a director watching a television play in your own living room. In this play — I'm just spitballing here, Mannie — a beautiful wanton is plotting with her lover to kill her husband. So help me God, the first bit of criticism you will hear —from one of the actresses—will be:

"Where do you suppose Marcia got that hair-do—from her psychiatrist?"

The other actress (who tried out for this part and didn't get it) enthusiastically retorts that Marcia's psychiatrist is probably a good deal better at hair-dos than at psychiatry if the condition of Marcia's black little psyche is any criterion of his handiwork. By this time the lovers are in a passionate embrace, and the girl on the screen is murmuring that she will love him forever.

This brings a hoot of laughter from the people watching: "Forever," says one of the girls. "To Marcia, that means until next Tuesday. You remember her at Westport last summer? If they hadn't locked up that 16-year-old English actor every night, Marcia would be in jail for statutory rape."

The scene on the TV screen now shifts from the lovers to the husband, poor soul, who is in his office serenely unaware of his planned extinction. His secretary, a nice-looking homespun girl (whose private life, you learn later from the people in the living room reads like "Forever Amber"), is trying to warn him of his wife's iniquity.

And in the living room: "He's a very nice boy — Justin," says the director, "but he can't act his way out of a paper bag."

"He's marrying Jessica, you know" says one of the actresses.

"Why?" says the other actress. "Why does everyone marry Jessica? It seems so redundant."

"In some states, it's against the law to marry Jessica. They have quota systems and she's bagged her limit," says your actor.

Meanwhile, you are trying hard to follow the course of action on the screen. The two murderous lovers have now teamed up with a sinister looking character whom they are hiring to do the dirty work. In addition to being an excellent actor, the sinister looking guy happens to be the ex-husband of one of the actresses in your living room. (This next bit—as God is my judge — actually happened within my earshot. I'm only changing names and places to protect the innocent.)

The ex-wife actress suddenly leans forward, with a little pop of indignation. "That's a Multiplex wristwatch he's wearing! Three hundred dollars, they cost! And he hasn't given me a nickle of alimony in two months! Where does he get off buying Multiplex wristwatches? Why that ... "and so forth.

A moment later, she's leaning forward again: "Those aren't the cufflinks I gave him. New cufflinks, too! And a Multiplex wristwatch!"

From the actor: "Ann Dunning gave him the cufflinks. That's her way of plighting her troth. She gives them cufflinks. She gave me a pair once. Then she took the shirt off my back—cufflinks and all."

The two lovers, who are plotting to kill poor Justin for his insurance, are now caught in their own coils. The sinister looking guy turns out to be an insurance investigator and the lovers, in their headlong flight from the law, drive their car over a cliff and expire horribly. It so happens—this is the ironic twist — that poor Justin has his wife insured to the eyeballs and as the sinister looking gent turns over a check for $150,000 to poor Justin he remarks:

"Fate makes strange bed-fellows, Mr. Cartwright. Your innocence has paid you well."

"Oh don't be so damned smug," snapped his ex-wife. "That's the way he used to talk at breakfast. Used to drive me out of my mind."

And they say critics are hard-boiled. Next to their own brethren of the theater, we are all white-haired old grandmothers.

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: I DO NOT KNOW WHAT POETICAL IS: IS IT HONEST IN DEED AND WORD?—SHAKESPEARE.

BLONDIE

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

BIRTHRIGHT OR POTTAGE

SEEKING the very few extra points available through a higher-ranking declaration, instead of greater safety inherent in a lower-ranking one, is about the most unwise thing a bidder can do in rubber bridge. That is most pronouncedly the case if the contract is a slam. Greater assurance of success, to obtain the slam and game premiums, is far more important than the larger score from choosing a major suit over a safer minor, or a No Trump over a suit. Risking the big contract unnecessarily can amount to selling your birthright for a mess of pottage.

That was truly beautiful bidding until the final call by South, who later explained that his purpose in choosing No Trumps for the declaration was the few extra points it could pay. He lived to regret his cupidity, as the slam was not makeable in No Trumps after West led the club Q, whereas it could not be beaten in diamonds.

After he won the opener with the club A, South was able to add the diamond A, the spade Q, the diamond 4 to the K, the spade A and K, then five more diamonds to have a total of eleven tricks. Seeking the twelfth almost hopelessly, he led the heart 6 to the K. East won it with the A and scored the club K for the final trick to put it down one.

It was a shame to see that fine earlier bidding go for naught, especially South's pretty cue-bid of 5-Clubs, when other players might have tried the Blackwood at that stage. South, with foresight, noted that a 4-No Trumps might have been answered by either 5-Diamonds or 5-Hearts to show either one or two aces. That would still have left South with no information about a suit fit, whereupon he would have had to guess at the best contract. The 5-Clubs cue-bid, however, brought North's 5-Diamonds call instead of 5-Spades, which would have told nothing. This indication of a fit and possession of the diamond K should have steered South into the sure 6-Diamonds. Note the 5-Clubs did not risk having North put it into a club contract, thinking perhaps there were four trumps opposite four. Since North's bid had already shown ten cards, he could not have held four clubs.

What simple, but pretty and unusual, play must South make to score 6-Spades after West leads the diamond Q?

Church Of England Accused Of Blocking Princess' Marriage

LONDON, July 6 (AP) — The Sunday Express yesterday accused the Church of England of blocking a marriage between pretty Princess Margaret and dashing, divorced Group Capt. Peter Wooldridge Townsend.

The handsome, 38-year-old commoner, thrice decorated as a Battle of Britain air hero, has served as an equerry of the royal family since 1944.

Hard on the heels of rumors linking his name romantically with that of the 22-year-old princess, Townsend was detached from his post with the royal household and ordered last week to Brussels as air attache of the British Embassy. He is slated to take over his new duties in about two weeks.

Auto Thief Proves Very Accommodating

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 6 (AP)—R. M. Daniels of Macon, Ky., pulled into a parking lot here Saturday.

"Put it right over here," a man said.

Daniels complied, handed over the keys and walked off.

Several hours later, he came back but his car was gone. It was then he noticed a sign saying, "This lot will not be operated July 4."

Police recovered the vehicle in front of a drive-in restaurant and arrested Vernon Hester of Ocoee, Tenn., on a grand larceny charge.

North Korean POWs Attack Supervisors

PUSAN, Korea, July 6 (AP) — Four North Korean Communist prisoners, armed with a shovel and a saw, attacked two unarmed U. S. supervisors at the U. N. Command POW camp on Koje Island Saturday, the Allied Prisoner of War Command reported today.

Two unarmed U. S. soldiers quickly intervened, and order was restored.

One of the Americans suffered minor injuries, and all four prisoners were hospitalized, one in serious condition.

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

BIRTHRIGHT OR POTTAGE

SEEKING the very few extra points available through a higher-ranking declaration, instead of greater safety inherent in a lower-ranking one, is about the most unwise thing a bidder can do in rubber bridge. That is most pronouncedly the case if the contract is a slam. Greater assurance of success, to obtain the slam and game premiums, is far more important than the larger score from choosing a major suit over a safer minor, or a No Trump over a suit. Risking the big contract unnecessarily can amount to selling your birthright for a mess of pottage.

That was truly beautiful bidding until the final call by South, who later explained that his purpose in choosing No Trumps for the declaration was the few extra points it could pay. He lived to regret his cupidity, as the slam was not makeable in No Trumps after West led the club Q, whereas it could not be beaten in diamonds.

After he won the opener with the club A, South was able to add the diamond A, the spade Q, the diamond 4 to the K, the spade A and K, then five more diamonds to have a total of eleven tricks. Seeking the twelfth almost hopelessly, he led the heart 6 to the K. East won it with the A and scored the club K for the final trick to put it down one.

It was a shame to see that fine earlier bidding go for naught, especially South's pretty cue-bid of 5-Clubs, when other players might have tried the Blackwood at that stage. South, with foresight, noted that a 4-No Trumps might have been answered by either 5-Diamonds or 5-Hearts to show either one or two aces. That would still have left South with no information about a suit fit, whereupon he would have had to guess at the best contract. The 5-Clubs cue-bid, however, brought North's 5-Diamonds call instead of 5-Spades, which would have told nothing. This indication of a fit and possession of the diamond K should have steered South into the sure 6-Diamonds. Note the 5-Clubs did not risk having North put it into a club contract, thinking perhaps there were four trumps opposite four. Since North's bid had already shown ten cards, he could not have held four clubs.

What simple, but pretty and unusual, play must South make to score 6-Spades after West leads the diamond Q?

Church Of England Accused Of Blocking Princess' Marriage

LONDON, July 6 (AP) — The Sunday Express yesterday accused the Church of England of blocking a marriage between pretty Princess Margaret and dashing, divorced Group Capt. Peter Wooldridge Townsend.

The handsome, 38-year-old commoner, thrice decorated as a Battle of Britain air hero, has served as an equerry of the royal family since 1944.

Hard on the heels of rumors linking his name romantically with that of the 22-year-old princess, Townsend was detached from his post with the royal household and ordered last week to Brussels as air attache of the British Embassy. He is slated to take over his new duties in about two weeks.

Auto Thief Proves Very Accommodating

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., July 6 (AP)—R. M. Daniels of Macon, Ky., pulled into a parking lot here Saturday.

"Put it right over here," a man said.

Daniels complied, handed over the keys and walked off.

Several hours later, he came back but his car was gone. It was then he noticed a sign saying, "This lot will not be operated July 4."

Police recovered the vehicle in front of a drive-in restaurant and arrested Vernon Hester of Ocoee, Tenn., on a grand larceny charge.

North Korean POWs Attack Supervisors

PUSAN, Korea, July 6 (AP) — Four North Korean Communist prisoners, armed with a shovel and a saw, attacked two unarmed U. S. supervisors at the U. N. Command POW camp on Koje Island Saturday, the Allied Prisoner of War Command reported today.

Two unarmed U. S. soldiers quickly intervened, and order was restored.

One of the Americans suffered minor injuries, and all four prisoners were hospitalized, one in serious condition.

State Is Asked To Bear Costs Of Paving Job

Frederick Street Plan Is Forwarded

City officials yesterday forwarded to the State Roads Commission, without requested endorsement, a resolution of the Frederick Street Improvement Association that the state pay the cost of making the street part of the state highway system.

The association, through its spokesman, George Hughes, asked the Mayor and Council to approve the plan, saying that since the street, as part of US Route 220 would be used more for transit and highway traffic than for residential and local, residents believe the state should assume the cost.

The Council, however, voted to send the SRC a copy of the association's resolution and expressed interest in the proposal.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the city does not want to "jump the gun" on State Roads Commission officials who will be here Thursday to discuss the city's part in the 12-year road improvement program.

Forward Resolution

Upon the motion of Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, the Mayor and Council voted to forward the resolution to the SRC.

Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, added the city is conscious of the request made by the association and has been investigating the plan.

He added, however, that the SRC has definite requirements for its programs and cannot make exceptions for one section of the state.

Under current plans, the work would be financed as a federal urban-aid program, with the city paying half of the estimated $500,000 cost. The street, from Mechanic Street to the city limits, would handle northbound traffic for the state highway, and Bedford Street, southbound traffic.

The Frederick Street group will present its proposal formally at a meeting planned in City Hall Thursday at 2 p. m., and attended by Russell H. McCain, SRC chairman and his staff.

Prior to that session council will meet with the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission at 1 p. m. on four ordinance change proposals affecting business districts.

Request Opening

In another road discussion, council authorized Finan to inform residents in the area and along a road between Pine and Fort Avenues, that reopening of the road would be their responsibility and they would also have to be responsible for the condition of it.

Fourteen petitioners had asked that the road be opened. Finan said the road is not a public street but a private right-of-way and it was closed after a sunken water line which had been abandoned posed a hazard.

Posts were installed blocking the entrance and this is the first protest in almost a year since it was closed, Finan said. The city attorney added the people can force the street to be opened but did not believe they realized they will be responsible for the condition of it.

Petitioners said the road has been used 30 years, that it was a convenience to people residing on it and allowed access to lots of some who plowed for gardens.

Also scheduled to attend the Thursday meeting with the SRC are the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, and representatives from the South End Business Men's Association.

New Parsonage To Be Dedicated

Old Furnace Church of the Brethren will dedicate its new parsonage Sunday at 2 p. m. (EDT). The church is located five miles south of Cumberland on West Virginia State Route 28.

Rev. Walter Vansickle, Hazelton, W. Va., will preside at the special dedicatory service, and Rev. Norman Harsh, pastor of Knobley and Sunnyside churches, will be in charge of devotions.

Rev. Robert Strickler, chairman of the Ministerial Board of the First District, will be principal speaker, and talks will be given by Lucy Abe and Ira Abe, members of the congregation.

Rev. Galen Fike, field representative of the First District, also will attend, and Rev. Charles V. Self, pastor, will lead the Act of Dedication.

Weather

Skies were overcast just about all day yesterday although the sun did manage to put in its appearance several times. And the temperatures were high enough to make it rather uncomfortable. Today the weatherman promises fair weather and less humid. The high recorded at Constitution Park was 89 degrees and the low was 66. Temperature at 8:45 p. m. was 80 degrees and humidity at 6 p. m. was 55 per cent.

Other participants in the parade were Donnie Smith, Diane Lewis, Ellen Griggs, Leland Otto, Lindsay Otto, Pat Wilson and Ellen Wilson.

Judges were Mrs. Michael Cunningham and Joe Wolfe.

A hat show will be held next Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the playground. At 8 p. m. Monday will meet all parents whose children participate in the playground activities. The season's program and playground rules and procedure will be discussed.

Enemies Attack Many Oak Trees In This Area

Oak trees in Western Maryland have been attacked by a number of enemies this summer but District Forester William H. Johnson said yesterday he believes most of the damage to these trees has been only superficial.

Oak wilt, the worst enemy of the trees has been found in two new locations by Dr. A. H. Jones, plant pathologist of Ohio State University, who has been conducting an aerial survey over Allegany County and surrounding area.

The University of Maryland is furnishing the plane for Dr. Jones' flights which were begun last week. He has been accompanied by William P. Foley, this city, who will be in charge of the oak wilt eradication program in the area. One new location of oak wilt, spotted from the air, is near the north end of Town Hill not far from the Pennsylvania line. New infestation also was discovered near Parree in Washington County.

Although the 17-year locusts or cicadas have departed until 1970, they have left behind a number of unsightly trees. For some reason or another they seem to have preferred oak trees for laying their eggs. These twigs on which leaves already have turned brown probably will fall off before long and there will be no permanent damage to the trees except for the loss of some growth.

Still another pest which has attacked oak trees in a 15-square mile area north and northeast of Oakland is the fall canker worm.

District Forester Johnson said that these worms, which defoliated many oak trees in Garrett County, now have completed their life cycle and are gone. As a result, trees struck by the worms now are growing a new supply of leaves. The forester said this probably will mean that the oak trees in that area will have two rings of growth. This may confuse those who normally reckon the age of trees by counting one year for each ring of growth.

Talent Show Today At Post Playground

Thomas S. Post Playground will hold its annual talent show tonight at 7 o'clock on the playground.

Movies will follow at dusk. Refreshments will be sold.

Baton lessons will be given Wednesday at 11 a. m. by Mary Frances DeLuca. From 12 noon until 1 p. m., the playground will hold a picnic on the playground, with prizes for winners of games. Free drinks will be furnished by the association.

Movies will be shown on Thursday at dusk.

City To Ask Data On Air Service Cut

Allegheny Plans To Drop Flight

City officials yesterday asked Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, to secure details on the plan of Allegheny Airlines to discontinue one of its three flights here on August 1.

The request for additional details was made by Mayor Roy W. Eves after the reading of a letter from David L. Miller, vice president of the firm, to Finan.

Miller said the firm plans to discontinue Flight 143 through Cumberland, effective August 1.

He added that an analysis of 22 days of traffic showed only five passengers used the morning flight from Washington to Cumberland, and only 22, or about one a day, boarded the AA plane for Pittsburgh and points west at 10:29 a. m.

Will Be Continued

Miller said the morning eastbound flight and the afternoon westbound flight are used to a much greater extent and will be continued through August.

The firm said substantial economies will be involved in dropping the flight here.

City officials especially asked further information on the phrase "will be continued through August."

Water consumption averaged 13,150,000 gallons a day here last week. Water in Lake Gordon was one foot, four inches below the crest, and Lake Koon an inch above the spillway.

Reports Presented

The Street Department reported 1,103 paved streets and 128 paved alleys were cleaned last month.

Water Department officials reported the installation of 27 taps and 24 meters last month.

Major projects on which the Engineering Office was working were plans for the Frederick and George Street projects and the approach to the bridge to be built over the Industrial Dam.

George E. Davis, city collector, reported receipts of $46,796.03 in June.

Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, reported collections of $2,466, including $1,538.40 from bingo games.

Parking meter receipts totaled $558.19 the week of June 28, down $8.58 from the previous week.

St. Mary's CYO Plans "Fun Fair"

A "fun fair" will be held July 13 through July 18 by St. Mary's Catholic Youth Organization on the school grounds on Oldtown Road.

General chairman for the affair will be Thomas Minke assisted by Bobby Greene, Edward Bergman and James King.

Feature attraction of the event will be the Shaw and Sons rides from Baltimore. Included will be a ferris wheel, airplane, fire truck and a large and small train.

Various other amusements and concessions are being planned for the fair, Minke noted, and proceeds will be used for the parish youth organization.

Gary Bucy Winner In Talent Show

He sang "I Believe." On July 9 at Constitution Park the youngster will represent his playlot at the intra-city talent show.

Second place winner at the show was Jade Green, 11, who did acrobatic stunts and a Spanish dance. Linda Darber, 11, was named third place winner and gave a piano selection. In fourth place was Eddie Martin, 8, who sang an appropriate summer song, "Jack Frost." The playground has completed plans for an On-Wheels Parade on Friday beginning at 7 p. m. Movies, according to Mrs. Dorothy Heavener, director, will be shown this evening and Thursday at dusk.

Individual Registration Cards To Be Given Voters Of County

Records Show 42,145 Names On Poll Books

Registration cards for all of Allegany County's 42,145 qualified voters have been printed and soon will be sent to them, according to William A. Wilson, president of the County Board of Election Supervisors.

However, before these cards are mailed to voters Wilson wants to ascertain that the board's present records are correct.

Changed Addresses

All voters who have moved to new election districts or precincts since they registered with the County Board of Election Supervisors are requested to notify the registrars at the board's office in the Court House basement of their new address. The office is open from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a. m. until noon on Saturdays.

Wilson stressed that cards sent to wrong addresses probably would never reach their rightful owners and the voter in such case would have no registration card.

The board president reminded voters that keeping these registration cards in their possession, especially on election days will be helpful to precinct judges who must direct voters to their proper polling places.

Registration Proof

With each card is the following message:

"The card below is your proof that you are a registered voter in Allegany County, Maryland. Detach it and carry with you. We are requesting that you present this card to your voting official when you go to your polling place. If you lose this card or change your address kindly notify the Board of Election Supervisors, Court House, Cumberland, Md., and a new card will be issued to yo. If you do not exercise your right to vote for five calendar years, by Act of Legislature, you forfeit this right and will be stricken from the voting records in which case this card is null and void."

The 52,145 qualified voters include 41,660 white and 485 colored. Of the total 18, 237 are Democrats (9,494 male and 8,743 female), 23,624 are Republicans (12,243 male and 11,381 female), 205 declined to state party preference (163 male and 42 female), 31 were classed as Socialists (21 male and 10 female) and 48 claimed membership in other parties (29 male and 19 female.)

Lists showing this total registration by precincts are available at the Board of Election Supervisors' office.

KC Planning Dinner, Dance

The affair, according to Joseph H. Webb, general chairman, will be held at Ali Ghan Shrine Club.

Other committee heads appointed by Arthur F. Young, faithful navigator, include: Sylvester A. Shircliff, arrangements, assisted by Patrick J. Creegan, William E. McCleary, T. E. Simon, Robert Dawson.

Carl L. Firlie, assisted by Stan Fretwell, Wilbert Logsdon; John W. Kreidler, tickets, assisted by J. D. Murray, Harry Stegmaier, E. A. Cosgrove, J. J. Howell, James F. Quinn, Walter Meade, John Uhl, Charles J. Laughlin, Peter J. Carpenti, William V. Keegan, Benjamin F. Hotchkiss, Jr., Alex J. Schute.

William C. Harrison, treasurer; Norman P. Fearnow, program, assisted by W. E. Neus.

KC Meets Tonight

A regular monthly meeting of the Cumberland Council 586, Knights Of Columbus, will be held today at 8:30 p. m. in the council home on North Mechanic Street.

Local Sailor Is Sought In Break At Naval Station

The Cumberlander was identified as Dewey Emerick, 500-block Bedford Street. Also missing are Robert E. Bibler, Springport, Mich., and Edward Chauncy, whose address was not known.

Naval authorities said the trio and three other men escaped from a work detail at the air station June 29.

One gave himself up, and two others were recaptured.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation in Baltimore said Emerick had been held as a deserter. He was arrested here some time ago after he had been reported AWOL from his base, and was returned to Anacostia.

State and city police here said they understood the escapees might be travelling in a DeSoto convertible with Pennsylvania license plates.

The possible connection between the car and the escape could not be learned immediately.

North End Plans Talent Contest

North End Playground will hold its annual talent show tonight at 8:15 o'clock at the field house.

The program will open with a demonstration by the Ridgeleyettes, composed of 30 young twirlers directed by Janet Ridgeley.

Entrants for the contest are: Sydna Storer and Carol Ann Gaffney, dance duet; Carol Baker, vocal solo; Patricia Baker, fluteophone; Joseph VanHorn, vocal solo.

A group of girls will also do twirling in competition. They are Jean Hoffman "Hi School Cadet;" Doris Kasecamp, "A Penny a Kiss;" Sharon Kasecamp, "Hi School Cadet;" Brenda Miller, "Toolie Oolie Doolie" and Betty Roeder, "I Hate to Lose You."

Other contestants may enter at any time prior to the program.

Judges will be Mrs. Charles Wyant, Miss Sue Cunningham and Miss Delores Gillard.

RC Blood Mobile Unit To Visit City Today

The Red Cross mobile unit from Johnstown, Pa., regional headquarters will be in Cumberland this afternoon to collect blood.

The unit will be located at the Eagles Home on North Mechanic Street from noon until 6 p. m. Red Cross officials yesterday stressed the importance of keeping appointments in order that residents of Allegany County can continue to receive free blood under the Red Cross program. "Walk-ins" persons who are not scheduled and who desire to give blood, will be welcomed during the afternoon. Yesterday the mobile unit visited Lonaconing.

East Side Plans Talent Show And Swimming

A talent show is being held at East Side Playground tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Boys and girls interested in taking part are to notify play leaders not later than 7:15 p. m.

East Side will begin its swimming program this week also. It is open to all from 8 to 18, wishing to learn to swim. Those participating are to be at the playground at 9:15 a. m. each day to go to Constitution Park. It is a two week program.

Civil Engineer Who Helped Build Panama Canal Retires

Ends Long Service On Western Maryland

By C. W. BLACKBURN

Sevier S. Baumer, who began his career as a civil engineer on the Panama Canal in 1908, retired here Saturday after 34 years of service in the Engineering Department of the Western Maryland Railway.

Baumer, who makes his home at 335 Mountain View Drive, has been employed in the Engineering Department of the Elkins Division here since 1919.

Born in Washington, D. C., in 1887, he spent much of his youth in Montgomery, Ala., but returned to the Capital to complete his education.

In 1908, Baumer accepted a position as an electrician on the Panama Canal. A year later, he became an inspector of concrete locks on the huge project which was begun in 1905.

Transferred to the Chief Engineer's Office, he worked from 1910 to January, 1914, on the design of the huge locks and emergency gates of the canal.

Named for John Sevier, Revolutionary War officer and governor of Tennessee when it was known as the state of Franklin, Baumer then returned to Washington to spend a year with his father, Capt. Joseph Baumer.

His father, who fought with the Confederate Army in the War Between the States, was serving as clerk of Naval Affairs in the Capital and later served in the Navy Department.

Baumer began his railroad career in 1915, when he accepted a position in the Maintenance of Way Department of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway, with headquarters in Nashville, Tenn.

He came to Cumberland in 1917 to become chief draftsman under William Claus, general manager of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad.

About two years later, he accepted a position with the Western Maryland Railway in the Division Engineer's Office, then headed by the late Patrick Cain.

He has since been employed in the Division Engineer's Office, now headed by E. D. Billmyer, as an instrument man and survey party chief.

For the past 15 years, he had also been in charge of Sperry Rail testing and inspection on the entire Western Maryland system.

In March, 1919, he married the former Lucille H. Hadra of Cumberland.

They have two sons, Sevier S., Jr., this city, and Ronald F., Kansas City, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. Baumer's plans are simple—to take it easy.

Hampshire Youth Found Dead Of Gunshot Wound

James Riggleman Funeral Today

A funeral service will be held today for a 22-year-old Hampshire County farm worker who was found dead Sunday of a gunshot wound which West Virginia authorities said was self-inflicted.

The victim, James Riggleman, 22, was found dead late Sunday morning about half a mile from his home in the White Pine Church section near Purgittsville.

Hampshire County Coroner A. L. Russell issued a verdict of suicide, and said an inquest would not be necessary.

Riggleman's uncle, Alonzo Riggleman, told authorities he became alarmed when his nephew failed to return home Saturday night. On Sunday morning, Alonzo Riggleman found his nephew's body in a field.

Russell said the youth apparently had placed a 12-gauge shotgun against the center of his forehead and had pulled the trigger. The coroner said he had been despondent for some time.

The spot where the body was found is between the home of Riggleman's uncle, with whom he lived, and the house of his mother, Mrs. Mary Veach.

Russell said the shooting apparently occurred at about 11 p. m. Saturday. Investigating, besides Russell, were Sheriff J. M. Buckbee and Sgt. R. E. Schnell of the State Police detachment at Romney.

Riggleman was born March 29, 1931, in the White Pine Church section. He was unmarried.

A service will be conducted at 2 p. m. (EST) today at Old Pine Church by Rev. Strickler, pastor of White Pine Church. Burial will be in Old Pine Cemetery.

Furniture Bids Total $8,401

Contracts totaling $8,401.42 for office, teachers and library furniture at the new Valley High School, Lonaconing, have been awarded to four firms, according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer.

The Baltimore Stationery Company, supplying Myrtle Desk Company furniture, was awarded the contract for library furniture on a bid of $4,909.05.

James T. Vernay and Sons, also of Baltimore, got the contract to supply 40 teachers' desks on a unit bid of $43.18, a total of $1,727.20.

The Ankeney Company, Inc., 27 North Centre Street, will supply teachers' chairs and library chairs on a unit bid of $10.20. The total price for 150 chairs is $1,530.00.

Flowers School Equipment Company, Richmond, Va., was awarded the contract for the office furniture on a bid of $235.17.

Opening Set For Frostburg Pool

The official opening of the Community swimming pool at Frostburg will be held on July 19.

During a meeting of the mayor and city council last night it was decided to hold the affair at 1:30 p. m. and the Arion Band will present a concert as part of the ceremony.

The mayor and council congratulated Pinto for his efficiency in handling the pool affairs and voted to set his salary at $200 a month.

A statement on the financial condition of Arion Band was also received during the meeting and it was unanimously voted to give the organization $300.

Gephart Playground Plans Doll Show

A doll show will be staged at Gephart Playground beginning at 7:30 o'clock tonight, according to Miss Ethel Everett, director.

Prizes will be awarded for the prettiest doll, largest doll, smallest doll, most unusual doll and the largest collection of dolls. Free movies will follow the show.

Miss Everett also announced that the Gephart Playground Teenagers Club will hold a party at Minke's beginning at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Kent Avenue Paving Project Is Underway

The George F. Hazelwood Construction Company yesterday began paving Kent Avenue, from Brookfield to Avondale Avenues.

The firm submitted a low bid of $21,925.75 recently for paving the street with a six inch concrete slab with integral rolled curb.

Woman, Hurt In Fight, Pays Fine

A local woman who was found unconscious on Valley Street early Sunday was released from City Jail last night after she paid a $20 fine for disorderly conduct.

Margaret Shoemaker, 35, of 400-block Broadway, told Police Magistrate J. Milton Dick she engaged in a fight at Bowman's Addition with Joyce Myers of Somerville Avenue. Later, she said, both women returned to Cumberland with Garland Huffman, RD 3, Valley Road, and Paul Goetz, this city.

Goetz said the Shoemaker woman reached across and scratched Huffman, who was driving. Huffman stopped the car and ejected her on Valley Street.

The woman said Huffman got out of the car and struck her. She was found unconscious on the street later and was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital.

Detective Leo E. P. Law said the Shoemaker woman exonerated Goetz and said she did not want to file complaints against Huffman and the Myers woman, both of whom forfeited $20 each when they failed to appear at the hearing yesterday. A misdemeanor charge against Goetz was dismissed.

Helmer Sells House On Fayette Street

L. Leslie Helmer, former Amcelle plant manager and now connected with Celanese's New York office, and his wife, Helen S. Helmer, have sold their home at 758 Fayette Street, according to a deed filed for record yesterday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The property was sold to G. Walter Murray and Grace E. Murray, his wife.

Another transaction recorded in a deed filed yesterday was the sale by James E. Stevens and Florence E. Stevens, his wife, to James F. Straw and Wilma E. Straw, his wife, a residence on the northeast side of National Turnpike about three miles east of Cumberland.

Missing Men Return Home

Robert L. Roach, 28, whose family had reported him missing since last Wednesday, returned to his home at 1009 Michigan Avenue late yesterday, City Police reported.

Police also said Charles Isner, 33, of 624½ Frederick Street, who had been reported missing last Friday, returned home the same day.

Births

Memorial Hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Homer E. Robey, RD 2, city, a daughter yesterday.

Rev. and Mrs. Alonzo Harman, Fort Ashby, a daughter Saturday.

Two Injured As Car Hits Porch At Flintstone

10 Weekend Crash Victims Improving

A 52-year-old Cumberland man was in "good" condition last night in Sacred Heart Hospital, where he was admitted after the car in which he was riding went out of control and rammed into a house at Flintstone early Sunday.

Satoria Cross, of the Southern Hotel, sustained lacerations and brush burns of the legs, arms and back, and multiple bruises.

State Police said Cross was a passenger in a car driven by Joseph Peter Carpenti, 41, of 418 North Mechanic Street, who was treated at the same hospital for lacerations of the head and legs.

Trooper J. F. Lewis said Carpenti was driving west toward Cumberland at about 12:30 a. m. Sunday when the car went out of control and hit the porch of a house near the highway.

Meanwhile, ten persons who were injured in three separate accidents Sunday were considered out of danger last night.

One, Henry Shockey, 24, of Berlin, Pa., was transferred from Memorial Hospital to Sacred Heart, and was in good condition. James Shaffer, 22, Narrows Park Marine who was injured in the same accident on West Virginia Route 28, was to be discharged from Memorial Hospital today or tomorrow, and Adam Ochociensky of Carmichael, Pa., who was driving the other car, was in good condition.

The six-year-old grandson of a Cumberland woman remained in critical condition last night at Frederick County Memorial Hospital, Frederck.

Ronald L. Corrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Corrick of Monrovia, sustained a puncture wound of the head.

According to reports, Mrs. Corrick was driving east about half a mile west of Jefferson on Route 340 when their car ran off the road and hit a tree.

Corrick was admitted to the same hospital with chest and leg injuries, and Mrs. Corrick, with lacerations and brush burns. Corrick is the son of Mrs. G. W. Corrick, 879 Patterson Avenue.

Video Programs Will Originate Here In August

Television shows are to begin originating in Cumberland when equipment ordered by the Potomac Valley Television Company arrives here next month.

J. Holland Rannells, president of the company, yesterday said he has ordered a camera, film and slide projector and other television equipment from DuMont Laboratories, Inc.

Local personnel, who will be factory trained, are to be in charge of the operation of the equipment and a studio will be located at 800 Williams Street.

Live and film programs, Rannells added, will be scheduled on any one of the 3 channels and will be in addition to the present popular programs.

The studio on Williams Street is being readied for the new equipment.

The purchase of the television equipment is the first step in having programs originate from the Queen City, Rannells pointed out.

Last month a portable camera operated by Donald A. Steward, distribution manager of DuMont Laboratories, Inc., was brought to Cumberland and local residents were given a chance to be seen on the screen.

A program was also held from the Irons Mountain antenna station and Rannells was so impressed with the results that he put in an order for the telecasting equipment.

Churches of all faiths, and all organizations with public interests are invited to contact the television company on South Liberty Street in an effort to plan "Better Cumberland Programs," Rannells said.

Kelly Wage Talks Resume Tomorrow

Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastics Workers of America (CIO) and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will meet Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the local tire plant to continue wage negotiations.

The union presented its plan for a "substantial" general wage increase at a meeting held June 29. William G. Rice, president of the local, termed the meeting a preliminary one.

The union and the company will meet Friday at 10 a. m. at the plant to present testimony in two disputes before Carl R. Schedler, Washington, D. C. arbitrator.

The first is a discharge case involving Wilma Jeffries, of the Stock Preparation Department. The second involves Article 10, Section 3, of the contract, which relates to the purchase of gloves by the company.

Clinics Set Today

The Health Department will hold child hygiene conferences today at 10 a. m. in John Humbird School and at City Hall.

State Is Asked To Bear Costs Of Paving Job

Frederick Street Plan Is Forwarded

City officials yesterday forwarded to the State Roads Commission, without requested endorsement, a resolution of the Frederick Street Improvement Association that the state pay the cost of making the street part of the state highway system.

The association, through its spokesman, George Hughes, asked the Mayor and Council to approve the plan, saying that since the street, as part of US Route 220 would be used more for transit and highway traffic than for residential and local, residents believe the state should assume the cost.

The Council, however, voted to send the SRC a copy of the association's resolution and expressed interest in the proposal.

Mayor Roy W. Eves said the city does not want to "jump the gun" on State Roads Commission officials who will be here Thursday to discuss the city's part in the 12-year road improvement program.

Forward Resolution

Upon the motion of Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, the Mayor and Council voted to forward the resolution to the SRC.

Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, added the city is conscious of the request made by the association and has been investigating the plan.

He added, however, that the SRC has definite requirements for its programs and cannot make exceptions for one section of the state.

Under current plans, the work would be financed as a federal urban-aid program, with the city paying half of the estimated $500,000 cost. The street, from Mechanic Street to the city limits, would handle northbound traffic for the state highway, and Bedford Street, southbound traffic.

The Frederick Street group will present its proposal formally at a meeting planned in City Hall Thursday at 2 p. m., and attended by Russell H. McCain, SRC chairman and his staff.

Prior to that session council will meet with the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission at 1 p. m. on four ordinance change proposals affecting business districts.

Request Opening

In another road discussion, council authorized Finan to inform residents in the area and along a road between Pine and Fort Avenues, that reopening of the road would be their responsibility and they would also have to be responsible for the condition of it.

Fourteen petitioners had asked that the road be opened. Finan said the road is not a public street but a private right-of-way and it was closed after a sunken water line which had been abandoned posed a hazard.

Posts were installed blocking the entrance and this is the first protest in almost a year since it was closed, Finan said. The city attorney added the people can force the street to be opened but did not believe they realized they will be responsible for the condition of it.

Petitioners said the road has been used 30 years, that it was a convenience to people residing on it and allowed access to lots of some who plowed for gardens.

Also scheduled to attend the Thursday meeting with the SRC are the Municipal Planning and Zoning Commission, and representatives from the South End Business Men's Association.

New Parsonage To Be Dedicated

Old Furnace Church of the Brethren will dedicate its new parsonage Sunday at 2 p. m. (EDT). The church is located five miles south of Cumberland on West Virginia State Route 28.

Rev. Walter Vansickle, Hazelton, W. Va., will preside at the special dedicatory service, and Rev. Norman Harsh, pastor of Knobley and Sunnyside churches, will be in charge of devotions.

Rev. Robert Strickler, chairman of the Ministerial Board of the First District, will be principal speaker, and talks will be given by Lucy Abe and Ira Abe, members of the congregation.

Rev. Galen Fike, field representative of the First District, also will attend, and Rev. Charles V. Self, pastor, will lead the Act of Dedication.

Weather

Skies were overcast just about all day yesterday although the sun did manage to put in its appearance several times. And the temperatures were high enough to make it rather uncomfortable. Today the weatherman promises fair weather and less humid. The high recorded at Constitution Park was 89 degrees and the low was 66. Temperature at 8:45 p. m. was 80 degrees and humidity at 6 p. m. was 55 per cent.

13 Win Prizes In Wheel Parade

Some 13 prizes were awarded last night at an "On Wheels Parade" held at the Johnson Heights Playground.

Ralph Wilson won a prize for having the most colorful bicycle in the parade. Carol Griggs had the prettiest bicycle, judges decided. Becky Knieriem won the award for the prettiest tricycle. Gregg Christopher was the winner for the most originally decorated tricycle.

Other prize winners:

Other participants in the parade were Donnie Smith, Diane Lewis, Ellen Griggs, Leland Otto, Lindsay Otto, Pat Wilson and Ellen Wilson.

Judges were Mrs. Michael Cunningham and Joe Wolfe.

A hat show will be held next Monday at 7:30 p. m. at the playground. At 8 p. m. Monday will meet all parents whose children participate in the playground activities. The season's program and playground rules and procedure will be discussed.

Enemies Attack Many Oak Trees In This Area

Oak trees in Western Maryland have been attacked by a number of enemies this summer but District Forester William H. Johnson said yesterday he believes most of the damage to these trees has been only superficial.

Oak wilt, the worst enemy of the trees has been found in two new locations by Dr. A. H. Jones, plant pathologist of Ohio State University, who has been conducting an aerial survey over Allegany County and surrounding area.

The University of Maryland is furnishing the plane for Dr. Jones' flights which were begun last week. He has been accompanied by William P. Foley, this city, who will be in charge of the oak wilt eradication program in the area. One new location of oak wilt, spotted from the air, is near the north end of Town Hill not far from the Pennsylvania line. New infestation also was discovered near Parree in Washington County.

Although the 17-year locusts or cicadas have departed until 1970, they have left behind a number of unsightly trees. For some reason or another they seem to have preferred oak trees for laying their eggs. These twigs on which leaves already have turned brown probably will fall off before long and there will be no permanent damage to the trees except for the loss of some growth.

Still another pest which has attacked oak trees in a 15-square mile area north and northeast of Oakland is the fall canker worm.

District Forester Johnson said that these worms, which defoliated many oak trees in Garrett County, now have completed their life cycle and are gone. As a result, trees struck by the worms now are growing a new supply of leaves. The forester said this probably will mean that the oak trees in that area will have two rings of growth. This may confuse those who normally reckon the age of trees by counting one year for each ring of growth.

Talent Show Today At Post Playground

Thomas S. Post Playground will hold its annual talent show tonight at 7 o'clock on the playground.

Movies will follow at dusk. Refreshments will be sold.

Baton lessons will be given Wednesday at 11 a. m. by Mary Frances DeLuca. From 12 noon until 1 p. m., the playground will hold a picnic on the playground, with prizes for winners of games. Free drinks will be furnished by the association.

Movies will be shown on Thursday at dusk.

City To Ask Data On Air Service Cut

Allegheny Plans To Drop Flight

City officials yesterday asked Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, to secure details on the plan of Allegheny Airlines to discontinue one of its three flights here on August 1.

The request for additional details was made by Mayor Roy W. Eves after the reading of a letter from David L. Miller, vice president of the firm, to Finan.

Miller said the firm plans to discontinue Flight 143 through Cumberland, effective August 1.

He added that an analysis of 22 days of traffic showed only five passengers used the morning flight from Washington to Cumberland, and only 22, or about one a day, boarded the AA plane for Pittsburgh and points west at 10:29 a. m.

Will Be Continued

Miller said the morning eastbound flight and the afternoon westbound flight are used to a much greater extent and will be continued through August.

The firm said substantial economies will be involved in dropping the flight here.

City officials especially asked further information on the phrase "will be continued through August."

Water consumption averaged 13,150,000 gallons a day here last week. Water in Lake Gordon was one foot, four inches below the crest, and Lake Koon an inch above the spillway.

Reports Presented

The Street Department reported 1,103 paved streets and 128 paved alleys were cleaned last month.

Water Department officials reported the installation of 27 taps and 24 meters last month.

Major projects on which the Engineering Office was working were plans for the Frederick and George Street projects and the approach to the bridge to be built over the Industrial Dam.

George E. Davis, city collector, reported receipts of $46,796.03 in June.

Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, reported collections of $2,466, including $1,538.40 from bingo games.

Parking meter receipts totaled $558.19 the week of June 28, down $8.58 from the previous week.

St. Mary's CYO Plans "Fun Fair"

A "fun fair" will be held July 13 through July 18 by St. Mary's Catholic Youth Organization on the school grounds on Oldtown Road.

General chairman for the affair will be Thomas Minke assisted by Bobby Greene, Edward Bergman and James King.

Feature attraction of the event will be the Shaw and Sons rides from Baltimore. Included will be a ferris wheel, airplane, fire truck and a large and small train.

Various other amusements and concessions are being planned for the fair, Minke noted, and proceeds will be used for the parish youth organization.

Gary Bucy Winner In Talent Show

He sang "I Believe." On July 9 at Constitution Park the youngster will represent his playlot at the intra-city talent show.

Second place winner at the show was Jade Green, 11, who did acrobatic stunts and a Spanish dance. Linda Darber, 11, was named third place winner and gave a piano selection. In fourth place was Eddie Martin, 8, who sang an appropriate summer song, "Jack Frost." The playground has completed plans for an On-Wheels Parade on Friday beginning at 7 p. m. Movies, according to Mrs. Dorothy Heavener, director, will be shown this evening and Thursday at dusk.

Individual Registration Cards To Be Given Voters Of County

Records Show 42,145 Names On Poll Books

Registration cards for all of Allegany County's 42,145 qualified voters have been printed and soon will be sent to them, according to William A. Wilson, president of the County Board of Election Supervisors.

However, before these cards are mailed to voters Wilson wants to ascertain that the board's present records are correct.

Changed Addresses

All voters who have moved to new election districts or precincts since they registered with the County Board of Election Supervisors are requested to notify the registrars at the board's office in the Court House basement of their new address. The office is open from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a. m. until noon on Saturdays.

Wilson stressed that cards sent to wrong addresses probably would never reach their rightful owners and the voter in such case would have no registration card.

The board president reminded voters that keeping these registration cards in their possession, especially on election days will be helpful to precinct judges who must direct voters to their proper polling places.

Registration Proof

With each card is the following message:

"The card below is your proof that you are a registered voter in Allegany County, Maryland. Detach it and carry with you. We are requesting that you present this card to your voting official when you go to your polling place. If you lose this card or change your address kindly notify the Board of Election Supervisors, Court House, Cumberland, Md., and a new card will be issued to yo. If you do not exercise your right to vote for five calendar years, by Act of Legislature, you forfeit this right and will be stricken from the voting records in which case this card is null and void."

The 52,145 qualified voters include 41,660 white and 485 colored. Of the total 18, 237 are Democrats (9,494 male and 8,743 female), 23,624 are Republicans (12,243 male and 11,381 female), 205 declined to state party preference (163 male and 42 female), 31 were classed as Socialists (21 male and 10 female) and 48 claimed membership in other parties (29 male and 19 female.)

Lists showing this total registration by precincts are available at the Board of Election Supervisors' office.

Local Sailor Is Sought In Break At Naval Station

A Cumberland sailor and two other naval prisoners are being sought here by federal and local authorities after they walked away from a prison work detail at Anacostia Naval Air Station near Washington.

The Cumberlander was identified as Dewey Emerick, 500-block Bedford Street. Also missing are Robert E. Bibler, Springport, Mich., and Edward Chauncy, whose address was not known.

Naval authorities said the trio and three other men escaped from a work detail at the air station June 29.

One gave himself up, and two others were recaptured.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation in Baltimore said Emerick had been held as a deserter. He was arrested here some time ago after he had been reported AWOL from his base, and was returned to Anacostia.

State and city police here said they understood the escapees might be travelling in a DeSoto convertible with Pennsylvania license plates.

The possible connection between the car and the escape could not be learned immediately.

North End Plans Talent Contest

North End Playground will hold its annual talent show tonight at 8:15 o'clock at the field house.

The program will open with a demonstration by the Ridgeleyettes, composed of 30 young twirlers directed by Janet Ridgeley.

Sydna Storer and Carol Ann Gaffney, dance duet; Carol Baker, vocal solo; Patricia Baker, fluteophone; Joseph VanHorn, vocal solo.

A group of girls will also do twirling in competition. They are Jean Hoffman "Hi School Cadet;" Doris Kasecamp, "A Penny a Kiss;" Sharon Kasecamp, "Hi School Cadet;" Brenda Miller, "Toolie Oolie Doolie" and Betty Roeder, "I Hate to Lose You."

Other contestants may enter at any time prior to the program.

RC Blood Mobile Unit To Visit City Today

The Red Cross mobile unit from Johnstown, Pa., regional headquarters will be in Cumberland this afternoon to collect blood.

The unit will be located at the Eagles Home on North Mechanic Street from noon until 6 p. m. Red Cross officials yesterday stressed the importance of keeping appointments in order that residents of Allegany County can continue to receive free blood under the Red Cross program. "Walk-ins"; persons who are not scheduled and who desire to give blood, will be welcomed during the afternoon. Yesterday the mobile unit visited Lonaconing.

East Side Plans Talent Show And Swimming

A talent show is being held at East Side Playground tonight at 7:30 o'clock. Boys and girls interested in taking part are to notify play leaders not later than 7:15 p. m.

East Side will begin its swimming program this week also. It is open to all from 8 to 18, wishing to learn to swim. Those participating are to be at the playground at 9:15 a. m. each day to go to Constitution Park. It is a two week program.

Civil Engineer Who Helped Build Panama Canal Retires

Ends Long Service On Western Maryland

By C. W. BLACKBURN

Sevier S. Baumer, who began his career as a civil engineer on the Panama Canal in 1908, retired here Saturday after 34 years of service in the Engineering Department of the Western Maryland Railway.

Baumer, who makes his home at 335 Mountain View Drive, has been employed in the Engineering Department of the Elkins Division here since 1919.

Born in Washington, D. C., in 1887, he spent much of his youth in Montgomery, Ala., but returned to the Capital to complete his education.

In 1908, Baumer accepted a position as an electrician on the Panama Canal. A year later, he became an inspector of concrete locks on the huge project which was begun in 1905.

Transferred to the Chief Engineer's Office, he worked from 1910 to January, 1914, on the design of the huge locks and emergency gates of the canal.

Named for John Sevier, Revolutionary War officer and governor of Tennessee when it was known as the state of Franklin, Baumer then returned to Washington to spend a year with his father, Capt. Joseph Baumer.

His father, who fought with the Confederate Army in the War Between the States, was serving as clerk of Naval Affairs in the Capital and later served in the Navy Department.

Baumer began his railroad career in 1915, when he accepted a position in the Maintenance of Way Department of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis Railway, with headquarters in Nashville, Tenn.

He came to Cumberland in 1917 to become chief draftsman under William Claus, general manager of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad.

About two years later, he accepted a position with the Western Maryland Railway in the Division Engineer's Office, then headed by the late Patrick Cain.

He has since been employed in the Division Engineer's Office, now headed by E. D. Billmyer, as an instrument man and survey party chief.

For the past 15 years, he had also been in charge of Sperry Rail testing and inspection on the entire Western Maryland system.

In March, 1919, he married the former Lucille H. Hadra of Cumberland.

They have two sons, Sevier S., Jr., this city, and Ronald F., Kansas City, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. Baumer's plans are simple—to take it easy.

James Riggleman Funeral Today

A funeral service will be held today for a 22-year-old Hampshire County farm worker who was found dead Sunday of a gunshot wound which West Virginia authorities said was self-inflicted.

The victim, James Riggleman, 22, was found dead late Sunday morning about half a mile from his home in the White Pine Church section near Purgittsville.

Hampshire County Coroner A. L. Russell issued a verdict of suicide, and said an inquest would not be necessary.

Riggleman's uncle, Alonzo Riggleman, told authorities he became alarmed when his nephew failed to return home Saturday night. On Sunday morning, Alonzo Riggleman found his nephew's body in a field.

Russell said the youth apparently had placed a 12-gauge shotgun against the center of his forehead and had pulled the trigger. The coroner said he had been despondent for some time.

The spot where the body was found is between the home of Riggleman's uncle, with whom he lived, and the house of his mother, Mrs. Mary Veach.

Russell said the shooting apparently occurred at about 11 p. m. Saturday. Investigating, besides Russell, were Sheriff J. M. Buckbee and Sgt. R. E. Schnell of the State Police detachment at Romney.

Riggleman was born March 29, 1931, in the White Pine Church section. He was unmarried.

A service will be conducted at 2 p. m. (EST) today at Old Pine Church by Rev. Strickler, pastor of White Pine Church. Burial will be in Old Pine Cemetery.

Furniture Bids Total $8,401

Contracts totaling $8,401.42 for office, teachers and library furniture at the new Valley High School, Lonaconing, have been awarded to four firms, according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer.

The Baltimore Stationery Company, supplying Myrtle Desk Company furniture, was awarded the contract for library furniture on a bid of $4,909.05.

James T. Vernay and Sons, also of Baltimore, got the contract to supply 40 teachers' desks on a unit bid of $43.18, a total of $1,727.20.

The Ankeney Company, Inc., 27 North Centre Street, will supply teachers' chairs and library chairs on a unit bid of $10.20. The total price for 150 chairs is $1,530.00.

Flowers School Equipment Company, Richmond, Va., was awarded the contract for the office furniture on a bid of $235.17.

Opening Set For Frostburg Pool

The official opening of the Community swimming pool at Frostburg will be held on July 19.

During a meeting of the mayor and city council last night it was decided to hold the affair at 1:30 p. m. and the Arion Band will present a concert as part of the ceremony.

Charles Pinto, manager of the pool noted that receipts of the pool since the opening on June 21 were $1,247.01 with expenses set at $777.68.

The mayor and council congratulated Pinto for his efficiency in handling the pool affairs and voted to set his salary at $200 a month.

A statement on the financial condition of Arion Band was also received during the meeting and it was unanimously voted to give the organization $300.

Gephart Playground Plans Doll Show

Prizes will be awarded for the prettiest doll, largest doll, smallest doll, most unusual doll and the largest collection of dolls. Free movies will follow the show.

Miss Everett also announced that the Gephart Playground Teenagers Club will hold a party at Minke's beginning at 7:30 p. m. Friday.

Kent Avenue Paving Project Is Underway

The George F. Hazelwood Construction Company yesterday began paving Kent Avenue, from Brookfield to Avondale Avenues.

The firm submitted a low bid of $21,925.75 recently for paving the street with a six inch concrete slab with integral rolled curb.

Woman, Hurt In Fight, Pays Fine

A local woman who was found unconscious on Valley Street early Sunday was released from City Jail last night after she paid a $20 fine for disorderly conduct.

Margaret Shoemaker, 35, of 400-block Broadway, told Police Magistrate J. Milton Dick she engaged in a fight at Bowman's Addition with Joyce Myers of Somerville Avenue. Later, she said, both women returned to Cumberland with Garland Huffman, RD 3, Valley Road, and Paul Goetz, this city.

Goetz said the Shoemaker woman reached across and scratched Huffman, who was driving. Huffman stopped the car and ejected her on Valley Street.

The woman said Huffman got out of the car and struck her. She was found unconscious on the street later and was taken to Sacred Heart Hospital.

Detective Leo E. P. Law said the Shoemaker woman exonerated Goetz and said she did not want to file complaints against Huffman and the Myers woman, both of whom forfeited $20 each when they failed to appear at the hearing yesterday. A misdemeanor charge against Goetz was dismissed.

Helmer Sells House On Fayette Street

L. Leslie Helmer, former Amcelle plant manager and now connected with Celanese's New York office, and his wife, Helen S. Helmer, have sold their home at 758 Fayette Street, according to a deed filed for record yesterday in the office of Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Allegany County Circuit Court.

The property was sold to G. Walter Murray and Grace E. Murray, his wife.

Missing Men Return Home

Robert L. Roach, 28, whose family had reported him missing since last Wednesday, returned to his home at 1009 Michigan Avenue late yesterday, City Police reported.

Police also said Charles Isner, 33, of 624½ Frederick Street, who had been reported missing last Friday, returned home the same day.

Births

Two Injured As Car Hits Porch At Flintstone

10 Weekend Crash Victims Improving

A 52-year-old Cumberland man was in "good" condition last night in Sacred Heart Hospital, where he was admitted after the car in which he was riding went out of control and rammed into a house at Flintstone early Sunday.

Satoria Cross, of the Southern Hotel, sustained lacerations and brush burns of the legs, arms and back, and multiple bruises.

State Police said Cross was a passenger in a car driven by Joseph Peter Carpenti, 41, of 418 North Mechanic Street, who was treated at the same hospital for lacerations of the head and legs.

Trooper J. F. Lewis said Carpenti was driving west toward Cumberland at about 12:30 a. m. Sunday when the car went out of control and hit the porch of a house near the highway.

Meanwhile, ten persons who were injured in three separate accidents Sunday were considered out of danger last night.

One, Henry Shockey, 24, of Berlin, Pa., was transferred from Memorial Hospital to Sacred Heart, and was in good condition. James Shaffer, 22, Narrows Park Marine who was injured in the same accident on West Virginia Route 28, was to be discharged from Memorial Hospital today or tomorrow, and Adam Ochociensky of Carmichael, Pa., who was driving the other car, was in good condition.

The six-year-old grandson of a Cumberland woman remained in critical condition last night at Frederick County Memorial Hospital, Frederck.

Ronald L. Corrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Corrick of Monrovia, sustained a puncture wound of the head.

According to reports, Mrs. Corrick was driving east about half a mile west of Jefferson on Route 340 when their car ran off the road and hit a tree.

Corrick was admitted to the same hospital with chest and leg injuries, and Mrs. Corrick, with lacerations and brush burns. Corrick is the son of Mrs. G. W. Corrick, 879 Patterson Avenue.

Video Programs Will Originate Here In August

Television shows are to begin originating in Cumberland when equipment ordered by the Potomac Valley Television Company arrives here next month.

J. Holland Rannells, president of the company, yesterday said he has ordered a camera, film and slide projector and other television equipment from DuMont Laboratories, Inc.

Local personnel, who will be factory trained, are to be in charge of the operation of the equipment and a studio will be located at 800 Williams Street.

Live and film programs, Rannells added, will be scheduled on any one of the 3 channels and will be in addition to the present popular programs.

The studio on Williams Street is being readied for the new equipment.

The purchase of the television equipment is the first step in having programs originate from the Queen City, Rannells pointed out.

Last month a portable camera operated by Donald A. Steward, distribution manager of DuMont Laboratories, Inc., was brought to Cumberland and local residents were given a chance to be seen on the screen.

A program was also held from the Irons Mountain antenna station and Rannells was so impressed with the results that he put in an order for the telecasting equipment.

Churches of all faiths, and all organizations with public interests are invited to contact the television company on South Liberty Street in an effort to plan "Better Cumberland Programs," Rannells said.

Kelly Wage Talks Resume Tomorrow

Local 26, United Rubber, Cork, Linoleum and Plastics Workers of America (CIO) and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company will meet Wednesday at 10 a. m. at the local tire plant to continue wage negotiations.

The union presented its plan for a "substantial" general wage increase at a meeting held June 29. William G. Rice, president of the local, termed the meeting a preliminary one.

The union and the company will meet Friday at 10 a. m. at the plant to present testimony in two disputes before Carl R. Schedler, Washington, D. C. arbitrator.

The first is a discharge case involving Wilma Jeffries, of the Stock Preparation Department. The second involves Article 10, Section 3, of the contract, which relates to the purchase of gloves by the company.

Clinics Set Today

The Health Department will hold child hygiene conferences today at 10 a. m. in John Humbird School and at City Hall.
